The Pope to Workers.
Little Grizzlies, Beware!
Labor's British Idea.

—By ARTHUR BRISBANE—

POPE PIUS broadcast in three languages, reminded employers and capital of their duty to workers. He asserted the solemn duty of the church and the Pope to intervene in social problems, reaffirmed Catholic doctrines concerning the rights of private property, and says:

"It is necessary to reconstruct the whole economic system, through more equitable distribution of the united proceeds of capital and labor."

THE POPE finds "an excessive disproportion of the commodities of life between capital and labor. Immense riches have accumulated in the hands of a few, while the proletarians have nothing but their hands and the sweat of their brows."

THE POPE, speaking in the courtyard of San Damaso, was heard and seen by 10,000 workers, while millions listened on the radio. He said that three words constituted his theme, "prayer, action and sacrifice."

The Pope, who spoke in French, German and Italian, with perfect command of each language, denounced Socialism and Communism. The address later was broadcast by an American priest, translated into English, which Pope Pius does not speak.

THE NEW Wall street crop of amateur grizzlies cheered again yesterday. Somebody sold 115,500 shares of Steel and knocked the price below 102. American Can dropped below 103.

Those amateur bears will regret their cheering if they fail to cover in time. There is another day coming.

GERMANY HAS a "nudist movement." Ladies and gentlemen, convinced that human beings don't need clothes, wander around in the open air in a state of nature. Police insist that they retire from the sight of those that prefer clothes, otherwise no interference.

MR. AND MRS. MASON MERRILL, Americans, who investigated the nudist movement in Germany and France, and experimented with the idea in parks set aside, announce a nudist movement starting in the United States.

Our depression might excuse it partially, but whoever, in a Turkish bath, has observed his average fellow man or her fellow woman, wandering around in the steam with a towel, will hope that the movement may not last.

IN BRITAIN what labor unions say has meaning, for unions control the government.

The unions suggest a tariff be high enough to keep out foreign steel and secure an absolute monopoly for steel public ownership.

A PUBLICLY OWNED steel monopoly might need that tariff. Governments, outside of the United States, have proved that they can run such natural monopolies as light, power, railroads, telephones, telegraphs, but they have yet to prove that publicly owned industry can compete with private industry.

Russia's success or failure in that line will be instructive.

MR. GREEN, head of the American Federation of Labor, says any attempt to reduce wages may be met by widespread strikes. The federation would probably find some concerns not displeased if their workers went out, for a while, at least.

Mr. Green, one of the wisest leaders that organized labor ever had, will think carefully before encouraging strikes on any considerable scale. He knows that payrolls cannot be met with good intentions, and that no industry is powerful enough to resist the greater power of financial depression.

A UNITED STATES refusal to recognize Russia will have unpleasant results for young Mr. Tao Hsuan Li, Chinese student, waiting at Ellis Island yesterday for deportation to China. Mr. Li came here to study, liked Bolshevist ideas, joined the Communist party.

That sort of thing scares Uncle Sam, as a mouse scares a big elephant, and Li will be deported to China. He begs our government to send him to Russia, where he would be welcome, not to China, where he will be executed on his arrival. But the government says:

"Sorry, we do not recognize Russia and therefore cannot send you there."

AMERICAN COMMUNISTS gathered at the river, near the Battery, in New York, to deplore the student's fate. Police, according to reporters, found it necessary to club some of them, including two women. Communist ladies are sometimes violent. Police say they even scratch and bite.

WALTER DURANTY, who lives in Russia, says Russia believes that Spain is "turning Communist," and Spain is now in the "pre-Kerensky stage."

Russia is mistaken. Communism and present government in Russia were made possible by a long period of Nihilistic teaching, just as the revolution and the firm republic of Germany were made possible by 50 years of earnest teaching by the Social-Democratic party.

THE MASSES of Spain have done little, if any, sociological thinking.

Their revolution is like the French revolution, that broke out among a population that, excepting a few disciples of the encyclopedists, knew nothing about theories. Spanish attacks on religious buildings, in cities and on the estates of landlords by peasants, recall the French revolution.

SUSPECT TAKEN FLEEING FIRE OF POLICE

Thrilling Ambridge Pursuit, In Streets and Over Roof, Follows Poolroom Robbery

A movie type chase, with accompanying gunfire, through streets into a warehouse, through a skylight over a roof and into a railroad yard aroused Ambridge residents early today.

It ended with the capture of Jack Squires, 22, of 179 Beaver street, Leetsdale, when he was trapped under a boxcar in the yards of the H. J. Heinz Company warehouse. He had a revolver, but had not returned their fire, police said.

He was held in connection with the robbery of a poolroom at 826 Merchant street. The robbery was discovered by Patrolman Dick O'Neil, who found the door of the poolroom ajar and lights burning. Informed by an employe of the Pasture Dairy Company, across the street, that a man had been seen loitering near the poolroom, the officer found Squires nearby, police said.

Ordered to halt, Squires is alleged to have dashed away, ignoring shots fired into the air. He ran to the second floor of the Heinz plant, climbed through a skylight onto the roof and dropped into the yards, where he was found crouching beneath a box car.

Searched at the police station he had nearly $40 in small change and a pistol in his possession, police said.

Three men asleep in the rear of the poolroom were said to have been undisturbed by the robbery.

Converse Heiress Loses $90,000 Gem

NEW YORK, May 16.—(INS.)—A wide search was launched in New York today and on the liner Roma for a $90,000 pearl necklace reported to police as having been lost by Mrs. Converse Strong, of Santa Barbara, Cal.

Mrs. Strong, who was Miss Katherine P. Converse, of New York, left her hotel last night with her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. C. Converse, to accompany Mrs. Converse to the liner. On her return Mrs. Strong noticed her necklace was gone. A wireless message was sent to the captain of the liner to search for the missing pearls.

'Russian Ponzi' Held On Felony Charges

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—(INS.)—Michael Roomonoff, called the "Russian Ponzi" today was under $25,000 bond waiting trial on 33 felony charges.

A dozen Hollywood Russians testified at the hearing yesterday of "investments" made in four years with Roomonoff totaling about $250,000. Lewis Milestone, film director, was not a witness, although it is said he lost $83,000 in the transactions.

Asparagus Sent Edge From His Home State

CAMDEN, N. J., May 16.—(AP.)—Ambassador Edge has been pining in France for some asparagus of his home state, where it is excellent just now. Sundry bunches packed in moss have been shipped to him by request.

Thrillers Lose Lure, Boy's Club Reports

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—Mark Twain, Horatio Alger and O. Henry are holding their own with the young idea, but yellow-backed thrillers have lost popularity, is concluded by the Boys Club Federation of America, after a survey.

7 Boys Trapped 10 Hours by Mine Cave-in Rescued

CLEARFIELD, Pa., May 16.—Trapped by a mine cave-in, seven boys were rescued from their tomb early today after rescue crews had worked frantically for more than 10 hours. They were uninjured.

The boys were caught 50 feet below the surface of the mine when a mine car in which they were riding left the tracks and struck a "prop" used to support the roof. Tons of slate, released when the "prop" fell, blocked the entrance.

The boys were George Duckett, 17, and Jesse Duckett, 26, sons of the owner of the mine; John Duckett, 26, a cousin; Edward Barry, 30; Dale Anderson, 14; Orville Aughenbaugh, 16, and Terence O'Donnell, 20.

They were leaving the mine to engage in a game of baseball and their plight was discovered by companions, when they failed to appear at the surface. The work of rescue was directed by State Mine Inspector William Langan, of Dubois.

STUDENTS SEE MAN KILL RIVAL

ST. CLAIRSVILLE, O., May 16.—While twoscore high school students, filing out of a banquet hall nearby, looked on, Nick Johnson, 30, of Bailey's Mills, shot and killed John Healy, 25, as he emerged from the home of Johnson's sweetheart, Esther Lynn Sells, at Morristown, near here, last night, police said.

Johnson, jealous when Healy and Alfred Arbor, both of Wheeling, W. Va., invited Mrs. Sells and her sister, Mrs. Margaret White, to go riding in a soft drink truck, waited outside the Sells home for the two couples to return, according to police.

After the two women went into the house, Healy turned toward the street, police said, and Johnson fired. One of the bullets lodged a few feet from where Mrs. White's small son was sleeping.

Swanson Recovering, Physicians Report

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(AP.)—Senator Claude Swanson, of Virginia, collapsed from an attack of indigestion during a hearing in the Senate Office Building, but was quickly revived, and physicians said his condition was satisfactory.

He was resting in Emergency Hospital, where he was taken because his family was out of the city.

Kitten Killed Saving Twins From Mad Dog

SACRAMENTO, May 16.—(AP.)—Blackie, a pet kitten, was a hero in death today to George and Charles, 4-year-old twins of Mr. and Mrs. B. G. Whitman. The kitten was fatally wounded when it interposed itself between the children and a rabies-maddened dog yesterday. A humane officer, arriving a few minutes later, found both kitten and dog dead.

EXTRA SESSION DEMANDED BY INSURGENTS

La Follette and Brookhart Cite Plea of Labor and American Legion Chiefs

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
International News Service.

WASHINGTON, May 16.—With organized labor threatening strikes to prevent wage reductions and the American Legion pleading for a conference of business leaders to end depression, the Insurgent block on Capitol Hill today renewed its demand for an extra session of Congress.

The Insurgents, led by Senators LaFollette (Rep.), of Wisconsin, and Brookhart (Rep.), of Iowa, declared the cycle of depression was continuing in full force with no sign of business recovery in sight. They pointed to the complaint of the American Federation of Labor that some industries were adding to depression by slashing wages, and to the action of the American Legion in urging an economic conference as indicative of the seriousness of the situation.

The Insurgents, according to Brookhart, will support a move by Senator King (Dem.), of Utah, to increase income taxes in the higher brackets. He said:

"The government ought to be run upon a 'pay as you go' basis. There can be no economizing in the appropriations for unemployment relief. Therefore, with the government facing a deficit, the only sensible thing to do is to increase taxes on those able to bear the burden."

Jury, Out All Night, Frees Man in Arson

After all night deliberation, a jury, in Criminal Court, this morning, declared Peter L. Gorris, 48, proprietor of a bowling alley at 708 Monongahela avenue, Glassport, not guilty in arson. Suit was brought by Peter Pampas, owner of the property, who alleged that Gorris was responsible for a fire, March 15, which destroyed the building in which the bowling alley was housed. Gorris, at the time of the fire, was visiting in McKeesport, according to court records.

Suspect in Slaying Of 2 Girls, Found

KANSAS CITY, May 16.—(AP.)—Earl Quinn, 30, an ex-convict, sought since December as a suspect in the brutal slayings, near Tonkawa, Okla., of Jessie and Zexia Griffith, Blackwell, Okla., school teachers, is under arrest in Kansas City.

Quinn readily admitted his identity, police said, but denied having any connection with the slayings and refused to waive extradition.

Judge Denounces Acquittal in Slaying

ERIE, Pa., May 16.—(AP.)—Anthony Wierczorkowski, 29, a factory worker, of Erie, whose confession of guilt was a part of the state's evidence against him, was acquitted yesterday of a charge of the murder of Mary Sebuski, 22, of McKeen.

Presiding Judge W. E. Hirt, who received the jurors' verdict, remarked that it "marked a travesty on justice in Erie County."

'PITTSBURGHER,' A DERBY FAVORITE

KLINE DUE HOME FROM OHIO

Mayor Charles H. Kline, who is at a hotel at Madison Golf Lakelands, O., was expected to return to the city before Monday.

Frank L. Swaney, the Mayor's secretary, said he knew nothing of Kline's plans when asked about the Mayor's reported trip to Ohio. Mayor Kline had been confined in St. Francis Hospital for about four weeks following an operation for malignant carbuncles. He left the hospital a week ago.

McCormick Obtains License to Marry

HONOLULU, May 16.—(AP.)—John McCormick, former motion picture director, has applied for a license to marry Mrs. Janet Hamilton Gattis, of Beverly Hills, Cal., who arrived here recently.

McCormick, a former husband of Colleen Moore, film actress, gave his age as 37 and that of Mrs. Gattis as 24.

Loss of Robeson's Voice Stops Show

LONDON, May 16.—(AP.)—Paul Robeson, American Negro, who is playing the principal role in Eugene O'Neil's "Hairy Ape" here, has lost his voice temporarily and had to cancel last night's performance.

Legislators Deny Rolph Plane Fund

SACRAMENTO, May 16.—(AP.)—The Senate last night killed an assembly bill appropriating $75,000 to buy and maintain an airplane for Gov. James Rolph, Jr.

All Set for Derby, 'Bugs' Plunging On Non-Starter

—By Arthur 'Bugs' Baer—

AT THE DARBY, May 16.

All set for the big Derby business. Took my cartoonists out to look at the famous hoss Sneeze Powders.

Sneeze Powders is a good hoss when he's right. But like the Eighteenth Amendment he ain't been right yet.

He used to be a car horse. He is the only nag in the world that needs two jockeys. One for each end.

The motorman jockey is up in front with the conductor jockey on the rear platform.

Sneeze Powders starts on one gong and stops on two. And when he is tired he pulls the gong himself.

We have a dollar bet on Sneeze Powders to finish last. If you think this is a good wager you are silly. The bookies are laying 10 to 1 that Sneeze Powders doesn't even start.

Rube Goldberg, "Jiggs" McManus, Milt Gross, Ted Cook and myself have organized a pool of $11 to back Sneeze Powders off the boards. Powders will back off the end of the wharf for a handful of hay.

Moral—Don't bet on the races. Or at least, don't bet on Sneeze Powders.

SLOT MACHINE TAX DRIVE NEAR

A drive to increase the city's revenue from $15,000 to $25,000 annually by collection of a $1 fee from vending machines was announced today by Treasurer Roy D. Schooley.

Legislation passed in 1913 by Council, according to Schooley, provides an annual license of $1 from every machine of this type, but he said the collection has been lax. Only $113 was collected last year, the treasurer said.

Estimating there were 15,000 to 25,000 of the machines in the city, Schooley said:

"The drive is by no means a plan to work a hardship on the small store owner. Investigation disclosed most of the machines were installed, owned and operated by outside manufacturing concerns, with storekeepers getting a percentage of profits.

"I am thinking of asking Council to raise the fee to $3 or $4."

Schooley said the average annual profit on the machines was $100. Appliances in the license class include cigaret, candy, peanut and grocery vending devices, also electric pianos, radios and phonographs.

Farrell Steel Man Goes to Duquesne

SHARON, Pa., May 16.—Albert L. Cromlish, general superintendent of the Farrell works of the Carnegie Steel Company, has been appointed general superintendent of the Duquesne plant. Cromlish has been in charge of the Farrell plant since 1920. He succeeds Samuel G. Worton, resigned.

Accidental Shot Kills N. Y. Banker

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—Preston F. Walsh, 38, junior partner in the brokerage firm of Sutro Brothers & Co., was fatally wounded yesterday when an automatic pistol he was cleaning in his office discharged accidentally. He died in a hospital.

Photograph Made Through 4-Inch Steel Plate

SCHENECTADY, N. Y., May 16.—(AP.)—Photographs were taken through four inches of steel plate with a 900,000 volt X-Ray tube in the General Electric Company laboratories.

The tube is the largest ever developed by the company's scientists. It will be loaned by the General Electric X-Ray Corporation to the Memorial Hospital of New York City for the use in the study of cancer.

With only two-fifths of the tube's power used, distinct pictures of a cog wheel were made through the four inches of plate in six minutes.

PROWLER FLEES POLICE SHOTS

A prowler escaped early today after Patrolman Michael Mori, who discovered him in the store of Robert Fey at 3601 Penn avenue, fired several shots at him, according to a police report.

Mori was attracted to the store by a broken window. Investigating, he discovered there was a man in the place. The prowler dashed from the rear door, and when he refused to stop the officer fired on him.

Co-Defendant With Pantages Enters Plea

SAN DIEGO, May 16.—(AP.)—John P. Mills, wealthy real estate man, co-defendant with Alexander Pantages, theater magnate, has pleaded guilty to a charge of contributing to the delinquency of two 17-year-old Hollywood girls.

Passing of sentence on Mills was continued until June 9. A charge of conspiracy was dismissed.

Grip on Canoe Fails, Educator Drowns

MADISON, Wis., May 16.—(AP.)—Unable to hold longer after clinging nearly two hours to a capsized canoe, Sterling A. Leonard, 43, University of Wisconsin English professor, was drowned last night. His companion, I. A. Richards, 38, professor and lecturer at Cambridge University, England, was rescued.

12 Bitten by Dogs Infected With Rabies

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—(AP.)—Twelve persons were bitten yesterday by three dogs which later were captured and found to be infected with rabies.

The injuries followed the death of Viola Shashine, 14, from a dog bite three weeks ago. The victims were given Pasteur treatment.

Sabin, Banker's Son, Files Divorce Suit

RENO, Nev., May 16.—(AP.)—Charles H. Sabin, Jr., son of Charles Hamilton Sabin, New York banker, has filed suit for divorce here against Ruth Ogden Sabin. The complaint charged cruelty.

COURSE FAST FOR TURF CLASSIC

America's Speediest Horses To Battle Under Clear Sky; Many Back Pittsburgher

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—Between 60,000 and 70,000 persons, a typically picturesque "Derby Day" throng, wended their way toward historic Churchill Downs today to witness America's greatest sporting spectacle, the running of the famous Kentucky Derby.

They had come from all parts of the country to thrill to the pulse-stirring drama that is crowded into the brief space of two minutes this afternoon. About 7 o'clock (Pittsburgh time), post time, a galaxy of the speediest horses that ever stretched a leg will thunder around the one mile and one-quarter racing strip—a mad whirl of color, out of which will emerge a thoroughbred whose prowess will be sung to the four corners of the earth.

HOPE FOR PITTSBURGHER

Maybe the winning horse will be Twenty Grand. Maybe he will be Mate. Or one of the other 13 entrants. Everybody was doing their own guessing, although the concensus of the rail birds was that it will be "a two horse race," featuring Twenty Grand and Mate.

Pittsburgher is the hope of the West and has many followers. He has done abut everything asked of him and has beaten most of the Western candidates.

For the first time in four years, ideal weather prevailed for the classic turfdom. A warm sun and temperatures in the high 70's assured a fast track. In 1928, 1929 and 1930 the 3-year-old stars ran through deep mud in a downpour of rain.

CELEBRITIES ATTEND

It was a gay, carefree throng that made its way through congested streets to the track. Women in summery raiment, many of them carrying bright-hued parasols. Men with binoculars. All animatedly discussing the one and only topic of the hour.

Nearly all of them will bet on some horse. It was conservatively estimated that between $1,500,000 and $2,000,000 will be poured into the mutuel machines.

Celebrities galore were here. There was Charles Curtis, vice president of the United States; his sister, Mrs. Dolly Gann, and her husband, Edward Everett Gann; Mayor "Jimmy" Walker, of New York City; Gov. Harry Woodring and Mrs. Woodring, of Kansas; John F. Curry, chief of Tammany Hall; Gov. Henry Caufield and Mrs. Caufield, of Missouri; Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland; Gov. W. G. Conly, of West Virginia; Gov. Morgan F. Larson, of New Jersey; Senator Simeon D. Fess, of Ohio, and many others.

Al Smith Declines Air View of Building

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—Al Smith has passed up an opportunity to get a better look at his Empire State Building. Atop the structure Amelia Earhart told him:

"You haven't really seen it till you have looked at it from the air."

He replied:

"There's not much chance that I ever will be up."

$5,000,000 British Swindle Laid to Chicago Barber

CHICAGO, May 16.—(AP.)—A former tonsorial artist was sought today by American agents and detectives for the British government in connection with an alleged stock swindle in England, which may involve a total close to $5,000,000.

John Factor, known as "Jake the Barber" when he conducted a cut-rate barber shop in Halsted street, was the man. The officers also were seeking his companion, Harry Green, also known as Geen. The wanted men were accused of fleecing thousands of middle-class investors in England through fraudulent stock shares.

"Jake the Barber" is reputed to have had a spectacular career abroad. On one occasion he was the banker, the agents said, at a chemin de fer session in France, at which the Prince of Wales was the losing player. They said his wife "broke the bank" at a Le Toquet casino last year.

Wife, Sister Hurt, Police Radio Summons Sleuth

A new use for the police radio-equipped automobiles was developed yesterday, a few minutes after Mrs. Saul Fromm, of 6301 Ebdy street, wife of a city detective, was injured in an automobile accident.

Fromm, cruising downtown streets with Detective Joseph H. Jackson, was summoned to Mercy Hospital where his wife was taken, by a message broadcast over the police radio system.

LEAGUE DRAGGING BRITAIN INTO WAR, BEAVERBROOK SAYS

Intrigue and French Rule at Geneva Seen as Peril By London Publisher

By ROBERT WELLES RITCHIE
Universal Service

LONDON, May 16.—Great Britain is being helplessly dragged into another great war through its membership in the League of Nations.

This is one of the sensational revelations presented by Lord Beaverbrook, British newspaper baron, in an editorial published in one of his newspapers, the London Daily Express, today. At one point the editorial states:

"The League of Nations was America's idea. To please America we agreed to it. When America refused to join we have withdrawn."

Further on the editorial continues:

The editorial discloses the League as an instrument for war rather than peace, and as dominated by France.

HYPROCRISY HIDES TRUTH

The following extract from Lord Beaverbrook's editorial was authorized by him for publication in all Hearst newspapers:

"The truth concerning the League of Nations has been hidden from the people of this country for years by a conspiracy of bluff and hyprocrisy working upon the susceptibilities of decent, trusting people.

"The truth must be told and the Express is going to tell it. No better moment could exist for stating the actual facts regarding the League than this hour when the delegates are beginning another chapter in Geneva's long history of intrigue.

"League enthusiasts in Britain say that the League stands for disarmament and peace. What has it done regarding disarmament?

LINK WITH FRANCE SEEN

"It succeeded through machinations in Geneva in reducing the strength of the British Navy. That is true. But, while Britain has been meekly cutting down her vital naval strength, the six armadas, chemical gas factories and armies of Europe and the world have been swelling and multiplying to unprecedented dimensions.

"France today has the most powerful military machinery the world has ever seen. Her expenditure for military aircraft has increased, since 1928, 130 per cent. She is feverishly building a great ring of the most powerful fortifications around her frontiers.

"What is Geneva doing about this? Nothing.

"Geneva says nothing and does nothing because it has become a branch of the French foreign office.

Declared American Dr. Pegler Ousted

PRAGUE. — (INS.) — Dr. Karl Pergler, former ambassador in Washington, has been deprived by the Election Court of his seat as member of the Czechoslovakian Parliament, because he is no Czeck, but an American citizen.

Dr. Pergler had emigrated to the States in 1906 and became an American citizen. After Czechoslovakia had been declared independent, he became the first Czeck ambassador to Washington. Later he became ambassador to Tokio and returned to Prague in 1928.

Will Finger Print 000 U. S. Workers

SHINGTON. —(INS.)— ing the government fiscal year July 1 the civil service commission is planning to finger-print all appointees to federal jobs.

The commission says there are 260,000 persons examined annually for civil service and that one out of every 13 have police records. They claim this procedure will do away with undesirables and that it will be impossible to enter the government service under false pretenses.

Girl Hurt in Fall From Bridge Rail

BROWNSVILLE, Pa., May 16.—Violet Leonard, 27, Thompson No. 1, was seriously injured when she plunged 20 feet from a railway bridge here. A male companion was unhurt. Both lost their balance while sitting on a railing.

STORE BANDITS SEIZE $150

While R. S. Hutter, of 6742 Reynolds street, manager, and C. L. Bardling, of 316 Gross street, were arranging stock in an A. & P. store at 6738 Reynolds street, shortly before midnight, three bandits forced them to open the store, and escaped after taking $150 from the cash register, police said.

H. M. Brooks, of 315 Brookline boulevard, complained to detectives that thieves took a coat valued at $25 from his automobile.

EATON RESIGNS SECOND POST

CLEVELAND, May 16.—(AP.)—Cyrus S. Eaton, Cleveland financier who recently resigned as chairman of Continental Shares, Inc., one of the country's largest investment companies, also has resigned the chairmanship of Commonwealth Securities, Inc., another company he founded.

This was announced yesterday by Thomas H. White, president of Commonwealth, who said Eaton would remain on the board.

It was reported without confirmation that Windsor T. White, of Cleveland, who was elected to the Commonwealth board to succeed Ferdinand Eberstadt, New York partner of Otis & Co., would be named the new chairman.

STEEL WORKERS WIN STRIKE

MANSFIELD, O., May 16. — (AP.) — The Empire Steel Corporation has agreed to meet the demands of 1,600 employes, thus ending the strike that had tied up the plant for several days. Under the agreement the company rescinded a wage cut which caused the men to walk out. The mill was to resume operations today.

Other questions at issue will be thrasted out lated by the corporation and its workers. These include demands that wages be figured on a bi-monthly sliding scale based on selling prices of steel, and that day crews work a maximum of 10 hours and the night force 12 hours.

The men left their posts when notices of a 15 per cent reduction were posted and later declared they had been led to believe the cut would be only 10 per cent. The company then offered to eliminate the added 5 per cent but the workers finally refused to accept any reduction and drew up a list of other demands before they would return to the plant.

LAWYER NAMED CABINET AIDE

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(AP.)—Harvey H. Bundy, a Boston lawyer, was appointed assistant secretary of state yesterday to succeed William R. Castle, Jr., who was promoted to under secretary.

Bundy was graduated from Yale in 1909, and from the Harvard Law School in 1914. For a year thereafter was secretary to Justice Holmes of the Supreme Court.

For two years during the war he served as assistant counsel of the United States food administration. Since 1929 he has been a member of the law firm of Choate, Hall & Stewart, of Boston.

HOME RAIDED AFTER FIGHT

Police early today raided the home of Mrs. Annabelle Rooney, 42, widow of Patrolman Miles Rooney who was killed in February, after she was reported to have kicked another woman during a fight. Mrs. Rooney lives at 1307 Boyle street.

The other woman, Mrs. Catherine Kennedy, 34, of 1311 Boyle street, was taken to the Allegheny General Hospital. Mrs. Rooney was arrested, charged with keeping a disorderly house, and Edward George, 37, of 3514 Butler street, charged with visiting a disorderly house, after police said they found a small quantity of liquor.

NAUTILUS AGAIN SUCCEEDS IN DEEP DIVE

By HERMAN GIESKE

NEW LONDON, Conn., May 15.—The Nautilus successfully dived again to a depth of 90 feet in Block Island Sound.

It was the deepest and fastest plunge yet made by the trans-Arctic submarine in which Sir Hubert Wilkins, Capt. Sloan Danenhower and 18 others propose to voyage under the ice to the North Pole.

From the time the Nautilus' topside gear vanished beneath the waves off Block Island until her conning tower reappeared, 6 minutes 10 seconds elapsed. In that interval she had descended so far as to nearly touch the bottom of the diving ground. Capt. Danenhower leveled her off beautifully and balanced her with 15 feet to spare.

The skipper was so pleased with the vessel's performance that he declared he is now ready to make running dives. In such dives the boat noses down in a fountain of spray while running at high speed.

Before her next tests the Nautilus will be loaded here with three tons of food in preparation for her forthcoming trans-Atlantic voyage to Spitzbergen.

The Nautilus' running dives, Capt. Danenhower revealed, will be made "on her own." He meant that she will proceed to sea without a tender and go down to a depth of 180 to 200 feet.

TRIBUTE PAID TO BELASCO

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—Stage folk and a host of admirers paid tribute today to David Belasco, producer and dramatist, whose genius and spirit enriched the American stage for half a century.

Last night a memorial service for Mr. Belasco, who died Thursday, was broadcast from Station WOR.

President Hoover, in a telegram read over the air, said of Belasco:

"From his boyhood in San Francisco, David Belasco brought to his national career an adventurous quality of an imagination and freedom from precedent that helped him pioneer those paths in the world of the theater which were so distinctly his contribution to the art of the theater. His vivid personality will be deeply missed by the whole country."

Missing Spring Hill Boys Return Home

After wandering around the downtown section for more than 12 hours, Robert Goettman, 10, and his brother, Carl, 5, of Kenzig avenue, Spring Hill, returned home early today. Their parents had asked police to broadcast descriptions of the boys when they failed to return home last night.

POPE GRATIFIED OVER SUCCESS OF AIR TALK

Plans Encyclical Designed To Procure Labor Higher Status, Fairer Rewards

By GUGLIELMO EMANUEL
International News Service.

VATICAN CITY, May 16. —Gratified over the reception accorded his second worldwide broadcast, Pope Pius XI, today went forward with his plans to issue an encyclical defining the attitude of the Roman Catholic church toward labor conditions and class struggles.

It was expected that the encyclical, which will be a supplementary to the famous "Rerum Novarum" of Pope Leo XIII, will be issued in about a week's time. It will contain a new charter of labor designed to elevate the status of the workingman.

WORLD-WIDE INTEREST

Messages received at the Vatican testified to the close attention paid throughout the world to His Holiness' broadcast, in which he outlined his forthcoming encyclical, appealing to "all men of good will" to supplant class war with class collaboration and revise the relations between capital and labor to bring about a "fairer division" of their common efforts.

The broadcast was indicative in every sense of the importance Pope Pius attaches to the radio as a medium of communication between the Holy See and Catholics throughout the world.

POPE HEARD CLEARLY

Atmospheric conditions being favorable, the pontiff's words were heard clearly. He spoke from the papal throne under a great canopy in the courtyard of San Damaso, addressing his remarks to an assembly of 10,000 gathered in the courtyard and to unseen listeners throughout Christendom.

Publication of the encyclical will furnish the full text of the pontiff's attack upon Socialism and Communism, the latter of which he said cannot be reconciled with the doctrine of the church.

SPAIN – VATICAN CLIMAX NEAR

MADRID, May 16.—(INS.)—All of Spain today anxiously awaited the reply of provisional President Nicete Alcala Zamora to the Papal Nuncio Federico Tedeschini, who protested in behalf of the Vatican against the recent anti-Catholic disorders and the burning of church properties.

Zamora's reply was seen as fixing the future attitude of the state toward the church. Either an apology for the occurences or the severance of relations with the Holy City were seen as his alternatives.

Meanwhile at Atorfe, near Granada, four persons were killed and 10 injured when residents attempted to save their church when it was rumored it was threatened by an anti-religious mob after the convent at Santa Fe had been destroyed by fire.

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—The New York Times says that after a truce of little more than a month, the cigaret price war will be renewed on Monday, when the popular brands will sell for 13 cents a package, or two packages for 25 cents, in the United Cigar Stores and the Schulte chain.

Since April 10 both these chains have been selling the popular brands for 15 cents, or two for 27 cents.

Gov. Murray Moves To Oust Utilities

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 16.—(AP.)—Gov. W. H. (Alfalfa Bill) Murray has started ouster proceedings with unexpected celerity against 10 public utility companies of the state.

BONNIWELL NOT PARTY BOLTER

SHARON, Pa., May 16.—(AP.)—Judge Eugene C. Bonniwell, of Philadelphia, has denied that he had forsaken the Democratic party to become a Republican.

It was reported from Greensburg that the Philadelphia municipal judge, a staunch supporter of Gov. Pinchot at the last election, had aligned himself with the Republican party.

Judge Bonniwell had written a letter to Congressman Adam Wyant, of Greensburg, in which he said that he "would join Gov. Pinchot's party at Greensburg." This was confused to mean that the judge would become a Republican. He said last night:

"I am still a Democrat and I probably will be until they throw me out."

Job Search Fails, Man Takes Poison

After drinking poison in Schenley Park early today, Harry Stein, 35, of New York, went to Patrolman Martin Daly in Forbes street, and told him what he had done, according to a police report. Stein was taken to the Montefiore Hospital, where his condition was regarded as serious.

Stein said he came here from New York yesterday and looked for employment for several hours. Despondent because his quest was unsuccessful, he took the poison, police reported he said.

$10,000 Fire Truck Bought by Avalon

Purchase of a new $10,000 fire truck for the Avalon fire department was authorized at a meeting of borough Council held last night.

The new truck is to be quadruple combination pumper and ladder truck, equipped with a booster tank unit. A thousand feet of hose and 165 feet of various sized ladders will also be purchased. Delivery of the new truck will be made in August, officials of the fire department said.

MALONE VERSE ADDS SPICE TO PINCHOT TOUR

Pittsburgher Likens Fay To Paul Revere in Caustic Rhyme; Stump Trip Ending

By E. P. O'BRIEN
Staff Correspondent.

NEW CASTLE, Pa., May 16. — Gov. Gifford Pinchot's speaking tour in behalf of his fair rate bills drew near a close today. After an address in Dubois at noon the Governor will complete his swing through the western counties with a meeting tonight in Bellefonte. The party spent last night here.

The executive put in a busy day yesterday in the Crawford-Mercer district of one of the chief objects of his attacks, State Senator Frank L. Fay. He spoke in the Union High School auditorium in Sharon last night. This address followed one at the Court House in Meadville. The Governor's barrage was supported by one provided by State Secretary of Supplies James F. Malone, of Pittsburgh, who added satirical verse to the onslaught.

SORRY FOR DISTRICT

In his verbal barrage on Fay, Pinchot declared:

"Fay isn't a calamity. He's just an ignoble failure and pitiful mistake. I'm sorry for his district. You made a mistake in sending him to Harrisburg. But thank the Lord there are men like Senator Weingartner who will do your will at the Capitol."

MALONE QUOTES VERSE

Malone waxed poetic in his speech assailing what he called the insincerity of senators and representatives who have opposed Pinchot's legislative program. Malone rose to lyric heights at the conclusion of the "curtain raising" speech by declaiming:

"You have heard of the ride of Paul Revere;
Well, you've another bold rider here.
But Paul rode hard to save the people
While warning lights were hung in a steeple.
But Frankie Fay made his dashing ride
To save Gus Daix, the gangster's pride.
He saved the gang and its allies then,
But he couldn't save his pay, Jim Benn.
So Frankie's ride was sheer futility.
He cannot save even one utility.
So rear up a statue on some gala day
To your cross-country champion, Frankie L. Fay;
Don't give him a horse, but put him on wheels,
In one of Ed Martin's automobiles."

ASSAILS BENN

At Meadville Pinchot said:

"The House is all right, but the Senate is all wrong in carrying out the mandate of the people."

Referring to the resignation of Public Service Commissioner James S. Benn, he said:

"Jim Benn has been compelled to resign by public opinion. He's out. Thank God."

He scored Senator Fay for his "midnight ride which he took to vote against the will of the people in the president pro tempore fight."

Woman Legislator Aided by Hearse

MADISON, Wis.—(INS.)—A hearse was one of the means of transportation used by Mrs. Agnes Charbonneau of Superior, Wisconsin's only woman legislator, to reach Madison after a short visit at her home recently.

Mrs. Charbonneau's car broke down near Poynette. Scores of cars passed, but the drivers refused to stop when she hailed them. Then came the hearse and she rode with the driver into Portage.

Locomotives Get Baths in 40 Seconds

BOSTON.—(INS.)—It takes a human being anywhere from ten minutes to an hour to take a bath but New Haven Railroad locomotives will soon be "bathed" in 40 seconds and probably will not whistle during the process. A new washing machine will be instelled here shortly. It will consist of a series of spray nozzles so arranged on each side of the track that as the engine passes, a hot cleaning solution is sprayed at close range.

Motorist Arrested After Collision

Accused of having failed to stop after his machine collided with one driven by John B. Harmer, of Taylor avenue, at Fifth avenue and Smithfield street, J. E. Egolf, 29, Webster Hall, was arrested by Patrolman Joseph Scanlon after a chase of two squares, police said.

Artist Fearing Java Death Potion Gets X-Ray Test

Doctors today were to attempt to discover by means of X-ray whether Hubert Stowitts, artist, is suffering from a strange Javanese poison or from the more prosaic affliction of kidney stones.

The artist thinks his ailment, which sent him rushing to West Penn Hospital yesterday morning, is the result of being poisoned while banqueting with King Manku Nagoro of Solo, Java. He states he may have been poisoned because of his refusal to oblige the King by making copies of his paintings of court actors and Manku's queen.

Doctors were inclined to think that kidney stones may have some part in the trouble. But they, Stowitts says, were "thinking in occidental fashion, forgetting the cleverness of the heathen Javanese."

Stowitts is exhibiting his paintings at Carnegie Museum, beginning June 7. His Javanese portraits, however, have been sent to Paris for showing.

Dunn Assails Pinchot's 'Ridicule' of Opponents

Declaring that Gov. Pinchot's campaign throughout the state is "an effort to ridicule, before their constituents, the senators that did not agree with him on his public utility legislation," Thomas A. Dunn, vice president of the Pittsburgh Chamber of Commerce, replied to the Governor's utility argument over Radio Station KDKA last night.

Attacking the fair rate bills, he said:

"I have never heard of anyone standing on the street corners of the cities and towns of this state, demanding his fair rate bills. These bills seem to be entirely of the Governor's making to take over control of the public utility companies of Pennsylvania.

"I am perfectly satisfied with the power rates in Allegheny County for large users of power. Presuming that the rates would be cut by the fair rate board, what would that mean to the prosperity of Pennsylvania? With rate reductions comes the reduction of the wages of more than 300,000 employes of the public utilities companies in the state.

"The Governor, in his many talks throughout the state, speaks of the 'invisible government.' The only invisible government that I know of is composed of 30,000 illegal voters in Pittsburgh put there by the political leaders of Pittsburgh who are the supporters of the Governor.

"In case the Governor finds no use for his fair rate bills in Harrisburg, I feel sure we can use part of them in our city, where his campaign manager ordered Council to raise water rates, charge additional cost on meters, and raise the wages of his loyal payroll when 25,000 unemployed men and women were walking the streets of our city."

M'GOVERN DENOUNCES COUNTY'S 'ORGY OF SPENDING'

WILL BE BROKE FIRST OF YEAR, HE CHARGES

Commissioner Backs Fight Of McKees Rocks Citizens On Borough Tax Raise

More than 600 citizens in the Second Ward, the "Bottoms" district of McKees Rocks, attending a protest mass meeting last night in St. Mark's Roman Catholic School auditorium, Munson avenue, heard a surprise talk by County Commissioner Charles C. McGovern.

The meeting was called by the Citizens' Committee of McKees Rocks, recently organized to protest an increase of two mills in borough taxes.

Commissioner McGovern explained that he appeared at the solicitation of two members of the protest committee and did not know the purpose of the meeting, but that he was glad to be there as a county employe and a county commissioner. He added:

"I am in the same fix as you people. I fight for the handling of the county's money, and you are doing the same thing locally. If you people do not have meetings like this there will be no end to what the politicians will do to the home owners.

CITES BIG LOANS

"In the 135 years of the incorporation of the county, we never asked for a loan until 1924. Commissioner Armstrong, who disguises himself as a great builder, a visioning man, asked the taxpayers for $29,000,000. Before the bridges and buildings were completed, we had to go to the people for another loan of $43,000,000, four years later.

"The first of the year the county will be broke in the way of money. Recently we had to go to the banks to borrow $2,000,000 so that the county can pay the payroll. We went into an orgy of money spending, and we will be paying 37 and a fraction cents on every tax dollar taken in Allegheny County for interest and redemption on bonds for the next 30 years."

McGovern charged trickery with the idea of getting political favor for the next election. He also said that the people should look into the public business, check up on the city and county offices and read the newspapers. He said there are some officials who know no more about spending the taxpayers' money than a hog knows about astronomy. He advised the people to investigate men running for office.

CHARGES CORRUPTION

Alfred Williams, newly elected general chairman of the committee, said the borough and the school board are approximately $2,000,000 in debt. He cited various boroughs and townships throughout the county having less taxes and possessing good streets, playgrounds, swimming pools, parks and libraries, while McKees Rocks, with a taxation of 18 mills, the largest in the county, does not have any such improvements. He blamed corrupt politics and stated that if citizens are desirous of having these conditions continue, they should put a dome over the Commonwealth Hotel. The hotel, he inferred, is owned by Miles Bryan, political leader.

T. J. Conley, chairman of the meeting, urged those attending to be properly assessed in order to vote at next September's primary election.

Other speakers were A. G. Vovrek, who spoke in English and Slovak; Peter P. Kanai, in English and Russian, and Bernard Horton.

ARMY AIRMEN IN 'DEFENSE' MANEUVERS

Combat Planes Maneuvering For Protection of Chicago And Eastward Regions

FAIRFIELD AIR DEPOT, Dayton, O., May 16.—(AP.)—Exacting training flights to accustom pilots and squadron commanders with maneuvers they will execute in their "defense" of Chicago and the East were on the schedule for the Army Air Corps, massed here today.

Four hundred combat planes were ordered in the air over various parts of Ohio during the afternoon. Columbus was designated the the eastern boundary line for the training flights, Cincinnati as the southern, and Indianapolis as the eastern boundary. For the most part, the pilots were instructed to confine their flying to Ohio, reaching the furthest cities only in emergency cases.

During the morning two pursuit squadrons of the 36th Air Squadron, Selfridge Field, Mich., and the 95th Squadron of the 20th Pursuit Group were designated to go through maneuvers with bombers and attack groups to determine which squadron should be given an unnamed mission, believed to be a special "raid" on some large eastern city. Both squadrons are commanded by World War aces, the former by Capt. Victor Strahn and the latter by Capt. Frank Hunter.

Several ships of the second bombardment group which were forced to put up at distant cities last night were expected today. Ninety-nine National Guard planes arrived from eastern states last night.

$25 Job Awaits Brave Flagpole Climber

CHARLESTON, W. Va., May 16.—(AP.)—Charleston doesn't need a flagpole sitter but a flagpole climber is worth $25 to the city administration.

Some days ago a new flag was presented for use on the wooden pole in the plot owned by the city on the Kanawha River bank, but before it can be used a rope must be placed at the top of the pole. It is quite high and Mayor R. P. Devan said the city was hoping "somebody will come along willing to sign a waiver to his neck." The pay will be $25.

'Air Raid' of Army On N. Y. Cancelled

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(AP.)—A mock night raid over New York City on May 22, as a phase of the Army air corps maneuvers, has been canceled by direction of Secretary of War Hurley.

Officers of the air corps said they did not know the purpose of the cancellation of the maneuvers, in which 36 bombing planes were to participate, but assumed it was a safety precaution.

STEAMER HEADS DOWN OHIO ON OCEAN TRIP

Red Star Makes Delayed Start With Pittsburgh Cargo Bound to Baltimore

With one shrill blast of its whistle, the Red Star, new twin-screw freighter, steamed majestically into mid-channel from the Ohio River Transportation Company wharf on the Monongahela River, early today with the first Pittsburgh cargo for an Atlantic port.

Sailing was delayed until this morning after the boat, preparing to leave on schedule last night, became fouled on a coal barge. Wind and current caught it while it was being turned, and the cargo shifted, causing it to list.

The freighter was laden with 150 tons of Heinz food products, and ballasted with 200 tons of pig iron. It will proceed to Baltimore by way of the Ohio and Mississippi Rivers, the Gulf of Mexico and the Atlantic Ocean.

GIN JURY HEARS VICTIM'S SISTER

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 16.—(INS.)—Elsie Draves, sister of Arlene, whom Virgil Kirkland, former high school athlete of Gary, Ind., is accused of killing, was to testify today as the state continued its second effort to send Kirkland to the electric chair.

At the previous trial, Elsie told how she helped her sister dress for the party at which the gin orgy occurred.

Rumors persist that Kirkland's friends under indictment and waiting separate trial will take the stand against him. Prosecutor Robert J. Estill admitted that the parents of David Thompson, Henry Shirk and Paul Barton had been to see him about such a procedure.

TOSCANINI MAY CANCEL DATES

MILAN, May 16.—Belief that Arturo Toscanini, conductor of the New York Philharmonic Orchestra, will be forced to cancel concert engagements in Vienna because of injuries received when he was attacked by Communists in Bologna, was expressed today by friends.

The conductor was attacked after he refused to play the Fascist anthem at the opening of a concert. Fascist officials declared he was only slightly hurt, but friends said his arm was so badly injured that he will be unable to lead an orchestra for some time.

Toscanini refused to play the Fascist national air because he did not consider it good music, he said, and because no place had been arranged for it on the program. The crowd became incensed.

BARON FREED IN KILLING

BUDAPEST, Hungary, May 16.—(AP.)—Baron Stefan Bornemisza has been acquitted by a military court of charges of carelessly handling the revolver which fatally injured his fiancee, the young Baroness Marie Forster, on the estate of Count Teleki at Szab last month.

The court held there was no motive for intentional shooting.

Countess Marietta Teleki and Miss Elizabeth Fay, wearing deep mourning, testified to the Baron's innocence. Both said they were present at the shooting.

Publisher to Revive 'Appeal to Reason'

GIRARD, Kan., May 16.—(AP.)—E. Haldeman-Julius, publisher, has announced he will resume within three weeks publication of The Appeal to Reason, nationally known Socialist journal, which was discontinued in 1918.

AUTO BURNS, 2 OF FAMILY DIE

ERIE, Pa., May 16.—(AP.)—Marguerite Leahy, 18, a cripple, was burned to death; her father, W. J. Leahy, died two hours later, at a Conneautville (O.) hospital, and her mother was in the hospital suffering from severe burns and two broken legs, as the result of an auto crash near Springfield, Pa., last night.

Police said the family, residents of Cleveland, had been driving from Erie, where the girl had received hospital treatment, when Leahy apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The car went off the road, crashed into a tree and burst into flames.

The girl, pinned in a rear seat, was burned fatally before she could be extricated by passing motorists. Her father and mother were removed from the flames with difficulty.

800-Ton Steel Order For Rochester Plant

ROCHESTER, Pa., May 16.—A contract for structural steel for a building at Yale University, New Haven, Conn., has been awarded the local plant of the Pittsburgh Bridge and Iron Company.

Approximately 800 tons of steel will be required to be electrically welded at the Rochester plant, which will be kept operating about 80 per cent capacity for the next two months, it was reported.

Woman Beats Rival With Switch; Freed

Clara Bow Must Pay Tire, Gasoline Bill

LOS ANGELES, May 16.—(AP.)—The Daisy DeVoe case still lingers on for Clara Bow.

The justice court of Beverly Hills ruled that the film actress must pay a bill for $62.39 incurred by Miss Bow's former secretary in the purchase of tires and gasoline at a garage. The court held Miss DeVoe acted as Miss Bow's agent.

Last January Miss DeVoe was convicted of grand theft of the actress' funds and is at liberty on an appeal.

Bullfrog Chorus To Join N. Y. Din

NEW YORK, May 16.—(INS.)—This city of noises is to have an added din. Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of reptiles at New York Zoological Park, announced today he had ordered a dozen super-size bullfrogs. He said he heard the type recently in the Mississippi Valley near Murphysboro, Ill., and decided they might play a nice obligato to some of the city's big summer noises.

Woman, 71, Loses Suit Against Vallee

NEW YORK, May 16.—(INS.)—A suit charging slander, brought by Miss Pauline Klemp, 71, of New York, against Rudy Vallee, radio crooner, has been dismissed by Justice Edward J. Gavegan in Supreme Court.

Miss Klemp had asked $25,000 damages claiming that Vallee mocked her in a song she claimed he sang over the radio.

CLARA BOW'S OWN STORY

—As Told to Louella Parsons—

BEGINS MONDAY IN SUN-TELEGRAPH

All the world knows Clara Bow as a laughing, dancing, light-hearted girl not long from school—dashing, adventurous, romantic and the possessor of all the feminine qualities that fascinate. In short, the supreme "IT" girl of the motion pictures.

But that isn't all there is to Clara, as readers of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph will learn in an amazing series of intimate articles telling of the real Clara, these to begin next Monday.

There's a serious Clara—a studious Clara—a girl who has known the hardest of hard times, the most grinding of poverty, and who has actually struggled to the high place she occupies in the minds of millions of admirers.

And there's a charitable Clara—a doer of innumerable good deeds that have never seen public print—the friend and aid to scores of young girls whose difficulties and handicaps she knows and understands because she's been through them herself.

Louella Parsons, motion picture editor of Universal Service and the Hearst newspapers, is the writer of the series that begins in the Sun-Telegraph next Monday.

CLARA BOW

For years she has been a close friend of the titian-locked picture star, and it was Clara herself that chose Miss Parsons as her biographer when those heedful of the girl's interests suggested it was time that a complete story of her life, instead of the sketchy little fragments that have hitherto been printed, be placed before the public. Her father agreed, and Miss Parsons accepted the commission.

The editor-biographer traces Clara's career from its very start—her birth in Brooklyn, the little 98-cent dresses she used to wear to school, the poverty of the family, and the difficulties Robert Bow, the father, had in keeping a roof over his loved ones and food on their table.

Clara's early ambitions, her early studies, what she thought of life, and—of tremendous interest to her host of admirers of today—exactly how she got into motion pictures and her long course upward to stardom.

All these things are set forth in the most intimate detail by Miss Parsons. She says it is the most remarkable history of an individual she has ever known. And it goes thoroughly into Clara's real-life romances that have been so much talked about.

Nowhere else but in the Sun-Telegraph and other Hearst newspapers will this engrossing human document be printed. It begins next Monday. Order your Sun-Telegraph NOW!

7 IN AIR BLAZE LAUD PILOT

NEWARK, N. J., May 16.—(INS.)—Seven of the 17 passengers who escaped injury because of the quick thinking of Pilot A. C. Kondat in landing a burning plane near Aberdeen, Md., today highly praised the pilot.

The plane was flying from Richmond to New York at an altitude of 1,500 feet and a speed of 120 miles an hour, when flames appeared on the fuselage and smoke filled the cabin. Kondat directed his assistant, G. J. McDonald, to fight the fire with an extinguisher, while he drove the plane on for five miles to a landing in a small field at Edgewod Arsenal. The passengers remained calm.

The passengers arriving here included J. E. Hoover, director of the Department of Justice, and C. A. Tolson, assistant director.

The passengers also praised Elizabeth Westwood, hostess on the plane. She reassured the travelers and urged them to keep their seats.

6 Priests Expelled By Ortiz Rubio

MEXICO CITY, May 16.—(INS.)—Six Spanish priests were expelled from the country today on orders of President Pascual Ortiz Rubio on charges of violating the constitutional religious regulations. The priests, who held pastorates in Puebla, were reported outward bound on the liner Volendam.

Two Bandits Loot North Carolina Bank

FLETCHER, N. C., May 16.—(AP.)—The Bank of Fletcher was held up and robbed of an undetermined sum of money yesterday. Two unmasked bandits entered the bank and while one pointed a gun at the cashier, the other collected all the cash. They escaped in an automobile with Ohio license tags.

Coolidge Sees Prestige Of Briand Increased

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., May 15.

To the Editor of The Sun-Telegraph:

Some friends of France and well-wishers for peace, stability and prosperity in Europe will be disappointed that Briand was defeated in his effort to be president. That sentiment does not involve any criticism of the man who was elected, but is based on the feeling that Briand was a great influence for better international understand and good will. His defeat seems to be a repudiation by the French government of his foreign policies and a resurgence among the French people of the spirit of intense and suspicious nationalism which they have regretted in others.

Mr. Coolidge

Before becoming altogether pessimistic it is well to await developments. Sometimes fate takes charge of a situation in unexpected ways. The election of Hindenburg brought a similar reaction. It is now apparent that his force of character and loyalty have supported the republic in a way impossible by a pronounced liberal. The world prestige of Briand has not suffered but increased. When he has asked his government for a vote of confidence in his policies he has had it. He will be supported by these influences at Geneva, France, moreover, has a marvelous way of recovering herself.

Bombs From Army Plane Just Miss Farmer

WABASH, Ind., May 16.—(AP.)—The pilot of an Army plane that arrived at Dayton, O., yesterday for maneuvers with three bombs missing, need worry no longer.

The bombs fell on Charley Connelley's farm near here and almost hit him. He turned them over to Wabash officials.

ROMANCE FLIES WITH AIR FLEET

Romance may result from yesterday's visit of the Army air bombers to Pittsburgh.

Ann Costello, of 123 Sebring street, Beechview, noticed a streamer falling from one of the planes flying over Beechview. Rescuing the banner, she found it inscribed, "Second Bombardment Group—U. S. Army, Langley Field, Va." Attached to one end was a photograph of Maj. Dargue's 96th squadron, and on the back of the picture, the name "Fred Sanford," written in pencil.

Miss Costello will write to Flier Sanford.

And who can tell?

Scores of Army and National Guard planes passed over the city en route to the annual air maneuvers at Dayton, O.

Florida Senate OK's 8c Gas Tax Bill

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., May 16.—(AP.)—The state Senate has passed a bill that would place a tax of 8 cents a gallon on gasoline in Florida. The prevailing tax is 6 cents a gallon. The Lower House has not acted on the bill.

JUBILEE SERVICE ARRANGED IN TARENTUM CHURCH

UPPER VALLEY PASTORS AID INAUGURAL

Community Program to Mark Event; Structure Is Stone and Mahogany

All churches of the upper Allegheny Valley will be represented at the inaugural services tomorrow in the First Presbyterian Church of Tarentum. At 11 a. m. a jubilee service will be held, at which the Rev. Dr. George Ewing Davies, pastor, will speak. A community fellowship service will be held at 3 p. m.

Senior, high school and Christian Endeavor Societies will hold their first meetings at 6:30 p. m., and at the evening church service the Rev. Dr. James A. Kelso, of the Western Theological Seminary, will speak. Services will be conducted throughout the week.

The new structure is built of Indiana limestone, window tracers are of Berosa stone, and the interior of the church is finished in silver mahogany oak. Chancel and pulpit carvings are the work of Anton Lang, of Oberammergau Passion Play fame.

The art glass windows are of fourteenth century design. A new three-manual organ and sixteen-tone chimes have been installed.

UNEMPLOYMENT MEET SUNDAY

Patrick T. Fagan, district president of the United Mine Workers and president of the Pittsburgh Central Labor Union, will preside at a mass meeting tomorrow afternoon in Moose Temple, at which unemployment here will be discussed. Patrick McGrath, of the Street Car Men's Union, is one of the members of the executive committee of the Conference for Unemployment Indemnity, which is sponsoring the meeting.

Literature Group Ends Season

Another department of the Congress of Clubs has brought its season to a close. The literature department rounded out its first year under Mrs. May T. Neff's chairmanship yesterday with one of the most delightful meetings it has ever had and one which celebrated national poetry week.

Its chief feature was a talk on poets as prophets by Edward O. Tabor. In it Mr. Tabor spoke of the poetic language of the ancient Biblical prophets and also of many others of later times even down to the present day, showing that the message of the true poet is always one of prophecy and one from which the people can not turn away. The new voice is that of the Negro and it foretells the new day which must come to the race, Mr. Tabor said.

In addition to his talk, which was unusually fine, the afternoon features included several songs, appropriately chosen and effectively sung by Alberta Irvine, with Helen Machette at the piano, and two poetry contests, one anonymous in which the members voted first prize to Mrs. Galen Hartman and second to Mrs. Neff. The second contest was judged by a committee who awarded first, second and third prizes to Mrs. John M. Phillips, Mrs. Hartman and Miss Gertrude Guffey.

Mrs. Willis E. Fish briefly sketched Edna St. Vincent Millay's life and read most pleasingly from her poems. Mrs. George Heinitch gave Amy Lowell's "Patterns" with a biographical sketch of the author and the afternoon concluded with several poems chosen from various authors by Mrs. J. Charles Wilson. By request, Mrs. Wilson read a T. A. Daly poem, the sort of thing she does just a little better than anybody else.

WIDE BRIMMED, FEATHERED HATS RETURN TO FASHION

Paris Bureau, Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph.

PARIS, May 16.—If anyone is inclined to think we are not romantic, a glance at some of the new hats should dispel that idea. For the picturesque, romantic hat is with us once again and lovely ladies who yearn for brimmed hats with feather trimming need yearn no longer. For most smart modistes are showing such models. The new romantic hats are very clever in keeping themselves away from any hint of the theatrical something of which the models current in former years were often guilty. That is perhaps why the most conservative women fought shy of this type of hat. It was associated in her mind with frequenters of the gaming rooms at Monte Carlo and other resorts of the type. But there is nothing like that about the new models, one can take one's romance in the form of a hat that wears its feathers and its brim with dash and a smart appeal. Of course, much simpler clothes are worn now, with hats of this type, than was formerly the case and that adds the needed modicum of restraint and simplicity necessary if one is to wear brims and feathers.

TURBANS STILL are popular and it isn't to be wondered at when they are of the type of model shown in the accompanying sketch. Fine black picot is combined with the same straw in white by Madame Jose. The white picot is twisted and worked into the folds at each side. There are three ivory rings caught in the folds on the right side.

THE OTHER SKETCH is of a hat also by Mme. Jose and shows one of the new large and very romantic looking afternoon hats now being worn here. It is of black milanese straw, with the crown of black satin, with large discs of the straw placed flat against the sides and on the top. Two long plumes of glycerined ostrich trail cross the brim at one side and another peeps forth from beneath the flattering brim.

STORE WORKERS PRESENT SHOW

A vaudeville entertainment was presented by employes of the Rosenbaum Company on the first floor of the store last night on the eve of the final day of the anniversary sales program. Several hundred employes enjoyed the acts presented by their fellow workers.

J. P. Schaming and Hugh Arnfeld introduced the numbers with the aid of radio. The act winning first prize was a singing and whistling novelty presented by Ruth Reynolds, Olive Morris, Peggy Graham and Jewel Davis. I. Rosenberg and B. Rosenberg, disguised as an elephant, with their trainer, H. S. Heyman, won second prize.

The third prize was awarded eight young women who presented a novelty act known as the midget roses, and the fourth prize was given to Miss Cordia Ziff and Miss Mary McGrath, who appeared as shopper and salesgirl 50 years ago today and in the future.

Mrs. Pinchot Talks On Sphere of Women

BUCKHILL FALLS, Pa., May 16.—(AP.)—Mrs. Gifford Pinchot, wife of the governor, guest of honor at the luncheon of the convention of the State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs yesterday, in a short talk dwelt on the responsibilities of women in business and the professions to keep pace with the progress of affairs.

Mrs. Pinchot, a member of the Uniontown (Pa.) club, declared the women of today follow in the footsteps of the pioneer women who were "not dreamers, but doers." She said women were being recognized in every sphere.

Much of the afternoon was given over to reports of committees headed by Miss Laila Kitchenstein, Grove City; Miss Laverne Chellis, Erie, and Miss Emma Beyer, Norristown.

Juror of 1893 Gets Pay for Services

CENTREVILLE, Md., May 16. — (AP.) — A voucher slip dated May, 1893, calling for the payment of $2.50 for a jury service fee, was brought to Centreville by John R. Hammond.

The county commissioners, after a check of records, found the voucher had been unpaid, and ordered its indorsement and it was cashed.

Had the voucher been deposited as bank savings on the date issued, it would now have been worth $12.28. Hammond was summoned as a talesman in a case during the May, 1893, session, took the voucher home and it was misplaced.

Hoover Closes U. S. Forests to Cutting

WASHINGTON, May 16.—(AP.)—President Hoover has closed the national forests of the country to cutting in an effort to assist lumber manufacturers and at the same time conserve the forests.

With the exception of leases for cutting pulpwood in Alaska, cutting privileges given to actually maintained sawmills and in cases where not more than $500 is involved, President Hoover has ordered the bureau of forests to cease all leasing.

REVIEWS OF NEW THEATER BILLS; GOTHAM AND HOLLYWOOD GOSSIP

By HARRISON CARROLL

(Copyright, 1931, by Premier Syndicate)

HOLLYWOOD, May 16.

To a public grown used to thinking of Eric Maria Remarque as an author of war stories, it may come as a surprise that the German author has written a modern, romantic original for the screen.

It is called "Fate," and has nothing to do with war. Universal has bought it, and will put the story in production before "The Road Back," Herr Remarque's sequel to "All Quiet," which they also own.

Eric Maria Remarque

According to meager information to be had here, "Fate" was written between the two war novels. Like F. W. Murnau's picture, "Sunrise," the story has no definite locale.

Richard Schayer is to do the adaption for the screen.

Quiet on the Western ... probably will be the big-money-maker Universal ever turned out. And aside from its material success, the film has brought valuable prestige to Carl Laemmle's studio. It is no wonder he has such faith in the author.

LATEST GOSSIP

The backgammon craze has developed such proportions in Hollywood that contract bridge is on the decline. Auction bridge, of course, is played only by such ducers as yours truly. . . . Almost everyone concedes that Harold Lloyd is the crack backgammon player of the picture colony. He plays at a double table. . . . Perhaps it's a fable, by M. G. M. cameramen insists the new super-sensitive film picked up a blush through a girl's makeup. I mean it seriously. Also that a burning match held in a man's hand provided enough light for his face to be photographed in a dark room.

May McAvoy

If these feats are true, they are remarkable. . . . Considering all the motion picture stars who have come from Texas, it is surprising to hear that J. W. Crosby, Sam Goldwyn's traveling talent scout, couldn't find a single prospect in the Lone Star State. He's gone on to New Orleans now. . . . Hollywood and Beverly Hills support more little theater groups than can be found in any other locality, save possibly New York. One of them, the Beverly Hills Community Players, is to revive "This Thing Called Love," with a cast of well-known film names. Included are Carmelita Geraghty, Lloyd Hughes, Glenn Tryon, Helen Ferguson, Theodore von Eltz, Ruth Clifford and May McAvoy. I saw May the other night in a Hollywood restaurant and she looked swell. Lois Weber, once the screen's only woman director, will direct the production.

A HOWLING SUCCESS

Among the stranger rackets of Hollywood is that of the young woman who makes a good living screaming for the talkies. She does this consistently, going from studio to studio. At the moment, she is at Paramount to do two screams for Eleanor Boardman's new picture. Her voice is so piercing she stands 50 feet away from the microphone.

'Seed,' Norris Story, Now on Davis Screen

"Seed," film version of the Charles G. Norris novel, which recently completed a week's engagement in the Stanley yesterday was moved to the screen in the Davis. It is a triangle romance with the theme of mother love its dominating factor. Featured players include Lois Wilson, John Boles and Genevieve Tobin. ng supporting players are nond Hackett and Zasu Pitts.

WILL ROGERS SAYS

BEVERLY HILLS, Cal., May 16.

To the Editor, Sun-Telegraph:

I guess our country holds the record for dumbness. The Pope spoke to the world in three languages and we didn't understand a one of 'em, but the minute he finished and the local stations got back to selling corn salve and pyorrhea tooth paste we were right up our intellectual alley again.

Will Rogers

A real prince of Japan will visit Los Angeles today, but he picked a bad time to come, for on the same day Aimee gets in here from one of her pilgrimages and anytime Aimee returns home from anywhere—even if it's just from the desert, why this town goes practically ga-ga. Yours,

WILL.

YOUNG SINNERS PLAY: MISS ROTH SINGS IN STANLEY

By CLARENCE E. GRUNDISH

Modern youth flames again on the Stanley screen in "Young Sinners," a version of the stage play. It is a classy little picture of rich playboys and rich playgirls who romp about the gay resorts. There is a highball for every occasion and a smart remark for every highball. These youngsters live well, if not wisely.

Hardie Albright, Thomas Meighan and Dorothy Jordan have the leading roles. Mr. Albright is a great advertisement for the Carnegie Tech drama school. His acting is free and natural and his is the versatility of being able to start off like a 1931 version of Joe Morgan and end up as a Volstead-made Don Juan. Which gives the picture a moral as well as a happy ending.

Mr. Meighan gives a keenly entertaining portrayal of the rough, but very human physical trainer, whose job is to make a "man" of the young hero. He succeeds, eventually, after socks on the jaw, wood-chopping, hikes over snow and chicken pie dinners.

Miss Jordan appears as the hero's girl friend. She's slated to marry a count, who clicks his heels together with the precision of the German army everytime he makes a bow. But she kicks over the slate and it is hero and she forever and ever at fadeout time. Miss Jordan is charming and a clever young actress.

The gay, alive and youthful atmosphere of "Young Sinners" makes it a film that comes as refreshing screen fare after all the weepy East Lynn drammers and the gangster stuff.

Lillian Roth, another clever bit of Hollywood femininity, is making a personal appearance on the stage. She's as cute and charming a little girl as ever stepped from the movie studios for a Pittsburgh stage appearance. Garbed in a becoming white gown that drops below her ankles, she sings about four songs and goes into a wrestling bout with Dick Powell.

The stage show is titled "Down Came McGinty," taking its name from the closing act that involves some comedy acrobats in a house-building racket. Wilton Crawley, blackface clown and musician, and Phil Arnold, little and funny, also are on the bill. Dancing girls dance, Mr. Broudy has an overture and Bernie performs another organiogue.

'THREE GIRLS LOST' PICTURE IN ENRIGHT

By MARGARET RUSSELL

Of the "Three Girls Lost" in Chicago at the Enright this week, only two of them strayed and none was stolen.

Arriving by airplane, three small-town girls tackle the big town. One was dumb, one was nice and one was a gold-digger. Thereby hangs the tale.

The "dumb" girl, Joyce Compton, goes back to Summerville, a little wiser. The gold-digger, Joan Marsh, gets herself a lot of clothes and notoriety in a murder case. And the "nice" girl, Loretta Young, gets the swell young architect next door.

A sort of Cinderella story for the right girl. Without a fairy godmother, however, for the prince gets into jail. But he gets out again in time for a happy ending.

Added attractions are a stage show, "Beauty on Parade," with an elaborate finale, an acrobatic dance by the Stanley Twins, Sugar and Marcel, a comedy team, and the Earhart brothers, tap dancers. "The Fireman's Bride," a musical cartoon, and "One Punch O'Toole," a skit, complete the program.

Lost Lady

By MILDRED FILLMORE

Tallulah Bankhead, an American girl who won success on the English stage, makes her screen debut in "Tarnished Lady," the film which opened yesterday in the Fulton and the Sheridan Square. Miss Bankhead has the emotional flair of a Garbo and makes an impression in a dramatic way. Although she is not a beauty, she is an actress and an attractive one at that.

The film is a romantic drama and the setting is New York society. Unkind fortune forces the heroine to marry a rich broker, when, in reality, she believes herself to be in love with a poor writer. Later, she leaves her husband, only to find that her writer-Romeo is not a one-woman man. Then comes a series of episodes that leads to reconciliation with her husband again.

Clive Brook has the leading male role, which he carries in his usual quiet and polished manner. Other players include Phoebe Foster, Alexander Kirkland, Osgood Perkins, Elizabeth Patterson and Rosamund Pinchot.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Mrs. Malin phoned. She said she had started divorce proceedings, but that she doesn't know anything about Jean's movements. And would you call her? . . . Jimmy Durante wishes you would clear up the situation about the trio splitting . . . It appears that the parting is only temporary—for the six months he is in Hollywood . . . And that they will reunite for vaudeville or shows . . . I see Joe Cook's divorce made the front pages . . . Like? . . . Well, it serves you right for promising people things . . . What's happened to your argument that news always "leaks"? . . . Before I forget, please leave the $2—the quarter for the aspirin I bought you Monday, 60 cents for the messenger service (from M. L.), 15 cents for cigarets, and the dollar you borrowed two weeks ago. . . . Mrs. W. phoned to tell you to please stop in at that toy store on Fifty-seventh street and bring home a sliding board—it costs $12.98. . . Saw Charlie Shaw and George Jean Nathan last night at the Blue Ribbon, they asked about you. Charlie wanted to know what your routine was these days, whether you were getting up in the afternoons or just going to sleep. I think Nathan is cute. . . . I hear they are putting a bill through the Pennsylvania Legislature to prevent ghost-writing . . . . And someone is trying to put over a bill at Washington to prevent lawyers from heckling witnesses, which would be a welcome law, if you asked me and even if you didn't! . . . . The Frederick A. A Miss Peggy O'Neal phoned and would like to have Patricia Caron's address . . . . They want you upstairs to take new pictures.

That wage slice you mentioned on that newspaper only affects the business departments, not the editorial staff . . . . You mentioned a split infinitive in the foreword to the "Public Enemy" picture. . . How about their use of "strata" when they meant "stratum"? . . . I am supposed to inform you that in Quincy, Mass., at 4 Philips street, there is a girl named Trudy Vallee.

Did you see "The Secret Six" movie? . . . In one scene Jean Harlow is rushing after John M. Brown, who has just stepped off a subway train. The train is pulling out of the station with the doors open so she can get on. When the train is almost out of the station, the doors are still open, so gangsters can get on, too . . . Verlwell, let it go, let it go . . . I was merely trying to help you . . . I have a letter asking who wrote "The Song of the Flame"—Friml or Gershwin? . . . Did you know that mackerel have to keep moving in order to live? . . . The breathing apparatus on the fish stops functioning when it stops moving . . . Jack Osterman called. I have a letter from a woman who read the line last week about you needing a new suit because yours was shiny . . . She says it is all very well for people like you to buy a new suit, but that her husband is desperate and needs one, too, but can't afford it . . . She says she has seen your picture and that you are slim like her husband and would you send him the old one? . . . Okay? . . . You know Cedric Worth. He's on the Post . . . He has done a book called "The Bank Fails" for Brewer, Warren & Putnam . . Cedric has been in the hospital with pneumonia . . . Mention the book, please? . . . I see Ray Goetz about with his old flame, Judith Armstrong, a lot . . . How come you haven't mentioned that chap, Fred Monroe, at the 300 Club? . . . I saw him last night and he's very clever, really . . . He apes various stars, but so much better than Albert Hackett or even Venita Gould, etc . . . I hear he gets less a week than the chorus girls there, but you may tell him for me not to lose heart. He'll be a somebody some day . . . Now, if you were a good fellow, you would say so, and attract the attention of the agents and producers . . . Remember the column you wrote once, in which you admitted somebody gave you a push upstairs?

Harriet Hagman, of the current Lucky Strike ad, who supposedly hails from Finland, is really Flatbush's gift to "Vanities" . . . I was just thinking that you could kid the city officials a little about their warnings to people to conserve water, because the city is threatened with a water shortage . . . Well, we have had a lot of rain in the past week, but did you notice that in spite of the heavy rains the cleaners still sprinkled the streets? . . . William Faro, the publisher, called to say that Sumner had arrested him on February 24 for publishing "Celestine—the Diary of a Chambermaid," by Octave Mirbeau . . . And that he won the case last Thursday. Decision awarded by Judge Wm. Dodge . . . The twist being that the same book, in its original form, was suppressed in 1900 and in 1931, still in its original, was declared not impure by the courts . . . Oh, I knew I had a smile for you . . . Theodore Dreiser wears safety pins, and not suspenders!

What do you have to do around here to get somebody to clean the windows? . . . You are gonna catch it for breaking the mail box last night. I told them you apparently had lost the key, and that you had to get at the mail. You certainly wrecked it, Mister. . . . A Mr. Tom Davin was in today. He wanted to interview you for a health magazine and I almost laughed out loud. . . Said he wanted to do a big story on a chap like you who "always worked under great pressure," and that people would like to know how you kept healthy and looking so fit. . . . I felt like asking fit as what?. . . Your Dance mag check will be here tomorrow, they said. . . . Sullivan phoned to tip you off that two more phonies are telling people that they are your assistants and they are crashing gates at various places. . . You should warn people through the col'm that you have no assistants, or anyone representing you. . . Except of course.—R. C.

Mother Role

Lois Wilson has the mother role in "Seed," film version of the novel, which is now on the Davis screen.

DRAMA OF RACKETEER FEATURE IN ALDINE

By WILLIAM J. LEWIS

"Quick Millions," Aldine photoplay, is the story of the development of a racketeer. It probably is a true-to-life tale and it introduces all sorts of "rackets" to illustrate the rise of a quick thinker from a truck driver to partnership in a big construction firm. Spencer Tracy, who played the energetic reporter in "The Front Page" on the stage, has the central role, that of Daniel (Bugs) Raymond. "Bugs" is an adept at "muscling in." He "muscles in" first by selling "protection" to those who know they will suffer if they don't buy. In the same way he gets into the trucking business and then into the construction of a big building.

There isn't much romance. He has his own sweetheart but proposes to ditch her because a society girl, sister of his unwilling partner, attracts him. She tells him she will wed one she long has been engaged to, so he decides to muscle in on the wedding. The implication is that there will be a kidnaping of the bride. The further implication is that his husky musclers tired of his "high hat," take him "for a ride" instead.

The action is swift but jumpy and the picture could do with more comedy and romance. Tracy does good work as the chief racketeer. Marguerite Churchill and Sally Eilers capably portray the only feminine roles. Interesting short films round out the program.

TELL IT TO SALLY

By SALLY MARTIN

Don't Be Gloomy When Life Gives You a Wallop

He's the world's record cry-baby—

Sobbing is the best thing he does—

Yet he can't understand why the lady of his choice prefers another gent. If you like 'em damp 'n' doleful, get in on this . . .

"Dear Miss Sally:

"I am so worried and unhappy that I have decided to write to you, because I feel sure that you or your readers can comfort my lonely heart. I am one of those unfortunates whose heart is breaking for love of a woman who, unfortunately, loves another man.

Won't Listen to Him

"Knowing that he isn't the kind of man who deserves her love I've been waiting, hoping that some day she would change her mind and leave him . . . but, dear adviser, I can't wait any longer. I have no more patience. You know how terrible it is to be in love when we can't even have a word—a smile, to comfort our hearts!

"There is not a greater pain than that which afflicts the heart and mine, Sally, is broken. Whenever I see her or think of her, I feel so blue that I can't stop weeping. Because of poverty I've been through the greatest hardships and suffering. I stood them with resignation, but I was too discouraged and disillusioned to work for a future, and always retired from those places where others find happiness and life.

"Then I met this girl, and she encouraged me to succeed . . . and I began to realize a sublime love, the greatest love that a heart can feel. I could make her the happiest wife in the world, if she would just listen to me . . . but she won't. I can't make her understand that this other man is not the right man for her.

Wants to Marry

"Now I have met another girl, who seems to care a lot for me. She is charming, intelligent, and the kindest girl I have ever met. And I would like to marry her, but I wouldn't want our marriage to be just comfort for my sadness and I am afraid that, if the first girl were ever free, I couldn't help loving her again. Do you think I should wait, on the chance that she ever will be free . . . or could I be happy with this second girl?

"I am one who has suffered enough to deserve happiness, but who has never had it. Please help me. What shall I do?

"DANROL."

Do I think you should wait before marrying?

Yea, Bo! I certainly think you should . . . for at least a couple of hundred years . . . or until you learn to wipe your chin and blow your nose and buck up like a man! For, take it from me, stranger, in your present condition, you'd be an awful case of hiccoughs as a husband.

Sorry for all your suffering? Not a daggoned bit!

Suffering isn't an affliction with you. It's a fine art. You've coddled and cultivated your grief until it has become a regular profession . . . and you think the Human Race should hang medals on you for being our Weepingest Willie. You're not alone in this. Others have all but copyrighted that system before you, son. Thousands and thousands of humans feel they're entitled to rewards and spotlights for being martyrs.

Concentrates on Gloom

Other people go out and earn applause by fighting fires and digging ditches and building cities. But the Sob Specialists just concentrate on gloom. And they often make such pests of themselves that they succeed in getting all the attention.

You think that your drooping ears and quivering jowls entitled you to the Lovely Lady's hand, "Danrol." Well, you're wrong! A girl wants a man for a husband—a spunky, battling male, who'll brace up instead of belly-akin when life hands him a wallop.

As a matter of fact, I doubt very much if you love this girl at all. I've a hunch you're just craving a permanent audience for your blubbering, and you think the best way is to marry one..... Here's hoping your Charmer has the sense to turn you down, flat.

Which is all for today. And now do go off and have another good cry, dearie!

'A Word A Word!'

Drawn by Nell Brinkley

Words have wings—and are devils or angels. Almost always they are idly spoken—but handling them idly you may be dallying with either a sword or a rose.

A word can be dew on a heart and head that is heavy—or caustic on a friendly hand reached out unsuspecting.

A word can draw a definite picture in another's mind—and it is like trying to take out an etching to try some other time to erase the image you so enthusiastically and carelessly made.

Handle a word, when it has much meaning about it, like a priceless thing—and save it when in doubt about just what it will become after it leaves you.

All women and men love to chatter in this noisy age. Don't you believe that men are not gossipy too. The farmer comes home from town, and his women folks know that Dave Downey had his horse tied, or his tin road-runner parked under the elm in front of Widow Whipple's house for an hour this morning.

In a bigger way Mr. Commuter brings the outstanding news of the office home to Mrs. Commuter to make her eyes bigger. And of course Mrs. Farmer and Mrs. Commuter like to scatter the chatter themselves over the tea-table in their moments in the best frock and an idle hour. Words are engaging playthings—and it is hard to keep from spilling more than enough of them.

In an undying fairytale there were two girls whom a fairy from the world underground was interested in. She put a spell on the kindly one, and a spell on the malicious one. When the first spoke, out of her rosy mouth fell diamonds—when the the second spoke out hopped toads and whatnot!

Angels and devils. All powerfully winged. All with a mind of their own. Words—words. Locusts —that strip the landscape of green beauty—or butterflies that grace it and do no harm.

—NELL BRINKLEY.

How to Keep Well

By DR. COPELAND

Proper Food Needed for Growth

Normal growth of a child is the most important function of his life. He must grow mentally as well as physically. Growth cannot be hoped for without proper nourishment.

Dr. Copeland

Popular interest in the nutrition of the school child has grown tremendously. An important topic at the recent convention held in Washington was the problem of school lunches and proper nourishment for the school child.

In former years the school physicians and nurses were interested primarily in the mere appearance of health. Today, in addition to this, they are concerned in the real state of nutrition. When this is established, they know good health is assured.

It is agreed that the problem of nutrition and health must be included in the general school instruction. This is best accomplished by teaching the parent, as well as the child, just what constitutes wholesome food.

Great advances have been made in establishing classes for under-nourished children. These children are grouped together. In addition to their daily school work, they are given a special diet to improve their health.

Milk served during school hours has produced excellent results in overcoming undernourishment. This additional feeding teaches the child the importance of drinking milk.

This practice is of particular value for the child who dislikes milk. Seeing other children drink milk encourages him to do so. It won't be long before he develops a liking for it.

Good health habits must be taught to normal children. It is just as important to correct bad habits in sick children.

The future of the nation depends upon the health of our children. Correct physical and mental growth can be acquired only by proper supervision.

It is hoped that such problems as undernourishment, improper growth, diet deficiencies and nutritional disorders will eventually disappear. They will more rapidly disappear under the program now planned for our school children.

Answers to Health Queries

V. D. L. Q.—How much should a girl of 17, 5 feet 2 inches tall weigh?

2—What do you advise for constipation?

A.—She should weigh about 115 pounds. This is about the average weight for one of this age and height, as determined by examination of a large number of persons. A few pounds above or below the average is of little or no significance.

2—Eat simple well-cooked food. Avoid foods unduly rich in fats and starches. Drink plenty of water. Eat plenty of fresh green vegetables, fresh and stewed fruit.

W. L. Q.—What do you advise for halitosis?

A.—First eliminate the cause, which may be constipation, indigestion, nasal catarrh, or decayed teeth.

Oh, These Women

By LEOLA ALLARD

In this day and age, a girl from Ohio steps out to say: "I'd rather die than be an old maid." Fancy that! And girls every day refusing to marry because they want their independence and because business attracts them.

She asks me:

"WHAT KIND OF GIRLS DO MEN MARRY?"

She wants to be that kind. She thinks people don't like old maids, and make fun of them.

Oh my dear, you are terribly old fashioned. Girls strive to remain old maids these days, refusing marriage and taking business as a decided preference.

I have always talked for the home. I think women are happier with families and home life and the majority of them are made for that. But that doesn't mean that many clever women are not better off in business where they ARE successes, than being failures at home making the other members of their household unhappy.

Here is the letter:

My Dear Miss Allard—I have a very important question to ask you. What kind of women DO men marry? I am an orphan, have been since I was 11. I have been doing housework for 13 years, and am a good cook and know about children, for I've raised four younger sisters and brothers. But the only kind of men that pay any attention to me are widowers with children looking for a housekeeper, or bachelors too old to work, or very young boys.

"I'm terribly disappointed, as I always thought every girl has a mate somewhere. I am getting on in years and still waiting. I really don't want to be an old maid. Everybody hates an old maid, and I'd rather be dead than be one. I mean it, Miss Allard. I have much to put up with in life, so don't think me a coward, but I do get so discouraged. Maybe you can tell me how to cope with this cruel world."

Well, well, well! She has three types of men who DO pay her attention, yet she feels neglected because one who is exactly the right age, complexion and size doesn't ride up on a white horse and carry her away. Listen to me, my dear, this is a hard world, not Utopia. Every woman who hasn't got him, is waiting for THE RIGHT MAN. You aren't alone in your wishes or in your lack of success. It's a universal complaint. You have to wait till HE comes, and you can't hurry HIM.

As for dreading this title of old maid, you don't know do you, that the title went out of dates years and years ago? There are married women and unmarried women, and my dear girl ANYBODY can get married. ANYBODY. Don't think of your single state as a curse. Many married women would happily change places with you.

When you ask what kind of girls men marry—why—they marry good ones, bad ones, cross eyed, knock kneed, good looking, ugly, smart, simple, dumb and crazy women. That's the truth.

If anything will retard your progress toward marriage, it's your anxiety to commit matrimony. Women are never too old to get married. They are doing it at 60, 70 and 80 these days. You are borrowing worry and you will spoil your chances if you don't cheer up. Maybe he will be along tomorrow. It wouldn't surprise me. It's at the last minute, when hope dims that these things happen.

If I'm wrong, write me, care Universal Service, 63 Park Row, New York City.

Household Hints

Cheesecloth bags are excellent to put vegetables in when they are to be kept in the refrigerator after being prepared for the next meal. This is especially useful for lettuce, celery, watercress, etc.

Pure linen is much more advisable for kitchen towels, for they will be found to be much more absorbent and great labor savers. Grease and spots are washed out much more easily than from cotton towels.

Have you ever made the filling for croquettes too soft to mold nicely and you had to use it for hash? Next time moisten one teaspoonful of gelatine with cold water and dissolve in a little hot water. Add this to the croquette mixture and place it in the refrigerator. It will thicken it enough to mold nicely.

Apply a little denatured alcohol with a brush to the dark-brown stains which cigarets make on copper and brass ash trays and the stains will disappear immediately.

To remove vaseline, soak spots in kerosene, or turpentine, before washing. Vaseline stains are also easily removed by sponging them with a little ether or soaking a few minutes in wood alcohol. If once boiled they cannot be removed.

Turpentine mixed with warm milk will make the oilcloth look like new. . . . Flat, shallow cooking utensils use less fuel and are easier to clean. . . . A can of consomme or bouillon should always be in the house to take the place of the stock called for in so many recipes.

Madge Hopes Veritzen Remains Away

With the resolve upon me that nothing should spoil Junior's Christmas Eve, I managed to whisper to Lillian before we had finished singing the Christmas Carols.

"Junior's going up to bed in half an hour. Don't go back until then. And—can you keep Ronald so occupied for that time that——"

"He'll have no time to talk to Marion," she finished promptly in the same, practically inaudible, undertone I had used, and which, indeed, she had taught me during our days in the secret service of the war. "I get you, and I'll do that little thing—with pleasure—and dispatch. Poor Junior. He's getting it early."

"I don't want to spoil his Christmas Eve," I said, ignoring the comment.

"Of course not," she assented. "Let me drop a word into my daughter's ear, before I tackle Ronald. When we stop singing, you block Ronald from making a goal rush toward Marion, and I'll speak to her. Then I'll relieve you. Luckily he's a polite youth—Helena's brought him up well, and though he'll be cussing us royally inside, he'll be the soul of courtesy and we can keep him chained as long as we want."

"Tomorrow it won't matter," I said. "That playroom—"

"What's a girl compared to a gym?" she murmured with a smile, and then we went back in earnest to the carols we had been only pretending to sing during our colloquy.

I could enjoy them now with no misgivings, for never have I known Lillian to fail in any task, and when the carols were over, she moved swiftly but unobtrusively to Marion's side, while I went as quickly toward Ronald. I knew that my ruse for keeping my small son happy for the next half hour, was as good as accomplished.

Always I like frankness, the direct method, when I can use it, and I resolved to employ it with the shy, handsome boy who was so patently in love with Marion.

"Donald," I said, "may I ask a favor of you?"

"Of course," he said with the gentle courtesy in which his mother has trained him.

"Junior is going to bed in half an hour," I said. "He always has had Marion with him on Christmas Eve. Will it be possible for you to delay going back to The Larches for that time, and busy yourself with Mary, Noel, and my older nephews who are trimming the Christmas tree? Then Marion can help Junior hang up his stocking as she always does, and his Christmas Eve will be complete instead of being marred by her absence."

"I'm glad to do whatever you wish," he said, smiling at me. "I'm only here as a chauffeur anyway. And I don't believe anybody will miss us over there. We've finished trimming the Christmas tree, and the boys and girls are all dancing, while mother's so busy seeing to last things and trying to entertain Mr. Veritzen, that I don't think she'll notice how long we are gone. I can stay just as long as you and Mrs. Underwood wish."

I hardly heard him. I was so surprised at his news. Philip Veritzen at The Larches! Then that meant he, in all probability, would come over before midnight.

I could not even have Christmas Eve free from him. I thought resentfully, then was remorseful at my inhospitality. After all, the great producer must be a singularly lonely man this Christmas time. But I wished he could assuage his loneliness somewhere else than at my Christmas fireside.

"You're all coming over here, later, aren't you?" I asked, trying to make my voice casual.

"Yes, if we may, about eleven?"

He laughed boyishly.

"Thank you, I'll get busy," he said, and then Lillian spoke from behind me.

"Your son wishes your presence," she said. "I believe he wishes to know whether he and Roderick can hang up Dicky's golf stockings instead of their own. I suggested Harry's, he being the biggest man in the house."

"I'll go over to him at once," I said, laughing. "Ronald is going to help Mary and Noel and the boys trim the Christmas tree, while Marion helps Junior hang up his stocking, and big sisters him generally. He says you won't be missed over at The Larches for that time."

"No. Helena has her hands full listening to Phil Veritzen who seems to have camped down for the evening, while the young people are dancing. We'll all be back about 11."

"So Ronald was telling me," I replied evenly, but was nevertheless grateful to Lillian for the warning concerning Philip Veritzen's impending arrival which she evidently thought I needed. "Will you lend a hand at the Christmas tree, and be sure they trim the top of it first."

"And that only holly red balls are used, and that the Christmas fruit and reindeer and other junket dear to the youngsters, are not put where they will mar the general artistic effect. Yes, m'love. I know that ritual by heart.

THE BEAUTY BOX

By HELEN FOLLETT

When gums lose their color, soften and are sensitive, get a rubber massage brush and use with plenty of table salt mixed with an equal quantity of baking soda. Or, a tooth paste can be applied and the gums massaged with the finger tips. A mouth wash is refreshing after the teeth are brushed. Swish it thoroughly between the teeth.

Only the blandest soap should be employed for the shampoo. Soaps containing alkali in excess will eat into the hair shafts, produce dryness, do away with the natural gloss and luster. The soap, when used, is better in liquid form, and the rinsing should be accomplished with a spray and a strong force of water. The scalp is to be dried first.

A thin, delicate skin won't stand soap and water as well as a complexion that is more robust. If soap proves irritating, here is the way to use it with safety: Cleanse the skin surface well with cold cream, dip washcloths into soap suds and place over the face. Very refreshing, this treatment. It cleanses the epidermic thoroughly.

Heavyweights do not improve their appearance by wearing the belt at the normal waistline. They look their best in long flowing garments, with dropped girdle and frocks composed of soft materials. Bouffant fabrics and patterned materials are not for the dear one who causes the scales to shiver and shudder when she steps foot upon them. Cross lines in the dress design are not her sartorial dish.

There are girls who are freckle-free as far as faces go, but look at the necks in the rear! A fine camping ground for yallery polka dots. They get there because the cold cream that protects the complexion never gets over the neck surface. Freckles are caused by the burning of ultra violet rays which change the coloring pigment of the skin. Any oil will form a barrier against the kisses of old Mister Sun. Powder, too, isn't easily penetrated by sunshine. Begin now to insure against speckles.

Measuring Butter

Don't try to measure your butter for recipes by forcing it into a cup, thereby wasting quite a bit of the butter. A pound brick of butter measures two cupsful and any fraction of butter can be figured according to the pound brick. Through frequent handling almost every housewife can cut the amount of butter to an ounce if she is watchful.

A Hollow Knob

If the knob on your teakettle cover is hollow, press a cork into the hollow place. The cork will keep the knob from getting so hot and the cover can be handled more comfortably.

Correct Manners

By MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

"Pardon My Glove"—Is Unpardonable

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

There has been a disagreement among my friends regarding "the glove." Upon meeting an acquaintance on the street is it necessary to remove the glove or say, "Excuse my glove," before one extends the hand?

It seems, Mrs. Beeckman, that some time ago I read in your column where you said it was not necessary to mention the glove as this was quite passe. However, I may be mistaken in regard to this, and, if so, would greatly appreciate your authority.

M. C.

When a woman meets a friend and shake hands, it is not necessary for her to remove her glove. This is taken for granted, and so no mention is made of the glove.

When a man meets a woman, and she signifies that she wishes to shake hands with him, he quickly removes his glove. This, too, is taken for granted, and therefore no mention is made of the glove. In other words, a man does not ask to be "pardoned" for not removing his glove.

A Case Where the Woman Must Buy

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

The young lady to whom I am engaged was invited to a linen shower. Who, in your opinion, should buy the gift, my friend or should I? If I did not know her friend? If I had met her friend several times before?

E. L. B.

Of course the girl should buy the gift for this shower. Under no circumstances should the man buy this gift, for that would be absurd.

Wearing the Class Ring

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

My friend and I have had a little discussion as to whether or not it is correct to wear a class ring to an informal evening dance when one dresses informally? We have agreed to follow your advice.

PEARL.

It is correct to wear your class ring, since you are dressing informally.

AUTO INDUSTRY USING MORE STEEL

Current Consumption by Motors Estimated at 25% of Total Output

By B. E. V. LUTY

For a year or so past automobile production has been more interesting as an economic index than as a factor in steel trade activity, the automobile proportion of steel made having run far below its previous percentage. In both 1928 and 1929 the automobile industry is understood to have taken 18 per cent of all the steel made, but in the latter part of last year, even with the much lighter production of steel, the proportion was well under 15 per cent.

Now, however, the condition is reversed. A Detroit estimate is that this month's automobile production, cars and trucks, United States and Canada, will run about 370,000, which would be 6 per cent over April. If so, the automobile industry is consuming steel equal to nearly 25 per cent of the current production. If the proportion of light and heavy cars were the same as in 1930 the proportion would be fully 25 per cent, but some allowance should be made for a further swing towards the light cars, which, by the way, are not nearly as light as they used to be.

OTHER LINES DROP

Last year fabricated structural steel as indicated by reports of shipments by the structural fabricating shops represented about 10 per cent of all the steel made. At the present time it does not seem to be accounting for as much as 8 per cent. March shipments as officially reported would represent a trifle less than 8 per cent of present steel production and estimates are that there has been a decrease in structural shop shipments since March.

In another form of construction, pipe lines, there is a large decrease from last year, the season to date proving quite disappointing. Again, the railroads have been curtailing their expenditures more and more until now they are taking very little steel. Finally, the sheet, pipe and nail makers have found almost no increase at all in steel for dwelling house and other small construction, although the usual season is now fully entered.

OUTPUT DECLINES

A sufficiently close forecast would put the present quarter's steel production at around 5 per cent under the March quarter, or about 10 per cent over the December quarter. There would have to be very remarkable developments in the next 30 days, one way or the other, to prevent any decrease or to make the decrease as much as 10 per cent from the March quarter. With a peak rate of about 56 per cent, in the third week of March, and a present rate of about 45 per cent, July should average around 40 per cent.

The only particularly interesting point about steel prices at present is the question whether mills will succeed in drawing specifications against second quarter bar, shape and plate contracts at 1.65c, first-quarter contracts, at 1.60c, having been extended for specification up to May 1. There is no little opposition on the part of buyers.

PLATE GLASS MARKET FIRM

Laminated Glass Call From Auto Industry Steadily Increasing

The status of the sheet glass industry has not changed to any noticeable extent in the past week, according to the National Glass Budget. Demand for plate glass was maintained, but there is little call for window or rough rolled glass products.

Production of plate glass has been in keeping with demand and as a result the market is firm. Some are of the opinion that by the time the motor industry slows down orders from the jobbing trade and mirror industry will increase and help to sustain present volume of business.

PRODUCTION LOW

Manufacturers of window glass are discouraged on account of the small demand. Although it is said that there is quite an increase in residential building now under way it has not been reflected by increased orders for window glass. Production is at an extremely low point. One or two tanks that have been idle are resuming operation. The monthly rate of production continues in the neighborhood of 300,000 boxes.

Laminated glass is said to be steadily increasing in demand. This product is becoming more popular with motorists who are insistent that new cars be glazed with glass that will afford protection in case of accident. Much consideration is now being given to new methods of manufacturing this commodity.

RAIL FREIGHT TRAFFIC OFF

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Freight traffic handled by the Class I railroads of this country in March amounted to 29,960,291,000 net ton miles, according to reports just received from the railroads by the Bureau of Railway Economics and made public today.

Compared with March, 1930, this was a reduction of 5,340,344,000 net ton miles, or 15.1 per cent, and a reduction of 10,267,667,000 net ton miles, or 25.5 per cent under March, 1929.

The volume of freight traffic handled by the Class I railroads in the first quarter of 1931 amounted to 87,340,190,000 net ton miles, a reduction of 19,013,745,000 net ton miles or 17.9 per cent under the corresponding period in 1930, and a reduction of 30,237,175,000 net ton miles, or 25.7 per cent under the same period in 1929.

COKE PLANTS AT CAPACITY

NEW YORK, May 16.—By-products produced by National Steel Corporation during 1930 aggregated 908,368 net tons of coke, 13,369,577 gallons of tar, 15,932 net tons of ammonia sulphate and 3,271,109 gallons of benzol, toluol, naphtha and xylol, directors were informed today. This production represents the company's net interest, its Donner-Hanna by-product plant at Buffalo being 50 per cent owned, through Hanna Furnace Corporation, a National Steel subsidiary.

The company's coke production is so closely related to its own requirements that it has been enabled to operate these facilities at capacity, with resulting increased efficiency, it was stated. The only unit which is an exception is the last battery of coke ovens constructed at Buffalo by the Donner-Hanna Coke Corporation, which has not yet been placed in operation.

DOWNWARD LIVING COSTS CHARTED

You Can Get Along Today on One-Third Less Than in 1927!

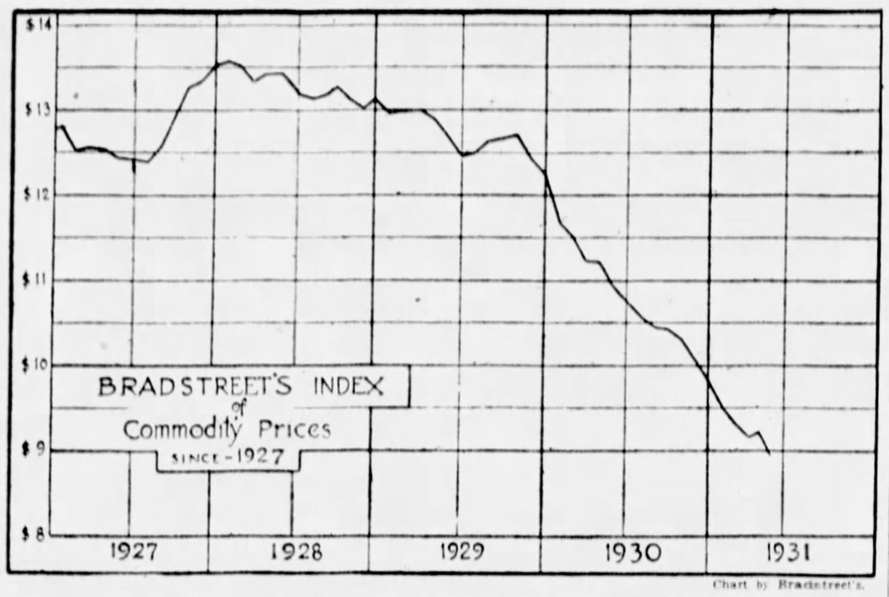

Chart by Bradstreet's.

THE DOWNWARD TREND OF THE COST OF LIVING FROM JANUARY, 1928, UNTIL THIS MONTH

From $13.5732 on January 1, 1928, the index of the cost of living has dropped to $8.9134 for May 1, 1931, on this chart, the oldest commodity price index continuously compiled in this country. Thus, it costs more than one-third less to live in this day than it did in 1927.

All In A Day

By Mark Hellinger

NEW YORK, May 16.

IT HAPPENED in a small specialty restaurant near Columbus Circle. New York is filled with such places. Whenever a man has nothing better to do, he either gets himself married or opens a specialty restaurant. Some of these joints offer chili con carne. Some serve hot corned beef. And some suggest hamburger steaks, which are more easily described than digested.

In this particular spot, the special dish is—of all things—caviar. The proprietor buys great quantities of the silly stuff and undersells every other place in town. Accordingly, since this city is filled with caviar addicts, the little restaurant does a thriving business.

I was alone. It was about 2 o'clock in the morning and only a few tables were occupied. The first rush was over and the next crowd would not arrive until an hour or so had passed. The waiter took my order. I spread my paper before me and began to read.

The door opened and two men entered. Well dressed and obviously men of breeding, they sat themselves at the table next to mine and ordered caviar.

A few minutes later a girl walked into the place. A very thin girl. About 22. Poorly dressed. Looking very tired. Like one of those neglected shop girls you always see in the movies but never meet on the street. Just another good girl gone hungry.

She looked around the place and picked a table directly in front of the two well-dressed men. The waiter pushed a menu in front of her.

The girl started to talk. She stopped suddenly and looked into her purse. She shook her head sadly.

"I'm afraid I can't have very much," she sighed. "Just give me some coffee and crullers."

The men at the next table had seen the entire thing. They couldn't have missed it. One of them suddenly leaned toward the girl.

"I hope you'll pardon me," he said, "but you seem to be hungry. I'm not trying to flirt with you and I don't want you to think I'm being fresh. But if you'd care for some of this caviar, I'd be very happy to order it for you."

The girl looked at him. Gratefully. She nodded slowly, as if she were slightly ashamed of herself. In a minute the caviar was placed before her. She attacked the idiotic delicacy with great gusto. And not until the entire portion had vanished did she turn to the man who was paying for it.

"You don't know how wonderful you've been to me," she murmured. "That's the first time in my life I ever tasted caviar. It certainly is good. Wonderful, really.

"I don't know how to thank you. I haven't eaten in two days. And then to taste caviar for the first time—"

That started the conversation. Buzz. Buzz. Buzz. First the men. Then the girl. Then the men again. And so on. The first man finally yanked a card from his pocket.

"Here," he stated as he handed it to the girl. "I want you to take my card. I'm Dr. B—. If there is ever anything I can do for you, don't hesitate to drop in and see me. If I can possibly do so, I will be happy to help you."

The girl thanked him. Sweetly and honestly. The men arose and left the place. The girl followed shortly after. I settled back in my chair to resume my reading. I heard my waiter chuckling.

"What are you grunting about?" I inquired.

He grinned widely.

"That dame that just left," he muttered. "She's a funny one, all right."

That annoyed me.

"What do you mean—funny?" I shot back. "The poor kid was hungry. You could see that. Those men were decent enough to buy her some caviar. What's funny about that?"

The waiter looked at me in a peculiar fashion.

"And you're supposed to be a wise guy," he murmured nastily. "Well, let me tell you that that dame has been playing the same game ever since this joint was opened. She comes in, and if there's nobody around, she breezes. But if two or three guys are alone, she sits down near 'em and just looks hungry. Nine times out of ten, she gets a meal—and a card. She always uses the card the next day.

"That's why I think she's funny. As far as I can see, she's been tastin' caviar for the first time every day for the past two years!"

IN A reminiscent mood the other evening, Winnie Sheehan, power behind the Fox Film company and one of the finest men in the industry, unfolded a tale of the strangest business he ever encountered. The business, said Winnie, was controlled by two brothers who operated in a little spot called Jackson Hole. The town is in the northwest, and is just about 200 miles from anywhere at all.

The brothers do a little bootlegging from Canada, but their sideline is the berries. The state in which Jackson Hole is located is trying to conserve elk. Thousands of those animals are roaming about, but nobody is permitted to kill them.

These boys do not kill the elk. They start out in the early morning and locate a herd. They lasso the one they want and spread the animal on the ground. While one brother holds the elk's jaws, the other one pulls the two front teeth. When they have sufficient teeth, they mount them and sell them to clubs in large cities at $10 per tooth!

"But," asked Winnie of one of the brothers, "Don't you ever double up on yourself? Don't you ever lasso the same elk twice and then find the teeth already pulled?"

"We used to," was the reply, "until we found a way out. Now we put a mark on the elk's ear. When we see that mark the following year, we simply let him alone!"

I wonder who was being kidded—Mr. Sheehan or I? . . .

Why All the Bidding?

By ARTHUR 'BUGS' BAER

Even with a chance to get out into the fresh air and sunshine, an opportunity to dive into the surf or tour through the delightful Adirondacks, some people still insist on holding freak bridge hands.

We don't know what this bridge business is all about. With Sandino shooting our Marines what do we care whether or not north holds all the spades?

Yet the little town of Westfield, N. J., is now a world capital because north had all the spades. And, in case of a tie, north also had a very wicked penknife. Who is North, Anyway? Is it a person, a direction or a breeze?

You step into a parlor these days and somebody yells he is west, a strange lady is east, your host is north and a cross-eyed card shark is south-by-south-east.

Babies born in the suburbs aren't christened any more. The anxious parents look it over and put a signpost on it. When it grows up it will be north.

You would be astonished at the number of bridge experts who are rated as professors at their rackets. Not one of them knows enough to pour mucilage out of a high hat. But seat them at a table, give them a deck of cards to shuffle and they become as important as a barber with a million dollars worth of lather.

In the old days all the gambling was done on steamboats. If you didn't want to gamble you took an ox-cart.

Now, both liquor and gambling have invaded the home. The first thing your host does is to break out a pack of cards and you spend the week-end with the wrong kind of spots in front of your eyes.

You have been invited there for a rest and on Monday morning you owe a needle-nosed stranger $1,100 just because a trey finesse backfired and the dummy went to sleep in the wrong hand. Inviting friends to your country mansion is a better racket than running a high-priced hotel.

The last time out we had a very venerable old lady for a bridge partner. She looked so meek and mild that butter wouldn't melt in her ears. Before the evening was over she had smacked us over the head with a rare bit of porcelain of the Ming dynasty. When we asked, "Whatsamattah, Granny, did we play out of the wrong hand?" she yelled, "Wrong hand? Why, you rat, you ain't even in the right seat."

WISE LEADERS KEEP EYES ON PROFITS

Canny Executives Keep Out of Indiscriminate Race for Mere Volume

By MERRYLE S. RUKEYSER
Universal Service.

NEW YORK, May 16.—In the light of cool analysis that comes in time of depression, it becomes apparent that high pressured selling sometimes defeats its own purpose.

Wise executives concentrate on profitable business, not on an indiscriminate race for mere volume.

George F. Baker's bank, the First National, which has consistently paid dividends of 100 per cent on its capital, has gone further than the rest in selecting accounts. Where others have restlessly striven for volume, it has specialized on quality, seeking mainly larger accounts, which more than paid their way.

Mr. Rukeyser

The quality of banking has deteriorated in some quarters, not only as a result of the system of "dummy" directors, but also from the habit of choosing "go getter" directors.

On this point, George L. Harrison, governor of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York, pointed out before the Glass Senate Committee:

"I think the banking directorates are too big and that they leave too much leeway, in some cases, to the executives of the banks.

SUGGESTS REMEDY

"If it were possible, perhaps, through some limitation on the size of directorates of banks, to impress upon the directors the real responsibility they have got in controlling the management of the bank within the law, I think we could obviate many of the difficulties we have had, because we would have the combined judgment of a group of directors who are directly controlling the bank's business instead of having directors many of whom are merely new business getters."

When Harvey D. Gibson recently became president of the Manufacturers Trust Company, he told me that he didn't want decorative directors, but working directors who would bring richness of judgment to the bank. He indicated also that he would prefer to give such directors fair compensation for their services, rather than mere nominal pay in the form of gold pieces in accordance with the American financial tradition.

SURPLUS CARS TAKE DROP

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Class I railroads on April 30 had 602,832 surplus freight cars in good repair and immediately available for service, the car service division of the American Railway Association announced today. This was a decrease of 11,396 cars compared with April 23, at which time there were 614,228 surplus freight cars.

Surplus coal cars on April 30 totaled 251,679, a decrease of 7,826 cars within a week while the surplus box cars totaled 282,315, a decrease of 3,630 cars for the same period.

Reports also showed 28,904 surplus stock cars, a decrease of 356 below the number reported on April 23, while surplus refrigerator cars totaled 16,652, an increase of 558 for the same period.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY
"Public Improvements Promote Progress"

The reconstruction of Brinton Avenue, in North Braddock and East Pittsburgh Boroughs, involved the repaving of an existing borough street which is the most important and only direct connection between the two boroughs. It extends from the intersection of Brinton Avenue and O'Connell Boulevard, in North Braddock, to the bridge over Turtle Creek on the East Pittsburgh and McKeesport Boulevard in East Pittsburgh.

The pavement consists of vitrified brick, laid on an 8-inch concrete base course. A double street car track also occupies the street. It is paved 36 feet wide between curbs and is 0.79 miles long.

The contract was awarded to F. W. Scott Company on May 22, 1929, the contract price being $140,484.90. East Pittsburgh is to share in this cost to the extend of $40,000.00 and North Braddock is to pay 45 per cent of the cost of the section within its own borough. The boroughs are financing the paving of the street railway area. This contract was completed during August, 1930, the final physical construction cost being $127,087.40. The County's share is to be paid from the 1928 Peoples Bond Fund.

IRON INDUSTRY OUTPUT OFF IN 1930

Production of Steel Also Declined from Peak Set in Previous Year

WASHINGTON, May 16.—The year 1930 in the iron and steel industry was one of decreased production, declining prices, and smaller earnings, according to the United States Bureau of Mines. The production of steel, after reaching a new peak of 56,433,473 gross tons in 1929, decreased to about 40,700,000 tons in 1930, the lowest since 1924.

The decreased needs of the steel industry were naturally reflected in the outputs of pig iron, ferro-alloys, and iron ore, the production of pig iron declining from 41,761,488 gross tons in 1929 to 31,036,866 tons in 1930, ferro-alloys declining from 869,563 tons to 732,518 tons, and iron ore declining from 73,027,720 tons to 58,408,664 tons.

LESS ORE MINED

The iron ore mined in the United States in 1930 amounted to 58,408,664 gross tons, a decrease of 20 per cent as compared with 1929. Compared with the average for the preceding five years the production in 1930 is smaller by 11 per cent. The shipments of iron ore in 1930 amounted to 55,201,221 gross tons, valued at $145,619,059, a decrease of 27 per cent in quantity and of 26 per cent in total value, as compared with 1929. The average value per ton of iron ore at the mines in 1930 was $2.64, as compared with $2.61 in 1929. The stocks of iron ore at mines at the end of 1930 amounted to 10,383,152 gross tons, an increase of 47 per cent.

The production of pig iron in 1930, exclusive of ferro-alloys, was 31,036,866 gross tons, compared with 41,761,488 tons in 1929. Thus, the production in 1930 was 26 per cent less than in 1929, and it was 18 per cent less than the average for the preceding five years. In the production of pig iron in 1930 there were used 53,084,961 gross tons of domestic iron ore and manganiferous iron ore; 2,190,783 tons of foreign iron ore and manganiferous iron ore; and 4,918,940 tons of cinder, scale and scrap; a total of 60,194,684 tons. An average of 1,939 gross tons of metalliferous materials was consumed per ton of pig iron made in 1930, as compared with 1,964 tons in 1929.

FERRO-ALLOY YIELD

The shipments of ferro-alloys of all classes in 1930 amounted to 650,240 gross tons, valued at $51,900,220, a decrease of 22 per cent in quantity and of 31 per cent in total value. The production of ferro-alloys in 1930 was 732,518 gross tons, as compared with 869,563 tons in 1929, a decrease of 16 per cent.

The production of ferromanganese in 1930 was 274,830 gross tons, containing about 216,000 tons of manganese (metal), an average of 78.59 per cent of manganese. In the production of ferromanganese in 1930 there were used 459,478 gross tons of foreign manganese ore, 40,501 tons of foreign ferruginous ore, 32,969 tons of domestic manganese ore, 10,538 tons of iron ore and 9,712 tons of cinder, scale and scrap.

Rail Mergers Seen as Aid to Economies

By GEORGE H. SNYDER

MERGERS HAVE BEEN one of the most frequently mentioned cures for the ills of the railroads. Consolidations cannot produce new traffic but they may result in operating economies which might go a long way toward compensating for the loss of business to trucks and buses.

While the estimates of the benefits from rail mergers vary widely, it seems quite certain that the elimination of unnecessary duplication of service and curtailment in the use of circuitous routes will have a marked effect on the earnings of some of the carriers.

The only serious difficulty with such economies is that they must be made at the expense of labor. Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio, believes that this can be accomplished gradually so that existing employes will not have to be discharged. His plan is to fill vacancies as they occur with men who would ordinarily be displaced by changes in operations. In other words, the railroads, under his scheme, would not hire new men until jobs had been found for all the displaced workers. This would protect labor but would prevent the railroads from getting the full advantages of economies for a long period of years.

Possibilities Limited

CONSOLIDATIONS MAY BE EXPECTED to be of the greatest help to the smaller lines. They hold few opportunities for cutting the costs of large and well rounded out systems such as the Pennsylvania and the New York Central.

The problem of management becomes so great in the principal systems that further extension might merely create unwieldy organizations which could make few operating economies.

Consolidations Distant

THE ACTUAL CONSUMMATION of large railroad mergers may still be a long way off in spite of the fact that the four leading systems in the eastern trunk line territory have reached an agreement under pressure from President Hoover.

There are still several unsettled problems. The Pennsylvania's holdings in New Haven form one of the stumbling blocks. The other systems think that the Pennsylvania should be forced to give up this dominant interest in the road which controls a major share of the New England traffic. But the Pennsylvania has little to gain by the consolidation plan so it would be likely to kick over the apple cart rather than consent to the completion of a system of mergers which would separate it from any of its valuable traffic-gathering lines.

Commission Approval Needed

THE INTERSTATE COMMERCE Commission will have to place its stamp of approval on the four-party merger plan before it can go into effect. This would mean the abandonment of the five-system plan presented by the commission.

After all the minor details of the four-party plan are settled and the commission has ratified it, the systems must start the long job of making financial arrangements. In view of the many interests concerned in the control of railroads, this would be no small job and undoubtedly could not be completed for a long period of years.

LOCAL RETAIL TRADE DROPS IN WEEK

Business Volume Is Under That for 1930; Lumber Prices Continue Low

Retail trade has fallen off to some extent this week due principally to unfavorable weather, and jobbers report less activity in men's and women's wearing apparel, according to R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review. As compared with a year ago the volume of business is quite materially lower, but this is to some extent due to lower average prices.

Buying of jobbers is reported mostly for filling in purposes and the average purchase is small. Seasonal lines of hardware are reported moving more freely and there has been a fairly good demand for farm and gardening tools. Groceries and provisions continue to move in moderate volume. The movement of lumber is in larger volume than it has been, but prices continue low. Stocks carried by retail lumber yards are reported generally much below normal.

Crude oil production is at a somewhat lower rate, with some prices showing a slight reduction. Output of bituminous coal continues at a low rate, but stocks on hand are reported the lowest since 1924. Prices of Western Pennsylvania grades of run-of-mine coal are quoted per net ton at mines as follows: Steam coal, $1.50 to $1.75; gas and coking coal, $1.50 to $1.75; steam slack, 60 cents to $1.

Local collections continue slow, although some houses report a slight improvement during the past month.

SLEUTHS PROBE MAN'S DEATH

Homicide detectives and deputy coroners today were endeavoring to learn how Aullrit Litwenki, 45, of 232 McKim street, suffered a fractured skull which caused his death late yesterday in South Side Hospital.

A search was being made for a stranger who visited Litwenki at his home Thursday night and invited the victim to accompany him. When Litwenki returned home the next day his head was cut. A short time later he became unconscious and was taken to the hospital where he died.

PLACES CLOSED UNDER DRY LAW

Temporary injunctions were granted in Federal Court against three establishments in Carnegie, on bills of complaint filed by the prohibition authorities which charged violations of the prohibition law on the premises. Final hearing will be held September 15.

The alleged proprietors and the places temporarily enjoined are described in the complaints as follows: Saloon, 3 Barrett way, John Marcus; store and drinking room, 413 West Main street, James Sorba, and a saloon and restaurant, 309 West Main street, Hubert King.

Shipping Conference Break-Up Is Denied

CHICAGO, May 16.—Charles H. Swift, vice president of Campania Swift International, said with reference to brokerage reports of an alleged break-up of the shipping conference having to do with the meat situation in South America:

"There is no change in the situation, nor do we know of any likely to occur. The shipping conference runs on indefinitely, and is cancellodle only on 12 months' notice."

GROUP SAILS FOR IRELAND

NEW YORK, May 16.—A spring visit to Ireland and England will be made by Mr. and Mrs. Clyde F. Young and Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Altmeyer, of McKeesport, who sailed in the Cameronia. They plans to remain three months on the other side.

Others returning were the Rev. and Mrs. C. H. Hazlett and family, who have been in India for seven years.

GENEVA PLANS GRADUATION

BEAVER FALLS, Pa., May 16.—One hundred and thirty young men and women will be graduated from Geneva College, Tuesday morning, June 2. Prof. William McCracken, of the Western State Teachers College, Michigan, will make the commencement address.

The annual banquet of the Geneva Alumni Association will be held Monday evening, June 1. The Rev. Finley Kennedy, Cleveland, O., will make the address. Attorney Thomas D. McCloskey, Pittsburgh, will act as toastmaster.

Dr. M. M. Pearce, college president, will give the baccalaureate sermon, Sunday evening, May 31.

BUSINESS INDEX AT SAME LEVEL

NEW YORK, May 16.—At the close of the great national and international business conferences, business sentiment here and abroad seems to have assumed an ultramarine shade of pessimism. This is somewhat surprising, for while the outcome of the conferences was disappointing to those who looked for decisive leadership, the surface signs of the business situation have given no ground for added gloom, and a fundamentally favorable force has appeared in the picture in the form of persistent and powerful Federal Reserve pressure for credit expansion, says the Business Week in its report covering the week ending today.

The business index is holding its level with no indication of impending decline due to more than seasonal changes. For the week ended May 9 it settled at 79.2 per cent of normal, against 78.8 in the preceding week and 96.9 per cent in the corresponding week last year. The seasonal slackening of steel activity seems slightly slower, with moderately improving prospects of automotive demand. Building permit figures reflect some improvement in residential construction. Check payments and currency circulation suggest some increase in money turnover. Department store results for April indicate increased retail activity. Crop prospects are encouraging, and wheat is surprisingly stable.

Lower Railroad Fare Unsatisfactory

CHICAGO, May 16.—Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad has not been satisfied with results of the experimental reduction of passenger mileage rate of 2 cents from the standard 3.6 cents rate in local territory, but has extended the time limit for expiration of the test period for 60 days to July 1 in order to give the lower rate a thorough test.

Cuban Centrals Complete Grinding

HAVANA, May 16.—Cuban sugar mills in Camaguey and Matanzas provinces have completed grinding the current year's crop, producing 932,046 tons as against 1,357,470 in 1930. Matanzas this year accounted for 330,774 tons, against 561,268 tons a year ago.

Bellas Hess Prices Under Year Ago

BOSTON, May 16.—National Bellas Hess Company midsummer sale prices are 15 to 20 per cent below last year's comparable levels and 5 to 10 per cent below current prices quoted in the regular spring and summer catalog.

LAUNDRY HEADS RE-ELECTED

The Pennsylvania Laundry Owners' Association re-elected the officers of the organization at an executive business meeting in Schenley Hotel last night. They are: President, W. G. Conover, of Philadelphia; vice presidents, Dick Briney, of Braddock; M. F. Wilkinson, of Reading; Walter D. Jennings, of Philadelphia, and E. Ross Reno, of Pittsburgh; secretary and treasurer, F. W. McBrien, of Philadelphia, and service secretary, Frank R. Brines, of Philadelphia.

Senator W. D. Mansfield was the speaker at the annual banquet last night which closed the two-day session of the association.

TRAIN WRECKS HOUSE, 1 DEAD

CINCINNATI, May 16.—(AP.)—The locomotive of Big Four passenger train No. 124, from Cincinnati to Columbus, struck a railroad spike on a rail at Lockland late yesterday, overturned and crashed into a house in the tracks, killing a woman and causing the injury of five other persons, none of them passengers.

Mrs. Rose Earhart, 71, was killed, and her husband, Frank Earhart, 77, suffered a broken leg. The other injured were Clarence Lee, 61, engineer, Columbus; Fred Heard, 36, fireman, Lockland; Leon Leonard, 27, Newport, Ky., news vendor, and James Salrey, 39, Galion, O. baggageman.

Injured in Fatal Crash, Autoist Sues

Ice ridges formed by a seeping spring and by water pumped in connection with reconstruction of the Tenth Street Bridge caused the automobile of Jacob N. Bosle, of Carrick, to skid on Second avenue January 8 and crash into a pole and wall, killing Henry Esler, a passenger, and injuring Bosel, according to his suit in Common Pleas Court. Bosel asked $50,000 damages, $25,000 each from the city and the Vang Construction Company.

Woman's Suit Asks $10,000 for Injuries

Harriet T. Chapman, 127 Chesterfield road, asked $10,000 damages from the Pittsburgh Railways Company in a suit filed in Common Pleas Court, alleging she was injured when attempting to board a street car December 5 at Fifth avenue and Chesterfield road. The conductor closed the door as she was on the first step and signaled the motorman to start, and she was thrown to the street, the suit alleged.

Postal Receipts Decline in April

WASHINGTON, May 16.—April postal receipts in 50 selected cities amounted to $29,257,210 against $32,643,939 in April, 1930, a decrease of $3,386,729 or 10.3 per cent, according to the Postoffice Department.

Receipts at 50 industrial offices in April totaled $3,268,409, compared with $3,524,346 for the corresponding month of 1930, a decrease of $255,936 or 7.2 per cent.

ROAD BUILDERS' ASSOCIATION ACTIVE

Pledges Co-Operation in Developing Constructive Schedule of Expansion

WASHINGTON, May 16. — (AP.) — Forty affiliated organizations pledged closer co-operation in developing a constructive program for expanding road and street construction at the annual meeting today of directors of the American Road Builders' Association.

Co-operative work between road builders and the Association of State Highway Officials, the U. S. Department of Commerce, the Associated General Contractors and the Highway Research Board, also was expanded in scope at the meeting.

Depression of the last year has not affected operation of the American Road Builders Association, W. A. Van Duzer, president, said. He continued:

"It is now engaged in more activities than formerly and is carrying on joint work with more associations than at any time previously. The road show held in January was a complete success and the exhibit as the show window of the industry was an index of the great development in road machinery and materials during the last year."

The association is 29 years old and represents all branches of highway activities, including state, county and city officials, contractors, engineers, manufacturers and distributors.

COAL MEN TOLD OF RESEARCH

CINCINNATI, May 16.—(AP.)—Dr. John R. Turner, president of West Virginia University and director of the school of mines there, told the closing sessions of the manufacturers division of the American Mining Congress about new studies being made to find additional uses for coal.

Dr. Turner pointed out that coal was not only a commodity for furnishing heat in homes but was converted into more than 1,000 by-products. He said research was constantly finding new uses for and discovering improvements on old uses that increased economy.

Proposed methods of cleaning coal with "dry sand air" were described by R. M. Sheppard, Kittanning, Pa., president of the Allegheny River Mining Company. He said the process still was in an experimental stage but that the basic principle was the difference of gravtiy between coal and slate and other impurities.

THE PRODUCE MARKET

The demand for fruit and vegetables was slow but fairly steady today at the wholesale produce markets in Pittsburgh. Changes in quotations were small.

The butter, egg and cheese market was firmer with slight increase in butter quotations.

Car-lot supplies totaled 400 on track. Arrivals include 1 cars apples, 1c bananas, 1 beans, 4 cabbage, 1 cantaloupes, 7 carrots, 5 cucumbers, 3 grapefruits, 5 lemons, 15 lettuce, 13 onio — 12 oranges, 3 peas, 3 pears, 1 peppers, 24 potatoes, 1 spinach, 11 strawberries, 3 tomatoes and 3 mixed vegetables.

International Meets Canadian Paper Cut

NEW YORK, May 16.—International Paper Company has met the reductions recently made by Canadian makers, showing average reduction of $3 a ton for the period April 1, 1931, to December 31, 1936.

United and Schulte Cut Cigaret Price

NEW YORK, May 16.—United Cigar Stores and Schulte Retails Stores will reduce prices on popular brands of cigarets on Monday to 13 cents each or two packages for 25 cents.

March Footwear Production Higher

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Recording not only a substantial gain over January and February, but also surpassing the total of the corresponding month of last year, production of boots and shoes in the United States during March reached the highest level, with the exception of September, 1930, in the past 14 months, according to the Commerce Department.

Output during March amounted to 29,154,774 pairs of boots and shoes, other than rubber, as compared with 23,970,956 pairs in February, or a gain of 21.6 per cent; and as against 19,883,869 in January, or a gain of 46.5 per cent. The increase over March, 1930, when 28,625,634 pairs were produced, was 1.8 per cent.

LOW COSTS AID REMINGTON SHOWING

Profit Margin Sustained by Cheaper Raw Materials; Ammunition Plants Busy

NEW YORK, May 16.—The ammunition plants of Remington Arms Company now are operating on a full six-day week schedule, a better rate than for some time. The company's firearms and cutlery branches have not shown any particular improvement during the past several months; the cash register division in April showed a moderate betterment compared with April, 1930.

There has been a general reduction in ammunition prices in the trade which undoubtedly has been a factor in increased volume of business, but with prices of raw materials lower, the company's margin of profit has not been reduced importantly from 1930. Both copper and lead now are at lower levels than for a number of years, and both are important ammunition ingredients.

ACTIVE SIDE LINE

The new $1 pocket knife brought out last summer continues in active demand and has helped sustain operations of the cutlery division at a fair rate. The first quarter is normally a quiet one for the arms trade, and as yet there is little indication of what is to be expected in that branch of the company's business for the balance of 1931.

The improvement in the cash register division, following several very dull months, is encouraging. Remington is the second largest maker of cash registers in the country and has been engaged in their manufacture only a few years.

YEAR'S NET DOWN

Net income for 1930 amounted to $1,169,879, equal after $285,673 dividends on the first preferred stock and allowing for $8 requirements on the 50,000 shares of second preferred, to 75 cents a share on 642,385 common shares. In 1929, after $297,049 first preferred dividends and allowance for second preferred dividends, net was equivalent to $1.38 a common share. Dividends on the second preferred have not been paid since the middle of 1924, accruals thereon now amounting to more than $60 a share.

Surplus as of the end of 1930 stood at $3,200,070 against $2,408,856 in 1929.

TRACE SUSPECT IN GANG DEATH

MASSILLON, O., May 16.—(AP.)—A man who, police said, admitted driving the automobile used by the slayer of Jim Speros, 38, long a figure in Canton's underworld upheavals, was in custody today and the arrest of the alleged killer was expected hourly.

George Gotsoff, Massillon wrestler, gave himself up last night and, according to Police Inspector Jack Burwell, declared George Tatalinos, described as an underworld character, killed Speros in self-defense.

Speros, whose name was coupled with the investigation of the slaying of Don R. Mellett, Canton vice-crusading editor, four years ago, was shot to death late yesterday.

The killing followed an argument over $175 in "protection" money which Speros demanded from Tatalinos, Gotsoff said.

Indiana Adjutant Resigns on Request

INDIANAPOLIS, May 16.—(AP.)—At the request of Gov. Harry G. Leslie, Manford G. Henley, Indiana adjutant-general, resigned his office late yesterday. The Governor announced the appointment of Paul E. Tombaugh, Indianapolis attorney.

Henley's resignation followed by a few months his appearance in court at Greenfield, Ind., defending a suit for separate maintenance against him by Mrs. Ethel Williams Henley, who claimed she was married to the Adjutant-General. The official denied he was married, and the suit was dismissed, but Judge Arthur C. Van Duyn criticized the conduct of both parties.

N. Y. Frat Rum Raid Warrant Dismissed

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—United States Commissioner Francis A. O'Neill dismissed a search warrant under which the Delta Kappa Epsilon Club in Fifty-first street was raided about a month ago, and three men arrested.

The warrant was dismissed on the request of Maxwell Shapiro, attorney for the club, who argued the building was a home for the persons living there and that no outside sale of liquor was permitted. The dismissal of the warrant automatically voids the arrests.

Many Feared Dead As Town Burns

TOKIO, May 16.—(AP.)—Fire which destroyed 600 houses in the town of Atika Friday night is believed to have caused a large number of casualties. Driven by a stiff wind the flames swept through the town for several hours. It was the fourth big fire in Japan within the last few days.

U. S. Steel Declines, While Bethlehem Advances in Quiet Opening Trading

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—Opening stock prices were mixed in quiet trading today. U. S. Steel lost half a point and there were smaller declines in New York Central, Johns-Manville and American Can. Baltimore and Ohio dropped a point. United Aircraft and Westinghouse rallied ¾. Union Carbide, Bethlehem and Goodyear were up half a point. Union Pacific advanced 1.

Wheat Plan Success Rests With Russia

LONDON, May 16.—Authorities on world wheat problems, surveying the prospects of the international wheat conference, which opens here May 19, were agreed that Russian participation in any agreement that might be reached was vitally necessary for the success of that gathering, designed to invigorate the ailing wheat markets of the world.

Representatives of 11 wheat-exporting countries in four continents were here or en route. Market experts refuse to express an opinion on the chances of an agreement resulting from the session.

Heavy Construction Plans Take Gain

Further gains in commercial, hospital, public works, federal government and large residential building plans raised the week's value of heavy construction and engineering proposals to $81,259,000 for all types of work except highways, construction daily reports. The figure, which constitutes the aggregate for the country, compares with $64,072,000 in the preceding week and $49,179,000 in the corresponding week last year.

Chicago & Alton To Issue Notes

WASHINGTON, May 16.—Receivers for the bankrupt Chicago and Alton Railroad were authorized by the Interstate Commerce Commission to issue $1,500,000 of receiver's notes.

The receivers, William W. Wheelock and William G. Bierd, are permitted to use the proceeds to pay taxes, interest and dividends on securities of leased lines and to pay maturing equipment trust certificates.

American Currency Aids Mexican Silver

MEXICO CITY, May 16.—Decision of bankers to import sufficient American gold to relieve scarcity in Mexico brought a quick reaction in the American exchange yesterday. The gold peso went almost to its par value in exchanges against dollars and exchange value of the silver peso, which had fallen to an alarming point, was strengthened.

WALL STREET HEARS

That United Fruit will comfortably cover its dividend in the first half.

That the New York Federal Reserve Bank will again cut its bill buying rate.

That April earnings of General Foods were 25 per cent above the same month last year.

That the Bethlehem Steel Corporation management has under consideration a $2,000,000 expansion program for its subsidiary, Pacific Coast Steel Corporation.

CORPORATE EARNINGS

Glidden Company reports April net profit of $186,872 after all charges, including bond interest, depreciation and federal taxes, compared with net profit of $166,428, after similar charges for the same period last year.

National Air Transport, Inc. reports for March quarter, net profit of $117,579, after expenses, federal taxes, etc., against $127,288 in the first quarter of 1930.

MacAndrews and Forbes reported for the quarter ended March 31, net profit of $217,826, equal to 56 cents a share on the common stock, against $255,763, or 66 cents a share, in the March quarter of 1930.

Coty, Inc., in a statement subject to adjustment at the end of the year, reported for the March quarter net income of $215,405, equal to 20 cents a share, compared with $918,241, or 62 cents a share, in the first quarter of 1930.

General Theaters Equipment, Inc., reported 1930 net income after all charges of $1,454,405. This compares with $1,023 in 1929, if earnings of subsidiaries acquired in that year are taken as of the full year, although the portion of 1929 earnings accruing to General Theaters was only $940,296. Owing to changes in capital structure, earnings per share for 1930 are difficult to calculate but if a full year's dividend on the new preferred stock is deducted the amount available for the new common stock is 85 cents per share. If only actual accrued preferred dividends are deducted, the new amounts to $2.23 per common share.

Walworth Company, including subsidiaries, reports for March quarter net loss of $339,905, after depreciation, interest, taxes, etc., against net profit of $340,757 in the first quarter, 1930.

General Outdoor Advertising Company reports for March quarter net loss of $850,310, after interest, depreciation, amortization, etc., against net loss of $490,004 in first quarter, 1930.

RADIO, TURF EXPERTS IN DERBY BROADCAST

WE NOW PRESENT

By DARRELL V. MARTIN,
Radio Editor

Earl Sande, Clem McCarthy, Ted Husing and Graham McNamee form the "big four" at the Kentucky Derby today, reporting their findings for eager listeners on the National and Columbia networks. Ted, that bundle of nerves that turned in a colorful story of the Pitt-Notre Dame game a year ago, has decided to start his broadcast early—6 o'clock, to be exact, on WJAS.

Darrell V. Martin

His proposed novelty of picking up hoof beats has us interested. The NBC trio, headed by McNamee, opens on WCAE at 6:45 o'clock. Erno Rapee wields the baton in place of Walter Damrosch, WCAE at 9; Sandy McFarlane, well known as a member of Roxy's Gang, introduces a new WCAE feature at 9:30, the Show Boat produces Dickens' "Oliver Twist" on WJAS at 10.

Resources of KDKA and the United Presbyterian church are to be combined tonight at 11:15 to entertain three Western Pennsylvania missionaries in Gorei, Abyssinia. Dignitaries of the church are to speak to the girls—Miss Ruth Walker, of Butler, Pa.; Miss Viola Bayne, of Pittsburgh, and Miss Isabel Blair, of Washington, Pa.

Selected as a perfect "television type," Norma Altwater, former KDKA soprano, is being used frequently these days by New York stations experimenting with the new art. Norma appears in costume again tomorrow night at 7 o'clock for the WGBS televisor.

DO YOU KNOW—

THAT Dwight Latham of the Jesters is the son of a minister?

THAT electrical transcriptions (records) are broken in two and returned to the sponsor after every broadcast? This is to prevent duplication in the studios and also serves as proof of production.

THAT the train sound effects used by Tampa have cost him close to $300?

THAT authorities have banned the use of records on Danish radio stations?

THAT King Alfonso is in no mood to discuss his abdication over the radio? He threatened to destroy any microphone brought close to him.

THAT rumors persist that a radio station is to locate in the Good Gulf Building when it is completed?

That Pittsburgh has a Radio Servicemen's Association with an examination tougher than that required for most engineers? Officers are A. A. Bauer, president; J. Hans Gordon, vice president; Anthony Mag, secretary and treasurer; C. C. McCall, assistant secretary and treasurer. The organization meets once a month.

FOUR ARRESTED IN RUM RAIDS

Raiding an alleged speakeasy at 134 Scott place, prohibition agents reported finding 2,361 pints of home brew and a large quantity of moonshine. Edward Sweeney, 42, was arrested and held in $1,000 bond.

Harry Smith, 30; Charles Joseph, 28, and Peter Splendore, 23, were arrested when prohibition agents seized a 200-gallon still and destroyed 5,100 gallons of mash in a raid on a barn in Baldwin Township, yesterday, agents said. Near the barn the agents seized an automobile after finding 10 sacks of corn sugar, 100 pounds of yeast and 12 empty tin containers in it.

A still of a 50-gallon capacity was confiscated in the home of Michael Kovel, 40, of Groveton, according to the agents' report.

Stray Boy of Three Claimed by Father

After spending 18 hours in the matron's department of Central Police Station, the boy, identified as Henry Zenney, of 3029 Brereton avenue, was claimed by his father, Z. B. Zenney, who said the child strayed from home.

Scouts Get Orders On Traffic Count

Six hundred Boy Scouts were to meet today in Pirate Hall of the William Penn Hotel to receive final instructions for their work in the sixth annual city traffic count, to be held soon. A similar group received their instructions last week.

Henry Fox, radio entertainer, and William Hunnel, traffic officer, were to speak in behalf of the Better Traffic Committee.

Philadelphia Man Heads Harvard Clubs

PAROLE SOUGHT IN BANK FRAUD

Max Green, 29, 1036 Lemington avenue, a tailor, who is serving two years in the workhouse following his conviction June 24, of conspiracy to defraud the Western Savings and Deposit Bank of $17,000, is seeking a parole from Judge Joseph M. Swearingen, on the plea that he is ill and his family destitute.

Judge Swearingen adjourned the case until next Friday, when medical testimony will be offered.

George A. Coleman, bookkeeper at the bank, also serving two years, has not asked for parole. At the trial it was brought out Green presented checks at the bank which Coleman cashed, although Green did not have money on deposit to cover them. Coleman altered the books to conceal the transactions, and Green gave Coleman a small part of the money.

ASKS $100,000 FOR LOST ARM

Alleging he has been unable to follow his occupation as a mechanical draftsman because of the loss of his right arm, Robert A. Zeese, Coraopolis, asked $100,000 damages for injuries in a suit against the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie Railroad Company, filed in Common Pleas Court.

After a trip from McKees Rocks February 9, Zeese was alighting at Coraopolis when the train suddenly started and threw him under the wheels, the suit said. He charged he was allowed to remain on the platform and in the station more than an hour, and that, instead of being taken to the Valley Hospital, nearby, he was taken by a slow train to the South Side Hospital in Pittsburgh, where the railroad company maintains a ward.

MAIL ROBBERY TRIAL NEARS

The criminal session of the May term of the Federal District Court will start Monday. One hundred and thirty-five cases are listed for trial.

The first case listed is against four men charged with holding up Cyrus P. Markle, of Greensburg, a rural mail carrier, and stealing a $4,000 mine payroll, near Yukon, Westmoreland County, January 8. The defendants are John C. Williams, 30, of Monongahela; Thomas E. Jennings, 50, of Cannonsburg; Edward Smith, 26, of Library, and Thomas Allen, 32, of Indianola.

OBITUARY

John Kissick.

Word was received here today of the death of John Kissick, former Pittsburgher, in his home in Long Beach, Cal. Mr. Kissick was born here and had made his home here until 18 months ago, when he went to California. He was employed by the Westinghouse Airbrake Company for 38 years. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity. He leaves his widow. Temporary interment has been made in the Sunnyside Mausoleum, Long Beach.

Rev. Ferdinand Hartung.

The Rev. Ferdinand Hartung, 63, died yesterday in St. Francis Hospital. He was born in Pittsburgh and studied at St. Vincent's College. Father Hartung was ordained to the priesthood in 1892, and had taught at the college, and was a parish priest at Chicago, Denver and Baltimore. At the time of his death he was chaplain of St. Mary's Hospital, Canton, O. He leaves a brother, John Hartung, of Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Laura M. Morrow.

Mrs. Laura M. Morrow is dead at the home of her son, George Morrow, Chester, Pa. She was a former president of the Rebekah Assembly of Pennsylvania. She leaves her husband, John H. Morrow, a son, George, and a daughter, Mrs. Lee Miller, 2318 Charles street, from whose home the funeral was to be held at 2 p. m. today.

Mrs. Dora Stein Crea.

Mrs. Dora Stein Crea, 75, widow of Thomas Crea, died Friday at her home in Marshall Township. She leaves eight children, Eliza B. Crea, a teacher, and Mary E Crea, a nurse, of this city; Mrs. C. W. Ifft, Zelienople; James and T. C. Crea, of Buffalo; Margaret R., William and George Crea, of Marshall Township, and 19 grandchildren.

Mrs. Fredericka Hiller.

Mrs. Fredericka Ernst Hiller, widow of John Hiller, died in her home at 3110 Perrysville avenue, North Side, yesterday. She was a lifelong resident of Pittsburgh and was a member of the Trinity Methodist Protestant Church. She leaves a son, John E. Hiller, and three daughters, Mrs. Anna Siebert and Miss Carrie and Miss Mollie Hiller.

The Loudspeaker

By LOUIS REID

NEW YORK, May 16.—It took the theater grandees a long time to snare Rudy Valle. Dickers have been made, but always the dotted line remained unsigned.

Valle, it seems, came high, and the grandees were conserving their resources—conserving them foolishly, it occurs to us, by mediocre productions. Trying to stretch a dollar too far, they came upon misfortune. The rumble of storehouse wagons became louder and louder around their doors and eventually they had to call it a day and mean it.

Signs are now apparent that they have abolished their penny-wise policy. They are now shooting the works—George White, Ziegfeld, Morris Gest, E. Ray Goetz and the rest. The reward should be great.

At the height of his vogue a year or two ago Vallee's presence in a revue would have more than compensated at the box office for the fee that he demanded. Even today, considering his popularity with the bright young people and their dancing mothers, he should be an outstanding attraction. Should he be lucky enough to find another amorous ballad or two on the order, say of "Deep Night," he is likely to re-establish the prestige that made him a byword of the parlors, for no one surpasses him in the knack of putting over such songs.

The stage, it is our belief, will draw more and more upon the stars of radio for its appeal to the public. It would be poor business if it didn't. If the microphone can capitalize upon the great names of the stage as it has done and continues to do it would be foolish for the stage to permit its aged and plush-bottom pride to push it lower into the economic doldrums.

The vaudeville magnificoes were alert early to the drawing power of radio personalities. They led various artists to their foremost shrine, the Palace; made them do their stuff. The result was longer lines at the turnstiles, the clink of more silver on the box office windows. Waning popularity was restored. The legitimate theater, on the other hand, remained aloof, refused to negotiate or, if rarely it did negotiate, refused to meet the price demanded.

There is something of the same mystery and romance associated with radio stars as there is with the stars of the screen. People want to know what the new idols of the amusement kingdom look like, and to see them in the flesh, want occasionally, as is their custom, to knock them off their pedestals. The showman of the theater were slow in recognizing this understandable phase of human nature. But they are waking up, and in waking up they are likely to shout prosperity much sooner than they expected.

The radio companies themselves, you may be sure, are not losing time. They have found large and eager audiences for the public appearances of their stars wherever these appearances have been booked. So large and eager, in fact, that they are planning to send the more conspicuous stars upon nationwide tours. Thus they are encroaching upon the very domains that might have been reserved for the theater folk.

Yet, a public appearance of a radio artist in some hall or auditorium cannot be as satisfying from the standpoint of entertainment as his participation in a regular, bona fide stage production. It is this last aspect that offers such an enormous opportunity to the show world.

Before another year it is possible that we shall see an imposing number of radio stars scattered among the rosters of leading stage productions.

QUESTION ABOUT MATE CLOUDS DOPE

WHETHER MATE'S VICTORY in the Preakness last Saturday was due to superior class or racing luck is one of the questions clouding the dope on the probable outcome of the Kentucky Derby this afternoon at Churchill Downs. If it could be said positively that Mate won because of being a better horse than Equipoise, Twenty Grand or any of the other Preakness starters, the possibility that Jockey George Ellis might boot him home to another victory in the Derby today over the same field with some additions would appear to be reasonably strong.

George Ellis

But on the other hand, if Mate captured the Preakness, as has been asserted, because interference held back both Equipoise and Twenty Grand, the chances would appear to be against his enjoying the same racing luck in two successive big stakes, and one of the other starting horses, probably Equipoise or Twenty Grand, might be expected to come home in front in this afternoon's blue ribbon. With no Gallant Fox standing out it is a much harder race to pick than it was last year.

IF MATE WINS again today he will be only the third horse in history to win both the Preakness and the Derby. In 56 years only two horses have ever been able to reach the double goal. The first was Sir Barton in 1919, and the other was Gallant Fox last year.

The contract facing the Bostwick horse is one performed so rarely that it is generally figured as being beyond the powers of the average stake runner. It will take a real champion to beat Equipoise and Twenty Grand twice in succession, to say nothing of the others entered, so the chances for victory must be considered as favoring some horse other than Mate.

BESIDES, UNLESS A HORSE is of the super type, so much better than all others of his day that he can outrun them at any time and under any conditions, a week is apt to make a difference in form. Today's race is a sixteenth of a mile longer than the Preakness, a week later and on a different track.

There is no assurance, therefore, that Mate will be able to shine as he did last Saturday at Pimlico. It looks as if the big stake will go to some other starter. In top form, Equipoise would appear to have a slight edge in racing class. But if he is still suffering from the effects of his recent ailment, Twenty Grand appears to stand out as the strongest possibility. A great horse, combining heart, speed and stamina.

IF AN OUTSIDER upsets the dope, it is just as likely to be the starter carrying this city's name as any other. Theodore E. Mueller's Pittsburgher wasn't given much of a tumble until he proved himself a rare mudder last Tuesday, but he's a good horse and looks able to stand the additional weight and distance in a manner that will do him credit. Surely he has the blood to be conceded a look-in. He is a son of In Memoriam, dam Wistaria. In Memoriam was one of the greatest of eight years ago, a horse that gave the mighty Zev such a close fight in a special match race at Churchill Downs on November 17, 1923, that the decision of the judges in favor of Zev was questioned. The Mueller colt comes of the famous McGee strain, being a nephew of Exterminator, Derby winner in 1918 and one of the best of his time. So if blood tells, Pittsburgher will have to be counted as having a chance.

Clarence Mitchell

PITCHERS WITH LONG winning streaks to protect would better keep out of the way of the aroused Pirates these days. In Brooklyn on Monday the Bucs turned on Dazzy Vance and beat him for the first time since 1927, after he had trimmed them nine times in succession, and yesterday they interrupted a long run of success which Clarence Mitchell had placed to his credit.

Not only did the Rovers hand Mitchell his first defeat of the present season after he had won four straight games in which he allowed only 13 runs, but they also cracked a winning streak which extended far back into last season. Until yesterday, Clarence had won 14 consecutive games—his last 10 in 1930 and his first four this year. Pretty fair going for a pitcher past 40.

IT WAS THE first defeat suffered by Mitchell since May 31, last year, when he lost a 3-to-2 decision to Bob Smith, then with the Braves. In the meantime the left-hand spitballer pitched the Giants to one or more victories over every other club in the league.

The Pirates prior to yesterday had not won a game from Mitchell since July 2, 1929, when he was a member of the Cardinal staff. They forced him to retire from five out of six games meanwhile, but on all five occasions the responsibility for the outcome of the contest passed to the succeeding hurler.

THE ENSMEN SURELY have acquitted themselves most

BOSTON, May 16.—Their slate clean after three intense battles with the Robins and the Giants, the Pirates were in a merry mood this morning as they prepared to tie into Bill McKechnie's Braves.

On top of their spectacular triumph over the Giants yesterday, the Buccos rushed to a Boston-bound train which landed them here in time for the Pittsburghers to get the benefit of a night's sleep in still beds.

Manager Ens, of the Buccos, this morning was a bit undecided as to his slab selection for the first battle with the Braves slated for this afternoon. Ens said he would use Remy Kremer or Ervin Brame. Kremer will get the call if he feels well enough.

Skipper Bill may counter with Tom Zachary, the same veteran of the southpaw slants who gave the Pirates so much trouble last season.

WIN IN TENTH

The Buccos' first clash with the Polo Grounders brought out a furious slab duel between Larry French and Clarence Mitchell that waged through 10 rounds before the aggressive young Pirate was given the nod. The score was 3 to 2.

The setback given Mitchell by the Pirates marked the close of a winning streak which crested at 14 victories. The spitball southpaw wound up the last campaign with 10 consecutive triumphs, and he had four this year before he tangled with the Buccos.

French rose to brilliant heights in the ninth round when he threw back the Giants just when their

TOMORROW—THE WORST MAN WHO EVER LIVED.

Caruso Captures Toboggan Handicap

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—For 20 minutes W. R. Coe's Caruso held up the start of the Toboggan Handicap at the opening of Belmont Park yesterday, but when it came to the running of the historic six-furlong sprint, the bearer of the green and white polka-dot silks never faltered, sweeping down the muddy Widener straightaway in 1:14 4/5 to defeat 10 of the turf's fastest.

Earl Sande Picks Mate to Win Derby Today

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—(INS.)—"I think Mate will win the derby."

That was the prediction of Earl Sande, noted jockey, who rode Gallant Fox to victory in the 1930 classic.

Tech Plebe Track, Tennis Teams Win

Carnegie Tech's Plebe track and tennis teams both were returned victors yesterday. The track squad defeated Shady Side Academy, 63 to 59. Froshman, of Carnegie, was the high individual scorer with 10 points.

Geneva Net Team Defeats Waynesburg

WAYNESBURG, Pa., May 16.—Geneva College netmen defeated Waynesburg, 6 to 1, in a return match here yesterday.

TECH MATCH OFF

PHILADELPHIA, May 16.—Wet and soggy courts caused the cancellation of the scheduled tennis match here yesterday between Temple University and Carnegie Tech, of Pittsburgh. The Tartans also were rained out at Lewisburg, where they were to have met Bucknell Thursday.

TWENTY GRAND RULES STRONG FAVORITE

LOUISVILLE, Ky., May 16.—(AP.)—Fair weather, a fast track and a horse race that may turn out to be a record-breaker furnished the salient prospects today for the fifty-seventh running of the Kentucky Derby over the historic route at Churchill Downs, famous for its thoroughbred deuls since Aristides, the "little red horse," won the first Blue Grass classic from Volcano in 1875.

Not more than 13 of the 15 entries were slated to parade to the post shortly after 5 p. m. (central standard time) and wage the battle of speed, courage and stamina over a mile and a quarter for American 3-year-old supremacy, the victor's price of approximately $50,000 and the roaring acclaim of the crowd.

The smallest field and the fastest track in five years, due to a spring heat wave, combined to assure a gala spectacle. The exceptionally strong field is dominated by the twin eastern favorites—Mrs. Payne Whitney's Twenty Grand and Albert C. Bostwick's Mate.

RECORD MAY GO

The Derby record of 2:03 2/5 for the mile and a quarter, set by Old Rosebud in 1914, as well as perhaps the world's track record of 2:00, made by the 6-year-old Whiskbroom II at Belmont Park, New York, in 1913, may be subjected to severe pressure.

Twenty Grand showed enough liking for the Downs to set a new record for a mile as a 2-year-old, beating Equipoise. Barring a bad break in racing luck, either Twenty Grand or Mate seemed capable of hanging up a new mark under the stimulus of a real battle right up to the finish. Should either of these two aces and favorites show any signs of cracking

W. P. I. A. L. STARS CLASH IN TITLE MEET

Tigers Halt Yankee Victory Streak; Mackmen, Senators Keep Going

ELLWOOD CITY FAVORED TO KEEP CUP

By JESS CARVER

Minus competitors from city high schools for the first time, the track and field stars of the W. P. I. A. L. are scheduled to put in a full day of activity in the Pitt Stadium today. The occasion is the league's annual championship carnival.

With record cracking expected to be at low ebb, due to the lack of outstanding individual performers and absence of such city school stars as Fleming, of Westinghouse; Gillander, of Perry; Binstock, of Peabody; Hardesty, of Langley, and one or two others, interest in the carnival will center on the promised duel for the team honors between New Castle and City Ellwood rules a slight favorite, though the Beaver County champions, defending champions, will be handicapped through the loss of Mike Dunn and Paul MacMurdo, ineligible for further W. P. I. A. L. competition because of their age.

TWO WINNERS BACK

A brace of winners from 1930 will be on hand to defend their laurels. They are: Johnny Murphy, Butler, javelin star, and Johnny Grimm, New Brighton, the broad jump champ.

The first, second and third place men today will qualify for the team that will represent the W. P. I. A. L. in the annual P. I. A. A. championship meet in Altoona next Saturday. The city schools, now comprising a separate P. I. A. A. district, qualified men in two intersectional meets staged Thursday.

If any records are toppled today, they are expected to fall in the shot, discus or javelin, where Frank Muscavich, of Aliquippa; Mike Niksich, of Burgettstown Union; Andy Lasky, of New Castle; Murphy, of Butler, and Gene Kingsley, of Clairton, head the list of entrants.

The trials in the field events were scheduled to get under way at 10 o'clock this morning, with finals in all events slated for the afternoon. The Pitt freshmen and Kiski squads clash in a dual engagement in connection with the high school classic during the afternoon.

Pete Bowen, former intercollegiate and national A. A. U. quarter-mile champion, who acted as starter at the Pitt interscholastics last week, will pop the gun today.

The regular spring meeting of the W. P. I. A. L. was held this morning at the Fort Pitt Hotel. Routine matters will be taken up, along with several cases of questioned eligibilty.

TECH TRACKERS MEET GENEVA

Carnegie Tech's varsity track and field squad engages in what promises to be the toughest dual meet of the season in the Tartan Bowl this afternoon, meeting Geneva College's star aggregation. The undefeated Tartans face the prospect of having their fine record for the season spoiled.

Geneva boasts a strong team, being especially formidable in the running events. Carnegie figures to hold the Genevians even in the field, but must grant the Beaver Falls collegiate an edge in the dashes, distance runs and in one or two jumping events.

Westminster and Bethany have a dual engagement slated for Bethany.

DIVODI VICTOR

SAN FRANCISCO, May 16.—(AP.)—Andy DiVodi, New York welterweight stopped Tommy Herman, of Chicago, in the seventh round of their scheduled 10-round bout here last night. Herman took a heavy beating and also suffered a severe cut on his mouth, which caused the bout to be halted. DiVodi weighed 148; Herman 149.

Says Nick Altrock

(Baseball's Comedian)

ST. LOUIS, May 16.—We are in town to tackle the St. Louis Blues, or the Browns, as they are called when they are going good. Right now they are low enough to be dredging the Mississippi River. But they will probably improve because they can't be much worse. The Cardinals sure need a pennant winner this season as an antidote for the Browns. I would like to sneak over to Louisville tomorrow for the big horse race. There is a lot of excitement about it, but personally I can't figure why anyone should want to win a Derby just when it's time to put on a straw hat.

BERG TO DRAW HUGE CROWD

Indications today were that the opening show of the outdoor season in the Meyers Bowl, North Braddock, Monday night, will be close to a sellout, and may even bulge the walls of the arena that will usher in its third season. Reservations for tickets to see Jack (Kid) Berg, erstwhile world junior-welterweight champion, in action for the first time in these parts has far exceeded expectations, although there still are many choice sections left.

The card for the show was completed last night with the signing of Joey Ross, of Cleveland, and formerly of New York, to box Johnny Peters, English bantamweight and stablemate of Berg, in the eight-round semi-final. Ross is a veteran who in his two most recent starts in Cleveland has scored wins over Mickey Cohen and Ollie Bartlett.

Berg and his opponent, Ray Kiser, Tulsa (Okla.) lightweight, both are due to arrive in town tomorrow morning. Berg will work out in the Irene Kaufmann Settlement gym in the afternoon.

Between Rounds

Billy McCarney and Sol Gold will second Berg against Kiser. McCarney, who also is identified with the handling of Max Schmeling, reports that the heavyweight champion will be unable to attend the battle here as had been hoped, between his preparations for his title fight with Young Stribling, at Cleveland, July 3.

An amateur boxing card has been arranged by the Ameritalia Club for the 28th Signal Corps armory in the East End next Friday night.

Frank Klaus, former middleweight champion, attributes the poor showing of Jimmy Belmont, his fighter against Tiger Joe Randall, at McKeesport the other night to the fact that Jimmy tried to take off five pounds during the last two days before the bout and entered the ring in a weakened condition. He is angling for a return go.

Willie Davies and Jimmy Thomas both are down to hard work for their 10-round battle which will headline the opening show at Hickey Park, Millvale, next Thursday night, with the supremacy of the bantamweight class in this section at stake.

PITT BLANKS DUKES AGAIN

By PAUL G. SULLIVAN

Dr. Billy McElroy's powerful Pitt racquet crew kept clean its 1931 slate and tallied a repeat victory over Capt. Andy Smeaton and his Duquesne array in nicely played, but quite one-sided, combat on the Stadium rectangles yesterday afternoon. The ultimate decision read 9-0 for the Blue and Gold, the verdict marking the second coat of kalsomine to which the Bluffites have been helped by their home-town rivals within the past eight days.

Capt. Eddie Jacobs, southpaw ace of the Golden Cats, maintained his winning ways with another impressive success at the expense of the rangy Smeaton. The count was 6-2, 6-2, a slightly better showing for the Red and Blue leader than was his portion in his prior tussle with the Baltimore product.

Pitt and Duquesne will loaf this afternoon, the Panther-Allegheny contest having been cancelled by the Up-staters, who have dropped the net pastime for the season because of dearth of courts.

Singles.

Jacobs, Pitt, defeated Smeaton, Duquesne, 6-2, 6-2; Cohen, Pitt, defeated Casey, Duquesne, 6-2, 6-1; Goodman, Pitt, defeated Campbell, Duquesne, 6-1, 6-0; Alcorn, Pitt, defeated Bullion, Duquesne, 6-2, 6-4; Adler, Pitt, defeated Boland, Duquesne, 6-2, 6-3; Vollmer, Pitt, defeated O'Neill, Duquesne, 6-1, 6-0.

Doubles.

Jacobs and Goodman, Pitt, defeated Smeaton and Boland, Duquesne, 6-1, 6-3; Cohen and Bloom, Pitt, defeated Casey and Campbell, Duquesne, 6-0, 6-1; Adler and Vollmer, Pitt, defeated Bullion and O'Neill, Duquesne, 6-0, 6-2.

On the Bluff courts, the Panther freshmen netters also turned in a shutout victory, lacing the Duke frosh, 7 to 0. The summary:

SINGLES

DOUBLES

JOHNNIES GET M.-A. LEAD

Nosing out Cumberland in a 10-inning tussle yesterday, the Johnstown Johnnies gained undisputed possession of first place in the Middle Atlantic League yesterday, Johnstown defeated Cumberland, 5 to 4.

Victories for Hagerstown, Beckley and Fairmont and the defeat of Charleston brought about a four-way tie for second place. Hagerstown walloped Charleston, 12 to 6, the Maryland team getting 18 hits. Fairmont nosed out Charleston, 3 to 1. Cousins limiting the Senators to five hits. Beckley bunched hits to upset Huntington, 8 to 2, five errors contributing to the downfall of Huntington.

Clarksburg added further to the woes of Jeannette's lowly Jays, who have lost all seven of their league games. Yesterday's score was 4 to 1. Scottdale hammered out a 13-4 win over Wheeling, nine errors being committed during the game.

CHURCHILL DOWNS MUTUELS

TWENTY GRAND DERBY FAVORITE

under the strain of their own duel, there was the chance of a comeback by Equipoise or an upset by a western hopeful such as Pittsburgher, Boys Howdy or Sweep All to put the record in jeopardy.

Always on the lookout for an outsider to play, the eastern talent, while backing Twenty Grand and the Greentree Stable entry at 2 to 1, Mate at 5 to 2, regarded Walter J. Salmon's Ladder, which finished third in the Preakness, as a good long shot. Western hopes, although placed mainly on the speedy Kentucky colt, Pittsburgher, included a dark horse in Insco, owned by Griffin Watkins, of Chicago.

VICE PRESIDENT GUEST

Vice President Charles Curtis, the governors of a half-dozen states, leaders of wealth and fashion from all parts of the country joined the gathering of the turf clans for one of the most colorful of all American sporting events.

For every individual on hand to place a small wager or catch a fleeting glimpse of the thoroughbreds flashing around the oval, hundreds elsewhere in the United States, as well as in many foreign lands, expected to hear the race described by radio. Two national networks arranged to broadcast the details.

Fight Results

At Boston—Lou Brouillard won by a technical knockout over Al Melio, 8 rounds; Andy Mitchell defeated Mike Bonaglia, 8 rounds.

At Erie—Frankie Bojorski defeated Jackie Dugan, 10 rounds; Matty Matheson defeated Luis Carpentero, 6 rounds; Olaf Pearson and Matty Guidach drew, 6 rounds; Steve Simon knocked out Smith Harding, 2 rounds.

At Grand Rapids—Wesley Ramey defeated Sammy Dorriman, 10 rounds; Pee Wee Jarrell won by a technical knockout over Murey Bowman, one round; Joe Palazolla defeated Frankie Sebral, 6 rounds.

At San Francisco—Andy DiVodi won by technical knockout over Tommy Herman, 7 rounds.

ROSENBLOOM WINS

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., May 16.—(AP.)—Maxie Rosenbloom, of New York, light-heavyweight champion, took an easy decision from Don Petrin, of Newark, N. J., in a 10-round fight here last night. Each weighed 178. The title was not at stake.

WEST VA. STARS SET RECORDS

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 16.—(AP.)—Three new state records were established in the trials of the fourteenth annual West Virginia high school track and field meet yesterday. The finals will be run off today.

Jimmy Warfuel, Huntington star, who qualified for the semi-finals in the 100, 220 and 440-yard events and was a member of the medley relay team, set an unofficial mark of 22 seconds in one heat of the 220-yard dash.

Hickey, Huntington, leaped 22 feet 3½ inches, shattering the old mark of 22 feet set by Rutter, Parkersburg, in 1928.

The third record-smashing performance also went to Huntington in the 480-yard shuttle relay, where the timbers were topped in 1:00.6.

Clyde to Head W. Va. Association

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., May 16.—(AP.)—A. H. Clyde, of Morgantown, tonight was elected new state president of the West Virginia High School Football Association at a meeting of approximately 50 high school coaches of the state.

CAMPOLO LOSES TO LOUGHRAN

NEW YORK, May 16.—(AP.)—Back into the front rank of the heavyweight brigade today strode Philadelphia's giant killer, Tommy Loughran, former king of the light-heavyweights.

He spotted Victorio Campolo nearly 50 pounds in weight and seven inches in height and then did everything but knock out the South American giant in their 10-round bout in Madison Square Garden last night. Tommy received the unanimous verdict of the referee and two judges and an ovation from the crowd of 10,000.

Long's Sport Comment

creditably on the eastern trip so far with three straight wins in Brooklyn and New York. If the other pitchers only follow the splendid pace set by Larry French and Heinie Meine—French has won two of the three victories and allowed only three runs in 19 innings—a fine record for the tour as a whole will be assured. The Bucs continue to present a queer form of study in that they apparently play better ball on the road than at home. At Forbes Field they have won only three games out of eight, while abroad they have won nine out of 16, and 11 of those 16 games were played with four accepted pennant contenders.

THE REDS' ACHIEVEMENT of winning two games in one day and hanging up their third consecutive victory, though it demonstrated again that anything can happen in baseball, wasn't the only notable happening in the majors yesterday.

The A's went on to their seventh straight win; the Senators won their fifth in succession and beat Walter Stewart, who had defeated them six times in a row and nine times out of 10 in the last two seasons; the Yankees were stopped at five consecutive victories, and the White Sox and Indians stretched their losing streaks to seven games each. Also, when Eddie Rommel held the Indians runless he left Washington as the only club in the American League that has not yet been shut out. The Pirates hold the same distinction in the National League.

HERB PENNOCK'S first defeat of the year in the Detroit game yesterday rounded out an unusual record for the Yankee pitching staff. The nine games dropped by the New York club up to date have been lost by nine different pitchers.

Ruffing, Sherid, Pennock, Johnson, Wells, Gomez, Pipgras, Weaver and Weinert are charged with one defeat each. It may have happened before that a big league club lost nine games without any member of its slab staff being beaten twice, but it doesn't come readily to mind.

Tommy Loughran

TOMMY LOUGHRAN did not beat a world-beater in winning the decision over Victorio Campolo in their 10-round bout in New York last night, but in trouncing an opponent who had an advantage of 40 pounds in weight and six inches in height and reach, he must be said at least to have removed the last doubt that he is qualified to tangle with the big fellows nearer the throne. It is hard to see how he can be kept out of the heavyweight championship picture or denied a match with the winner of the Sharkey-Carnera affair of June 10. That Tommy can turn the tables on Sharkey if the latter is close to his best is still to be doubted, but after fighting his way past Baer, Levinsky, Schaaf, Griffiths and Campolo, he must be said to have earned a chance to try.

PHILLIES BEAT REDS TWICE; CUBS LOSE

Associated Press.

All but one of the numerous winning and losing streaks in the American League continued unchanged yesterday. The New York Yankees were halted after five victories when George Uhle, making his first start of the year, shut them out with five hits to give Detroit a 2-to-0 victory.

The league-leading Athletics won their seventh in a row, beating Cleveland, 4 to 0, behind Ed Rommel's fine pitching. Clint Brown kept pace with Rommel for six innings but the A's came through to score all their runs in the last three.

The Chicago White Sox scored eight runs against Boston but made an equal number of errors and also lost their seventh in succession. The Red Sox finished ahead by a 12-8 count.

STEWART BEATEN

Walter Stewart, of the St. Louis Browns, who stopped Washington five straight times last season, found this year's Senators a different proposition. The Browns gave him a good lead but he lost it suddenly in the eighth when Washington scored five runs to win 8 to 5.

Larry French, Pittsburgh left-hander, has a little repetition of history to talk about.

Two years ago, French faced the New York Giants in his debut as a major league pitcher. After a great struggle the Pirates won in the tenth, 3 to 2, when Pie Traynor singled. Yesterday Larry made his first New York appearance of the 1931 season and battled Clarence Mitchell, of the Giants, to a 2-2 standstill in the regular nine innings. Then in the tenth Grantham's grounder hit first base and bounded away for a double, and Traynor rapped a single to center, bringing in a run that spelled a 3-2 victory.

PHILS DROP PAIR

The Phillies also did a little duplicating, but for them it meant only a double loss to the Cincinnati Reds in a doubleheader. The Phils scored five runs in each clash, but the final scores were 10 to 5 and 7 to 5 in favor of Cincinnati.

In Brooklyn, Pea Ridge Day started pitching in the first inning after the Chicago Cubs had knocked Babe Phelps from the mound, and pitched nine good innings. The Robins scored a 6-4 triumph.

The St. Louis-Boston series became a total loss when the third straight game was postponed.

Sports Vignettes

Up ought to be a good bet in the Kentucky Derby today if for no other reason than the fact that no one ever has raised a question about this race being on the up and up . . . Jockey H. McHugh, by the way, will be up on Up . . . Sweep All should be a good hunch for the sweepstakes players, and yet Mate may turn in the mate to its Preakness victory of last Saturday . . . But enough of that sort of idle chatter . . . How'd you like to feel the way Vincent Richards must feel after taking three straight shellackings from the still ol' marster, Bill Tilden, in their series for the world professional title? . . . Just another case of papa spank.

Hand all of the laurels and gravy to the press agent who, in one story about the auto race at Akron tomorrow, worked in both the time-honored "all roads lead to—" and "everything is in readiness for—" . . . Louis (Kid) Kaplan, former featherweight champion, is helping Battling Battalino, the present titleholder, to train for the latter's defense of the crown against Fidel La Barba in Madison Square Garden, New York, next Friday night . . . Did anyone tell you that the small Derby field that will go to the post today is all that is left of 130 nominations made for the event last February, and that the winter books have cleaned up a lot of lucre on those that have fallen by the wayside?

The latest batting averages for the National League reveal the fact that Cap'n Pie Traynor, of the Pirates, is leading the circuit in hits with 31 up to last Wednesday and Lloyd Waner, his teammate, leads in runs scored with 23 . . . Al Simmons, of the Athletics, is leading both big leagues in batting with a mark of .411, while Rogers Hornsby, Cubs' manager, is setting the National League pace with only .362 . . . Marietta College, of Marietta, O., splashes out in rowing when it makes its bow in the East today against the Harvard, Pennsylvania and Navy junior-varsity crews at Philadelphia.

Max Schmeling's recent exhibition appearance in Youngstown drew only $730, and Promoter Al Zill dropped a chunk of dough on the show. . . . Battling Bozo, the Alabama light-heavyweight, who has been in there with most of the good ones, has signed a five-year contract to go under the management of Pa Stribling. . . . His most recent pilot was Ray Alvis, who manages more fighters than he can card-index in his office. . . . Alvis, by the way, will be here to handle his Ray Kiser against Jack (Kid) Berg at the Meyers Bowl next Monday night and writes that Kiser will surprise the talent with his showing.—HARRY KECK.

supporters awaited a run that would carry the thrill of victory. Hughey Critz and Ethan Allen, the first two batters in the ninth, reached base and Bill Terry was at the plate. With the slugging section of the New York order ready to hit the outlook was dark. Bill fouled off two pitches and then missed a curve to the delight of the Pirates.

Lindstrom drove a wicked roller back at Larry who knocked down the ball. He followed through by making a dizzy assist at first as the runners advanced. Ott drew a pass that filled the bases and thus the matter was put up to Travis Jackson. Jackson hit a weak roller to Grantham and the game went into the extra round.

OLIVER GOLFERS FACE BELLEVUE

Oliver High School's golf team makes its first start in the Interscholastic Golf Conference this afternoon, taking on Bellevue in a Section II match over the Highland Country Club links. A victory for Oliver will give the team a mathematical tie for the lead with McKeesport.

Yesterday, Kiski, McKeesport and Shady Side scored triumphs. Kiski continued its drive for the Section I title by annexing its fourth victory in as many starts, defeating Allderdice, 21 to 1. Yalch tallied Allderdice's lone point. Mercer, Kiski No. 1 player, turned in a 79 for the best medal score.

At Thornburg, Shady Side defeated Langley, 13 to 11, with Sam Musico, Langley leader, having the best medal score, a fine 77.

McKeesport defeated Carrick, 15 to 10, at Youghiogheny. Gamble, of McKeesport, had a low medal score of 90.

HOLCOMB CHOSEN

COLUMBUS, O., May 16.—Stuart Holcomb, Ohio State fullback, has been chosen captain of the 1931 eleven. He is the first elected captain since 1927.

CARRICK WINS NO-HIT FRAY

CITY LEAGUE
YESTERDAY'S RESULTS

Section I

Schenley	11—Peabody	2
Westinghouse	1—Connelley	0

Section II

Carrick	13—Vocational	0
South Hills	3—Oliver	1

Another no-hit, no-run game has been written into the annals of the City League baseball race and a second such triumph credited to Carrick High School. Pitcher Joe Kersting matched the performance of his teammate, Kurtz, by turning Vocational back without a hit or a run in a Section II tussel yesterday, while Carrick slugged out a 19-0 win. Kurtz, two weeks ago, pitched a no-hit game against Allegheny.

The other no-hit games were hurled in Section I, both by Martin, of Peabody.

SCHENLEY WINS

In Section I yesterday, Schenley and Westinghouse kept pace in the race for the title. Schenley walloped Peabody, 11-2, slamming both of the East Enders' ace hurlers, Martin and Lefty Masters; Westinghouse punched out a 11-0 win over Connelley.

Oliver High's course to the Section II title was made somewhat rougher as South Hills nosed out a 3-to-1 triumph. Both teams got six hits, but South Hills bunched their drives in the fifth and sixth innings to score three runs.

Allegheny barely nosed out Langley, 4 to 3, in another close game. Vaughn, hurling for Allegheny, gave up only two hits, both singles, but six Allegheny errors enabled Langley to get three runs.

LATIMER LOSES

In the Junior League, Gladstone carried too many guns for Latimer, winning by a score of 11 to 6. A seven-run attack in the third inning put the game on ice.

McKees Rocks and Crafton scored triumphs in Section I games in the W. P. I. A. L. McKees Rocks defeated Dormont, 8 to 1, while Crafton crushed Mt. Lebanon under a 25-6 score. Crafton scored 10 runs in the third inning. The winners accounted for 23 safe hits.

In a non-league game, Edgeworth lost to Turtle Creek, 9 to 2.

FAVORITES COP SANDLOT TILTS

Favorites turned in triumphs in sandlot encounters, both league and independent, last evening.

In the City League, Homewood finally managed to open its home season, the Bollmen defeating the J. L. Thomas nine, 10 to 2. The North Side Buicks scored a 6-to-2 win over the North Side Civics in a neighborhood scrap that was worth watching.

In the West Penn circuit, Reliance Life blanked the Linwood club, 3 to 0. The Burkes, in the Central League, downed the Williams club, 6 to 0.

In the Greater Pittsburgh League, Edgewood walloped Immaculate Heart, 17-1; Murs downed Whitaker, 17-0; Verona defeated Jenkins, 8-3; Fintex upset the Iroquois nine, 6-3, and North Bessemer trimmed the Wally Smiths, 7-5.

Cronewith Dairy won over the Becks, 11-3, in a North-South League fray. Ingram scored a 5-to-3 triumph over the Crafton Presbyterians in the Crafton-Ingram Church League. The Noels nosed out the St. Anthony outfit in a North Side Twilight League tussle, 6 to 5.

Homestead Grays defeated Dormont, 7-1; Twenty-Fourth Ward Traders downed Protectory, 9-3; Washington Orioles won over the Triangles, 10-0; Bellevue A. C. defeated Avalon Rangers, 5-1, and Malins trimmed the Brodericks, 11-3, in nonleague tussles.

GRIFFINS JOIN WEST PENN

By TOM BIRKS

The Marty Griffin Club, sponsored by the popular Hill District alderman, is the latest entry into the West Penn League. It is composed of some of the best semi-pro players in the district. Under the leadership of Jerry Americus and Davy Roberts, it would appear that the Griffins are starting the season with plenty of managerial talent.

Topping the local sandlot card today, the Homestead Grays and the Cuban "Bearded Beauties" will stage a doubleheader at Forbes Field this afternoon, first game at 2 o'clock.

Manager Posey, of the Grays, will probably send Smoky Joe Williams to the mound in one of the games with Bill Foster, newest member of the Grays' pitching staff, scheduled to hurl the other contest.

The Cuban House of David nine will also meet the Grays in a night game at Charleroi on Monday.

TURTLE CREEK WINS TITLE

Tallying 78 points, Turtle Creek Union High School captured the Allegheny County senior track and field championship yesterday in the annual meet at Schenley Oval. In the junior division, West View won the title with only a point and a half separating it from the second place team, Avalon.

Etna trailed Turtle Creek with 48 1-3 points, with other schools finishing in the following order: Elizabeth, 37; Verona, 22 1-3; Bridgeville, 20; Mr. Lebanon, 16; South Fayette, 14; Avalon, 12; Millvale, 6; Pitcairn, 3 1-3; Shaler, 2; Glassport, 1; Har-Brack, 1.

In third place in the junior scoring came East Deer, with 26½ points. Other schools scored as follows: Brentwood, 26; South Fayette, 24½; North Fayette, 22; Neville, 17; East McKeesport, 13½; Edgewood, 10; Pitcairn, 7; Mt. Lebanon, 6; Verona, 6; Bridgeville, 5; Springdale, 3; Calhoun, 1; Leetsdale, 1.

LOCAL RUNNERS IN MARATHON

BALTIMORE, Md., May 16.—(AP.)—More than 125 runners from a dozen states and Canada are entered in the national A. A. U. championship marathon from Laurel to Baltimore today, among them the defending champion, Karl Koski.

A girl, for the first time on record here, also plans to run. Miss Gazella Weinreich, in her late teens, will carry the Cross Country Club honors.

Three Western Pennsylvania runners are entered, including Ed Pfaff, of St. Michaels, Pa., and Frank Jerry and Charles W. Kirsch, of Pittsburgh.

Ramon Ventures to Kiss Frightened But Not Displeased Jenny

By Fannie Hurst

(This famous story has been made into a talking picture by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with Marion Davies in the leading role.)

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

John G. Rarick has made millions as a chain store operator. His wife, Jenny, shortly after their marriage, lent him $2,500, all she had, when he was near failure, and out of this money he built riches. But Jenny resents his far-from-imposing appearance and no longer feels real love for him. The thought is always in her mind that without her $2,500 Rarick would have achieved nothing. Her goading results in Rarick's agreeing to go East and to buy a magnificent home, but, secretly, he finds himself hating her. This is accentuated by his own temperamental inability to get close to Jennifer and Avery, his children. Rarick installs an odd genius, Dr. Felix Gerkes, in his home. Jenny objects and a bitter scene follows in which Rarick delivers the ultimatum that Gerkes remains. He sends for Jennifer and compels her to cancel a dinner engagement to dine with Gerkes. Jennifer finds him interesting. Jenny begins to be intrigued with Ramon, a youthful gigolo.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER IX.

No, it had been many a day since close, fervent things had been said to Jenny.

"Why do you try to deceive me, as you do the others, with your icy manner?" he said to her, with the slight accent that lifted his lips in a flare off his square white teeth.

"My dear boy," she said, starting to be brittle and annihilating in the cocksure way she had, "you are now in the act of telling me how misunderstood I am."

To her surprise, he was neither annihilated nor subdued. He caught both her slim cool wings of hands, half-buried under wrist-ruffs, in the grip of his own.

"You must not talk like that to me. You do not mean what you say. You are the most interesting woman that I know. One cannot bear to be in the company of the insipid young girls, once he has known you. Do not pretend, Mrs. Rarick, that you need to be told that you are fascinating. Sometimes I think you are as Dante would have been if he had been beautiful and a woman. Sometimes I think you are most like Bernhardt. Then I think you are like the best of both of them."

"Why, you foolish boy!" she said the words, from lack of conviction, slow and stiff on her lips. American men simply did not look at one like that. They had not the eyes.

"I want to see more of you, Mrs. Rarick. I want to know you. Am I impertinent——"

Jenny Is Amused

"—or just one more admirer. After all, I cannot be what you call in America, such a 'total loss,' Mrs. Rarick, or I would not have the good sense to recognize so quickly a brilliant and worthwhile woman when I see one. It is easy to dance with your beautiful girls over here—but they are not so nimble with their brains as with their feet and tongues. Am I impertinent?"

He was. Yet how amusing of him! Here was no mere patent-leather-haired gigolo, with a gift for wearing evening clothes and making middle-aged women horrible. Impudent of him to have insinuated his fingers up under the fur cuff of her long, tight sleeve—in flames—she did not withdraw them—

There was a letter between Jenny's bodice and her flesh, as she maneuvered before the mirror. It was a line from Ramond, confirming what had been the hurried arrangement for this afternoon's cocktail.

"Lest you forget what is unforgettably important to me. This afternoon at five, where the orchids dare not bloom for fear of comparison.

"RAMON."

The "d" off the "Ramon" had somehow excited her more than the note itself. She was aware, as she sat up that morning in bed and put the square white envelope back on her breakfast tray, that her legs, which were stretched between the sheets were trembling and would have doubled under her had she attempted to stand.

Sorry for Herself

A wave of self-pity, not unmixed with anger, drenched Jenny as she sat and dipped strawberries-in-November into a small brown bowl of sour cream. What a starveling she must be, if just the ordinary homage and admiration from a boy such as Ramon could bring about all this turmoil within her.

Why, in the last few years she and Rarick had left off even pecking each other good-night.

It was well over 20 years since the days when he had placed kisses against her lips when he came home evenings, or stretched himself out after dinner on a couch, holding her hand while she sat beside him

German and U. S. Veterans Renew Peace Pledge

READING, Pa., May 16.—(AP.)—Eighty-nine former German soldiers, representing every branch of the Germany army, gathered with a similar number of American ex-service men last night in Greater Reading post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, and renewed pledges of peace. It was the second annual gathering of German and American soldiers at the post.

There were Germans present who flew Fokkers over the American lines, who laid mines in the seas to keep American transports from landing their cargoes of troops, served with the Hussars of the Hungarian cavalry, Bavarian infantrymen and German naval air service.

Earl Sande to Help Put Derby 'On Air'

Earl Sande, renowned jockey, will be in a new role today at the Kentucky Derby. Instead of being up on the pacesetter, the great Sande will be at the microphones with Graham McNamee and Clem McCarthy in describing the turf classic.

Sande will describe the horses and the riders as they prepare to go to the wire. McNamee will tell of the colorful background, and McCarthy will report the contest. The broadcast will be heard in this district over WCAE, beginning at 6:45 p. m., daylight saving time.

Sun Flag Brings $15,000 at Sale

LEXINGTON, Ky., May 16.—(AP.)—Sun Flag, 11-year-old stallion, by Imp Sun Briar-Private Flag, brought $15,000 of the total of $104,575 realized from the sale of 34 thoroughbred horses in the dispersal sale of the late Gifford A. Cochran's Shandon Stud yesterday. The 34 head averaged $3,075.

P. A. Nash, of Valley Lake Stable, Chicago, was the purchaser of Sun Flag. Thirty brood mares, several with foals, and three other stallions were sold.

BELL ADVANCES

RAMEY BEATS DORFMAN

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., May 16.—(AP.)—Wesley Ramey, of Grand Rapids, outpointed Sammy Dorfman, of New York, in a 10-round bout here last night. Ramey weighed 135 pounds; Dorfman, 136.

A MOTOR TOUR EVERYONE WILL ENJOY

THE TOUR mapped above takes you out the William Penn Highway, Route 22, to Armagh, where you turn right on Route 56. Follow 56 to Johnstown, where a choice of two routes is available. Either continue on 56 to Cessna, where you turn right on Route 220 to Bedford, coming back on the Lincoln Highway, Route 30. Or take Route 219 from Johnstown, striking the Lincoln Highway, Route 30, at Jennerstown. The longer trip consumes approximately 220 miles . . . the shorter about 150 miles.

Buy a Used Car that these interesting motor tours may be possible for you and your family. Now that prices are so low you can easily afford one. Study the Used Car Bargains offered on this page today and you will be convinced.

of Elmer L. Osborne and Anna Merle Douglass; thence along the dividing line between the said properties north 80 degrees 53 minutes 36 seconds east 95.9 feet more or less to the present westerly line of Woodruff street at a point 60.67 feet north of the northerly line of Woodville avenue; thence along the present westerly line of Woodruff street south 18 degrees 09 minutes 24 seconds east 60.67 feet more or less to the northerly line of Woodville avenue; thence south 14 degrees 01 minutes 24 seconds east 50.11 feet to the intersection of the southerly line of Woodville avenue and the present westerly line of Woodruff street; thence along the present westerly line of Woodruff street south 9 degrees 06 minutes 21 seconds east 169.97 feet to the place of beginning.

SECTION 2. The name of that portion of Woodruff street in the Twentieth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, as widened by the provisions of Section 1 of this Ordinance shall be and the same is hereby changed to Saw Mill Run boulevard.

SECTION 3. The Department of Public Works is hereby authorized and directed to cause said Woodruff street (renamed Saw Mill Run boulevard) in the Twentieth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from a point 420 feet north of Lewis street to a point 60.67 feet north of Woodville avenue to be widened in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 of this Ordinance.

SECTION 4. The costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby and the benefits to pay the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 5. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

NOTICE is hereby given that Ordinance, copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in the Council of the City of Pittsburgh on May 11, 1931, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly, authorizing said city, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys or parts thereof, within its limits, viz:

BILL NO. 3535.

AN ORDINANCE — Widening Wabash Street in the Twentieth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh at the angle southeast of Banksville Avenue, and providing that the costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, That Wabash street in the Twentieth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh at the angle southeast of Banksville avenue, be and the same is hereby widened to a variable width by taking for public use for highway purposes the following described property, to-wit:

Beginning on the northerly and easterly line of Wabash street at the angle in the same southeast of Banksville avenue; thence extending along the present easterly line of Wabash street north 36 degrees 08 minutes 49 seconds east 85.98 feet to a point, thence southeastwardly by the arc of a circle deflecting to the right with a radius of 199.99 feet, a central angle of 25 degrees 11 minutes 37 seconds and a chord bearing south 60 degrees 09 minutes 02 seconds east for an arc distance of 87.47 feet to the northerly line of Wabash street; thence along the present northerly line of Wabash street north 85 degrees 22 minutes 49 seconds west 46.62 feet to the place of beginning.

SECTION 2. The Department of Public Works is hereby authorized and directed to cause said Wabash street in the Twentieth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, at the angle southeast of Banksville avenue to be widened in conformity with the provisions of Section 1 of this Ordinance.

SECTION 3. The costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby and the benefits to pay the same shall be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby in accordance with the provisions of the Acts of Assembly of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania relating thereto and regulating the same.

SECTION 4. That any Ordinance or part of Ordinance, conflicting with the provisions of this Ordinance, be and the same is hereby repealed, so far as the same affects this Ordinance.

NOTICE is hereby given that Ordinance, copy of which is published herewith, was introduced in the Council of the City of Pittsburgh on May 11, 1931, pursuant to the provisions of the several Acts of Assembly, authorizing said city, without any petition of property owners, to open, widen, straighten, extend, vacate, grade, pave, curb, macadamize and otherwise improve streets and alleys or parts thereof, within its limits, viz:

BILL NO. 3536.

AN ORDINANCE — Opening Saw Mill Run Boulevard in the Twentieth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh from Lewis street to a point 726.65 feet east of Lewis street, and providing that the costs, damages and expenses occasioned thereby be assessed against and collected from properties benefited thereby.

SECTION 1. Be it ordained and enacted by the City of Pittsburgh, in Council assembled, and it is hereby ordained and enacted by the authority of the same, that Saw Mill Run boulevard in the Twentieth Ward of the City of Pittsburgh, from Lewis street to a point 726.65 feet east of Lewis street, be and the same is hereby opened to a general width of 80.0 feet by taking for public use for highway purposes the following described property, to-wit:

DAILY TRUE STORY

Delancy Dines

Gangster Murdered While Dancing at Cabaret

Marvin Delancy dropped in at the Cheklov after the theater.

It wasn't an extremely high class night club, as he well knew, but it differed from most in that the food was really good.

He rather fancied the Russian pink caviar as a relish and was attending strictly to it when someone spoke to him.

"Hello, Britt, aren't you out late?" Delancy asked as he recognized the man.

"Politics make strange meeting places, too, Marvin. I've just finished a little conference. Say, what's this about you becoming a gentleman sleuth?"

Younger and Delancy had been friends many years. Younger had taken up law and was headed for a political career, which explained why he was then connected with the district attorney's office. Like Delancy, he was a man of fairly sizeable fortune and this activity on his part was not neces-believe any rot like lancy murmured, and Who has been talking?"

ain high-up in the police department; he did it inadvertently and when I questioned him he swore me to secrecy. It seems that a certain lawyer was telling him what you did in the Gatley murder case—where the maniac escaped and shot him."

"Oh yes, well, it was nothing much. I forgot to warn the lawyer not to talk."

"Clever—amazing—never thought you'd go in for that sort of stuff. Look here, Marvin, I may be calling on you or sending for you when some big mystery case breaks over in the office."

Excellent Caviar

Delancy shook his head.

"Thanks—but you can't get me to go to the district attorney's office—too public, newspaper boys would question me—no end of embarrassment."

"Oh, well, the mountain will go to Mahomet, then, Marvin."

"What's up? Have you a mystery on hand now?"

He shook his head.

"Nothing unusual, Marvin. But, honestly, I may call on you some day, at that, to help out."

"This isn't exactly a Sunday School joint, you know," Younger remarked as he lighted a cigar and glanced around.

"I know."

"Didn't expect you patronized such place, Marvin."

Younger laughed as he asked the question.

"I'm here to eat, that's all, Britt. Gad, you'll be making a professional detective of me, just because I happened to help out a bit in a couple of cases."

"Not at all, old man—only I happen to recognize a dozen men here right now who could be sent up for a long stretch if we could get the goods on them."

"Criminals, eh?"

"So you use stool pigeons, too?"

Younger shook his head, but he appeared uneasy, then he hastened to change the subject a little.

"There's 'Spud' Dickson over there—wonder what the devil he's doing away down here? His territory is three miles north," Younger said.

Well Dressed Man

"Which one is Spud?"

"Over there, with the girl in red. He's a bad baby, used to be just a hopped-up gunman but he quit that and got to be head of a strong group of racketeers—he's got plenty of money now. I admire his nerve."

Marvin Delancy turned and studied "Spud" Dickson.

"I've heard he has put many a rival on the spot."

"No doubt, did the work himself. That's all over. He gives orders now when he wants a job done and some of his underlings turn the heat on."

"Spud" Dickson did not look like a thug or racketeer. He was fairly well dressed and occasionally danced with the girl in red.

"That reminds me, Britt—keep it under your hat. If you need a good quiet man from the detective bureau, ask for Peter Hogan; he's got his feet on the ground and his thinking cap on. I'd like to see him get a promotion."

The show ceased. The lights went on for dancing.

Then the lights flickered, turned various colors and quite often the so-called "moonlight effect" was used. This consisted of only one dim round light, looking just like the moon.

The music was atrocious—almost ear-splitting.

There was a commotion near where Delancy and Younger were sitting. A woman's scream, voices—and the lights went on.

Detective Hogan Arrives

"He's killed!" screamed the girl in red who had been dancing with him.

Younger went over and tried to make Dickson talk, but he was beyond talking and soon passed out.

Policemen came. An investigation was started.

No one had been permitted to leave. More officers came plain-clothesmen—among them was Detective Peter Hogan.

Two automatics were found on the floor, but neither had been discharged, the barrels were dry and spotless. Their owners had dumped them for protection against being held for violating the Sullivan law.

"Damned queer," Younger said.

"What do you make of it, Mr.—er—Marvin?" Detective Hogan asked, remembering that he and Delancy had agreed to omit formalities.

"I haven't looked into it—" "Jove, that's right, Marvin," Younger said. "Here you are, Johnny-on-the-spot. Go ahead now and do some fine and fancy detecting."

There was no question but that Dickson had been shot, and shot through the back.

"A silencer was used, I'm sure," Younger said, "or else we would have heard it."

"Not necessarily," he told Younger.

"But we sat together, 15 feet from where the shot was fired, Marvin. We heard nothing. Surely——"

Suspect Arrested

"We heard plenty," Delancy said, "and listen, not so loud. I'm not to appear in this—I don't want my friends and others to kid me about being Sherlock Junior or some such rot."

"Well, go ahead—show me!" Younger grinned.

Everyone had gone back to the tables to sit. The last man was being frisked. No weapons worthy the name were found, only the two guns that hadn't been fired, which had been slid down aisles between tables.

Delancy, Younger and Hogan went around together, for Hogan had come back with the information that there was nothing suspicious to be found in the kitchen.

Delancy paused by the slight platform, where 20 members of the orchestra sat. They, these men, were used to this—trouble might be expected almost any night.

Delancy suddenly stepped up on the low platform and picked up a clarinet from the floor.

"Drop that!" growled the musician, but he was too late, for Delancy had smelled the opening at the bell-end of the instrument.

"There's your man," he said.

Hogan nabbed the musician before he had gone two feet.

There were two clarinets, one in the man's hand at the time, and he tried to smash Hogan with it.

The one Delancy picked up was no clarinet, just a dummy, with an apparatus that fired a bullet when a certain "key" was pressed.

"It was quite possible that such a ruse was played," Delancy said, "merely a matter of doing a little thinking. You can smell the pungent odor of burned powder now."

The musician admitted it. This wasn't a ganster fight at all, it was a matter between the musician and Spud Dickson, a matter of the musician's sister's honor.

"Old man," said the young assistant district attorney, "I apologize for kidding you—and I'll have something worth while for you to try and solve some day."

"That's a promise," said Delancy.

and read aloud. Twenty years, or was it ever?

Life was passing her by. And for what? For nothing more than a dumb-animal response to the instinct to abide by her sense of wifely duty. For what? For Rarick, to whom even her fidelity might be a matter of indifference? Thank God, thank God, it was still left in her to feel that cut of thrill at the left-off "d."

Ramon was in the conservatory, poking about among goldfish which darted about a beautiful wall-fountain of Pulhamite stone that Rarick had brought over with its lichen still clinging to it, from a rock-garden he had admired in Taormina.

He kissed her hand, lifting back some lace first, and then regarded her in long silence, a slight film of moisture across his eyes making them deeper.

The quick picture of half a dozen men she knew, including Rarick, flashed across her mind's eye. How clumsily they would have paid this same simple tribute. Mark House, an American who had been fabulously rich all his life and lived much abroad, always employed this continental greeting. But how clumsily, creaking where his shirt bent, and leaving the disagreeable feeling of smear across the knuckles.

A Count Luckow, whom Jenny suspected of casting amorous eyes at Jennifer, who had only ridicule for him, had this habit gracefully. Rarick, somehow, would not visualize.

She could imagine that, to a young man like Ramon, whose masculinity was not mere maleness, there must be something chapped and a little funny about the unkissed hands of American women.

Precious little Jenny had demanded or received. A stab of self-pity, the immemorial self-pity of a woman feeling denied cut Jenny. Rarick as a husband and lover! It was inconceivable that he could be missing in his turn any of those things he denied her.

Ramon regarded her with gentle reproach.

"Why are you like that?"

"Like what?"

Indomitable Sweetness

"Shy, like a—like one of those beautiful wild pumas that used to live on the edge of one of my father's estates in the interior of Peru."

Puma! She did not know whether to laugh down what she regarded as his absurdity or incinerate him with the rebuff of which she was so capable.

"You don't understand the strange wild beauty of these graceful creatures. You must not think the comparison odious, Mrs. Rarick."

What were you to do with a boy like that, whose sweetness was indomitable?

They sat on the coping of the fountain, against a backrest formed by a Malaga-grape vine the thickness of an arm.

"You're a silly boy for making me indulge your whim for a cocktail in this ridiculous conservatory of my husband's, where nothing ever really blooms, but unpronounceable, unwearable species and expensive botanical things are always about to happen and somehow don't. Except by the time orchids are ridiculously cheap at every corner florist's."

Jenny Blushes

The impersonal portion went sailing over his head.

"I know it is only a little glass house, but it cannot ever seem that to me, since it is where you first let me dare know you a little better."

"I'm afraid, dear boy, there is nothing to know."

"You do not expect me to believe that."

No, she did not, but she said it again.

"You are a liberal education to me."

"How liberal?"

"I am tired of all your pretty girls here in this country who have no faces in particular. You have a face."

"My dear boy, are you given to profound observations like that?"

"You must not make me ridiculous. I mean you have a face that hangs like a cameo in the memory."

She looked at him, and, through the glazed fabric of a skin that did not easily take the flush, blushed with the surprised sweetness of a girl.

"You naughty Latin boy. I am old enough to be your mother."

"I am glad, though, that you are not. Fancy the tragedy of having to be no more than son to Duse or Cleopatro or Bernhardt."

"My boy doesn't feel that way," she said, clambering back to what safety-ledge she could.

"Don't say that."

"What?"

"It hurts me."

"What?"

"'My boy'—in that tone. I am jealous, Mrs. Rarick—not of him—but of all the life that has claim on you——"

She had the impulse to rise and rebuke him, and, instead, permitted his hand to wander again toward the thick fur ruffs at her wrists.

Then the butler served cocktails and they were silent at a nice distance while he puttered, but the eyes of young Lopez, above the three cocktails he tossed off, were over her face with the sweetishness of an anesthetic mask.

Ramon Kisses Her

"I'm going to send you along home now," she said, and rose. There were no lights and a thick hush of November snow was falling against the glass walls, closing them in.

"I don't want to go home, Jenny."

Jenny! The plushy way he had of saying that! The impertinence of his saying that! The dearness . . .

"I don't want to go home, Jenny, without something to tide me over until the next time." That plushiness in his speech was not from the effect of the cocktails, but from an excited lisp adorable to her that seemed to crowd his speech.

"Impertinent," she said frightened, in an exultant way beyond anything that had ever happened to her and putting out a stiff arm to ward him off.

He used the arm as a lever to draw her toward him. To the silence of the big white flakes that were pasting themselves against their glass inclosure, he dipped the back of her neck against his arm and sank his lips down on to hers.

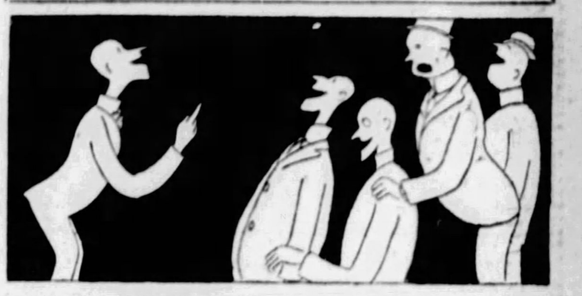
SING SOMETHING COMPLICATED



Prohibition Director Woodcock says makers of grape concentrates will be prosecuted whenever it can be proved their product is sold with the intent that it become intoxicating in fact. The grape concentraters must learn to control their thoughts. So we suggest pep meetings at which they sing something like the following:

That unauthorized nature will cause fermentation
Is a horrible thought, so we'd much rather think
That our customers dump the stuff into the sink,
And if some misguided ones use it for drinking . . . .
Well, you can't arrest us for what we're not thinking!
For we don't intend that our product
Should turn into wine that is red,
It's O. K. with us if our product
Will turn into profits instead.

If They Had Been Foes

Army Air Squadron's Visit Is Calculated to Make Pittsburghers Thoughtful—Comment on Local News.

The visit of a bombing squadron of the United States Army Air Service to Pittsburgh yesterday must have raised some serious questions in the minds of the multitude who saw the airplanes as they flew over the city. What if they had been hostile craft? Would it not have been possible for them to lay Pittsburgh in ruins?

Twenty-seven airplanes, in perfect formation, under perfect control, the largest group Pittsburghers had seen in the air, furnished vivid insight into the possibilities. They had left Langley Field, Va., a point close to the seaboard, just a few hours before. Are we prepared to prevent a similar visit from a hostile squadron, if an airplane carrier, say, should approach our coast?

Pittsburgh, producer of iron and steel, munitions ordnance, would be a tempting target for an enemy bombquadron. To put a few of our big mills out of commission be worth as much to an enemy as the annihilation of an army division. If the Army planes that visited Pittsburgh yesterday had been hostile bombers, they probably would have found it an easy matter to destroy some of our important plants.

The coming of the squadron was an inspiring spectacle, as suggesting that we are at least partially prepared to repel air invaders by giving battle to them in their own element. Pittsburghers, having been given a glimpse of what might happen, will be more interested henceforth in the question of preparedness. They will ask in all soberness if the country can be satisfactorily defended.

Those were sharp comments, and right to the point, that Gov. Pinchot made about the Duquesne Light Company. The criticism aimed at this company is in essential features typical of that which can be made of a number of the Pennsylvania public utilities. Since it enjoys a monopoly, and is protected in its monopoly by the Public Service Commission, its rates for service should be no higher than sufficient to assure a fair income.

A return of 7 per cent on the money invested has been held by the Public Service Commission to be a fair return. There is a strong temptation in this for companies to issue watered stock and otherwise inflate the supposed value of their investment, and this, Gov. Pinchot charges, is one of the very things that have been done in Pennsylvania because of the Public Service Commission's failure to supervise security issues. It is one of the things in the public utility situation that most strongly calls for correction.

Gov. Pinchot said the book value of the Duquesne Light Company had been "written up," and that on top of this it had been permitted to earn $15,881,400 from 1927 to 1930 in excess of a seven per cent return. Duquesne Light Company consumers may well ask, in view of this assertion, if the company's rates are not higher than they should be.

Some additional light on the public utilities problem is promised in the supplementary report to be presented to the House of Representatives Monday night by the Moore committee that has been investigating the utilities. It is gratifying to learn that the committee members plan to study the matter further during the summer with a view to furnishing information to the Legislature at the next session. It is one of the State's most vexatious problems, and the utilities might as well recognize the agitation for relief will not stop until relief is granted.

Unusual interest attaches to the tablets to be unveiled next Tuesday night over the entrance to the new Louise C. Buhl Hall of Science at Pennsylvania College for Women. The tablets bear the names of 28 living American scientists—an innovation which should stimulate inquisitiveness among the students as to what our distinguished contemporary men of science have done and are doing.

It is interesting news that Aline Michaelis, "The Rhyming Optimist," whose inspiring poems are among the bright features of the Sun-Telegraph editorial page, has published a new book of verse. It is entitled "Courage—and Other Poems." The volume offers in permanent form gems of the author's newspaper writings and a few other lyrics. It will be welcomed by her many Pittsburgh admirers.

The price of Pennsylvania farm real estate has ...ped to the lowest level touched in many years, the Department of Agriculture reports. Elderly city people fearing the loss of their jobs are mentioned as potential buyers. It might or might not be a good move for such persons to move to the country. Unless experienced in farming they could hardly expect to make more than a bare living at best.

Pittsburgh is contributing prominently to the world-wide observance of International Goodwill Day. Judge Florence Allen and Senator David A. Reed will take part in exercises to be held under the auspices of 18 women's organizations at Carnegie Music Hall Monday evening. Monday will be the anniversary of the first peace conference at The Hague. Pittsburgh has a special reason for celebrating in the fact that it was a former Pittsburgher, Andrew Carnegie, who donated the Peace Palace at The Hague.

The Irene Kaufmann Settlement Players are en- gaged in a commendable undertaking in presenting the dramatic works of Pittsburgh writers. They will give one-act plays by George Seibel, dramatic and literary editor of the Sun-Telegraph; George M. P. Baird and Robert E. Wood next Tuesday evening. In thus calling attention to local talent the organization is arousing civic pride and encouraging latent genius to seek expression.

Speaking of Individuality

A FANCY CAR; NO "MASS PRODUCTION" HERE.

Sir Dennistoun Burney designed this car for Lady Burney, and you'll admit that he got away from the commonplace and conventional.

But we should not despise it, for all original attempts of this kind are useful.

Then General Motors, Ford, Chrysler, Hudson, Franklin, etc., will use their energies, and YOU will have it.

NEW YORK DAY BY DAY

By O. O. McIntyre

NEW YORK, May 16.—The rest of my evenings in town this summer will be spent at home. I may go down to the corner for a soda now and then, but that will be all. Other fellows can have a night out with the boys, come home owl-eyed at dawn and be at their desks on time all merry and bright.

But without taking a single drink I can step out for an hour or so and the next day I'm likely to be on crutches. A gang of rough-necks dropped in about 10 last night, just when I was ready to climb into pajamas and skim through the last chapters of a mystery book.

They wanted to go places, ring doorbells and all that and accused me of becoming a soured, old recluse, a dithering dodo. "What you need, you wrinkled prune," cracked one, "is to cut loose for an evening. See the bright lights, wear a paper cap and make a fool of yourself."

So I went along. The first stop was a speak-easy, one of those respectable looking private homes with a sedate front parlor and a full-blown bar two flights up. Everybody seemed to be whooping it up, including a popeyed, bare legged lady on a table top, strumming a uke and singing "Room 202."

I pushed my way with the rest up to the bar and ordered a sarsaparilla. "Dilute it," piped a smart alec, "and wrap up a chocolate eclaire to take out." That's the sort of crowd I was with. Trying to be a good fellow, and everything I did was wrong.

At length I invited rather cautiously: "Have one on me!" And a voice artesianed with trombone overtones: "That's the stuff. Everybody step up. Old thin ribs is going to buy." At this, the army and navy in mufti seemed to step into the room. They must have come out of the woodwork.

Getting in this deep, I decided to go the limit being a good fellow and started to tell a funny story. Before I got half way to the point a chiseler lurched up, slapped my shoulder and, faking an uproarious laugh, shouted: "That's a hot one. I'll have another quart of wine."

Twice I made the check room in efforts to get away, but each time was dragged back, shoved into a chair with an ominous: "You started out for a night of it and you are going to stick. And like it." About this time one of my rowdies began to blubber. He was misunderstood at home. Would I telephone and explain he was with me—just sitting around talking about old times? And did I snag on an educated human iceberg! You could tell by her voice she was very high handshake. After I stumbled through my lie she said coldly: "A couple of lambrequins and a pet armadillo to you! Shake him out of his stupor and pour him into a taxi. And the next time you try to be bright remember to use more than one brain cell. Anatomists say everyone has more than twelve million, you know." What round is this?

Well, after driving hither and yon with a lot of singing stews we wound up in one of those all night Broadway gyms. I have never been in one before and if I ever get unkinked depend on it I will never be again. We got into running pants and worked out with a medicine ball and then somebody suggested wrestling. Somebody would on my first night out in seven years.

* * *

Anyway they brought out the professional tutor, a lineal descendant of Torquemada who weighed about 220 without his dandruff. I happened to be standing nearest him and with only a swift Pinkerton glance he grabbed me and bestowed what is technically known as the Garrotte a Le Juponaise. I loosened up like an old house in an explosion, executed a few parabolas and wound up sitting on the back of my thin neck, my medulla oblongata bursting into a Kentucky rainbow. Just as I was wondering if my wife remembered what I told her about being buried in Gallipolis, he grabbed me again and did a Paul Revere up my spine with his knee. Then of a sudden he tossed me aside like a rag doll and in broken English explained: "He not vera whatyoucall strong!"—the big Portuguese palooka.

* * *

Everytime I tried to straighten up something squeaked. I came home bowed over like the agonizing figure in the kidney pill ad. Even today if I want to turn my head I have to turn my whole body and my knee jerks are about as lively as a Yuma horned toad. The next time they get me out for the night I'll not only have to be drunk, I'll have to be out of my—there goes another shooting pain!—mind, if any.

Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Detours on the Love-Route

When he talks golf, fishing or love, a man with a New England conscience and a truth-complex is awfully handicapped.

That a man just loves to be alternately bullied and babied above all things else in the world is irrefutably proved every time one of them marries his trained nurse.

Some day, somebody will invent a kiss-proof face-powder; but, by that time, the men will have been so fed up on kissing, that no girl will be able to find anybody to test it on.

By the time that a modern man has discovered that he wants to marry a woman, she is usually so fagged out waiting for the phenomenon that she is ready to topple right over into his arms from sheer exhaustion.

Up to 30, all a man's efforts are concentrated on trying to dodge romance—after 40, on trying to find it again.

* * *

(Copyright, 1931, King Features Synd., Inc.)

Isn't It So?

When you have got into danger it is too late to seek advice.

Being in love isn't a very serious matter to a girl, except the first time.

The woman who paints her cheeks can't consistently blame her husband for painting his nose.

All men are born equal, which makes it all the harder for us to forgive the success of our friends.

Poincare, Distinguished Mathematician

By Archibald Henderson

The famous French savant, Henri Poincare, enjoyed a peculiar distinction during his own lifetime. He was universally recognized as the greatest mathematician of his day. This was, indeed, an exceptional distinction, for it is, as a rule, difficult to name the very greatest. And often the people of our nation cannot, or will not, recognize that a member of another nation surpasses all their own most eminent representatives.

In face of the achievements of Einstein, Bertand Russell is tempted to rank Poincare as greater than any man of science now living. His outstanding characteristics as a scientific writer and thinker were: swiftness, comprehensiveness, unexampled lucidity, and the conception of recondite but fertile apologies.

Henri Poincare was born at Nancy, France, on April 29, 1854. He received a superb education. This brilliant student won first rank at the Ecole Polytechnique, and at the early age of 32 was elected to membership in the Academie des Sciences.

While educated along technical lines, Poincare displayed his brilliant genius chiefly in the field of mathematics. Other fields of science in which he shone were astronomy, physics and the philosophy of science. His comprehentive mind was likewise one of great thoroughness, and he did not pursue his various researches independently of each other, his various activities throwing light upon each other and so enabling him to travel along parallel lines simultaneously.

A famous French mathematician of today, Emile Boule, has eloquently said: "The method of Poincare is essential active and constructive." He approaches a question, acquaints himself with its present condition without being much concerned about its history, finds out immediately the new analitical formulas by which the question can be advanced, deduces hastily the essential results, and then passes to another question. After having finished the writing of a memoir, he is sure to pause for a while, and to think out how the explosion could be improved, but he would not, for a single instant indulge the idea of devoting several days to didactic work. Those days could be better utilized in exploring new regions.

All this is not specially applicable to mathematics. Let us examine more closely the mechanism made use of for discovery. The essential feature of that mechanism is, as we have already pointed out, the construction of new formulas. It is not useless that some stress is laid on this point, for this constructive power is the essential trait of the genius of Poincare.

The greatest honors of scientific bodies and universities, medals and degrees, were conferred upon this prodigy of genius. This great man was delicate in health, became more stooped as the years passed and was short in statue, being only five feet five inches in height. But he was a giant in intellect, towering aloft above his fellows like a marvelous and elegant spire. He once said, in a phrase characteristic of his own life: "The search for truth must be the goal of our activity, it is the only end that would be worthy of it."

LISTEN, WORLD

By Elsie Robinson

SHOULD AN AMERICAN MOTHER TAKE CARE OF HER OWN CHILD?

SHOULD SHE PERFORM THOSE MECHANICAL CHORES FOR THE CHILD WHICH, IN OTHER COUNTRIES, ARE PERFORMED BY SERVANTS?

A tired American mother asked those questions. She loved her children. She wished to serve them. College trained, she did not think that her education had made her "too fine to do chores." But she did know that those chores were reducing her into a weary, dull drudge and that it was impossible to give her children the benefits of her education when her strength was exhausted by the mechanical routine of housework.

Couldn't she get a job—hire someone to do the drudgery—and thus double her husband's small salary and "do something worth while" for the children. Yes—and she longed to do so. But her husband wouldn't consent. He didn't believes in wives working—thought a mother should take care of her own children.

"And, of course, he has public sentiment behind him," she wailed. "That's what most Americans believe. But it's all so inconsistent and idiotic. Look at the sums we spend in educating our girls to be something more than drudging peasants—and how we boast about their superior advantages. And then we expect them to put all that education aside and spend the best years of their lives in doing mechanical work that a servant without one-tenth of their brains or training could easily accomplish. We say that's the best thing for the child. But it isn't. What time has such a mother to be a companion to her child when it's small? Her time is spent on cooking and scrubbing and picking up. And, by the time the child has grown, her brains are so dulled that she is completely out of touch. It's all such a tragic waste! Yet I'll be condemned for even questioning the system."

We printed her letter. She was right. By hundreds the letters came snorting in—calling her "un-American"—saying she "thought she was too good to work"—protesting that she "didn't love her children or she'd want to give them everything she had."

Everything she had? That was just what she did want to give. But was "mixing formulas and washing didies" everything she had? Perhaps not—but the writers didn't stop to reason. Didn't WANT to reason. She was a BAD mother! And that was that.

But here and there, in the midst of the hub-dub, sounded a saner note. Here is another American mother who came to her defense. She worked before her children came. Now that they are grown, she is working again. She believes she would have been a better mother if she could have had help during her children's infancy—she believes those children would be better trained to face the world today. But she, too, says that "hired help won't work in American homes." And her reasons are amazing—

"The average American mother thinks she knows everything," writes this lady from Houston. "She may know a good deal about business or art or society, but the chances are she's ignorant as Paddy's pig about raising babies. Yet you can't tell her anything. And if any of her older women friends try, or her older relatives try to tell her, she becomes angry and offended.

"It is simply impossible for her to get along with a nurse. If the nurse tries to discipline the child, the mother always sides with the child. Because it's HER child OTHER PEOPLE MUST KEEP HANDS OFF! Yet she herself won't discipline the youngster. And the result is that the children grow up thoroughly spoiled and unruly.

"If we Americans demand that our mothers take care of their own children, THEN WE SHOULD TRAIN OUR GIRLS TO BE MOTHERS AND NOT ASSUME THAT JUST BECAUSE THEY ARE AMERICANS THEY KNOW EVERYTHING."

Well — that's something else, isn't it?

The Rhyming Optimist

By ALINE MICHAELS

The Hermit

The hermit lives in a shallow cell
He has hewn in the mountain side;
He has no kindred with him to dwell,
To his days love would seem denied.

Yet the daisies cluster around his home
And the larks sing sweetest there,
While close to his door-way the white sheep roam,
Bells a-chime through the quiet air.

The hermit toils in his garden plot
And he watches the lambs at play,
With never a sigh for his lonely lot
Or the cities so far away.

Blue, blue is the sky above;
And even a hermit's heart can know
God's bounty of joy and love.

ONCE OVERS

By J. J. Mundy

You want to receive credit for the worthwhile things that you have done.

Because you have failed of recognition you wonder whether it is worth the effort you put into your work.

If the good you do is suggested and carried out with an idea of praise for it you have the wrong spirit in your undertakings.

You are working along personal lines, not that others may benefit from your kindness or generosity.

To what extent is self-satisfaction removed from the incentive?

Unless your thoughts are wholly without idea of recompense you certainly have the wrong idea of worthy acts.

Too many folk want the world to know of their charity.

Fearing that the fact may be hidden they refer to it.

If you frequently allude to the amount you give to support the church or the sum total of your contributions to the community chest and to other charitable organizations you have a selfish interest in making contributions.

WORDS OF THE WISE

Coming events cast their shadows before.—Campbell.

Men in general do not live as if they looked to die; and therefore do not die as if they looked to live—Manton.

Languages are in a perpetual flux, and stand in need of recruits to supply those words which are continually falling through disuse.—Felton.

It is, that love contracts them all in one. —Donne.

Employment which Galen calls "nature's physician," is so essential to human happiness, that indolence is justly considered as the mother of misery.—Burton.

Text For Today

He that believeth on the Son hath everlasting life; and he that believeth not the Son shall not see life, but the wrath of God abideth on him.—John, iii:36.
